Engagement Announced

Monday August 15 at six o'clock there will be a Banquet with official guests at the Acadia University.

A modern counterpart of Evangeline, 19 year old Emilie Evelyn Breux of Louisiana is taking the part of the original Acadian maid at Acadian Bicentennial celebrations in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Miss Breux, a dark-eyed brunette student nurse at New Orleans is said to fit the description of the first Evangeline "Fair was she to behold, that maiden... Black were her eyes as the berry that grows on the thorn by the wayside... Black, yet how softly they gleamed..."

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow the author of Evangeline visited England in 1868 and 1869, when he was received by Queen Victoria at Windsor, and entertained at a grand banquet in London, at which Mr. Gladstone was present and paid a graceful tribute to the poet's genius. One of the new books "Done at Grand Pre" by the Nova Scotia author Will R. Bird is a factual account of an event which took place two hundred years ago, and the anniversary of which is being observed throughout the Maritime Provinces this year in an elaborately planned series of celebrations from June to September.

A New Insulated Bag Protects Picnic Foods

By Ida Bailey Allen

A LUXURIOUS PICNIC DINNERS can be safeguarded against hot weather in an easy-to-carry insulated bag lined with fibreglass.

One of the most needed accessories in the food field is at last available to the public. I mean insulated bags lined with fibreglass that will keep a cold temperature for hours.

They were used during the war to transport blood plasma, but are now available for picnics in various styles and sizes at reasonable prices. Matching vacuum bottles and jugs to hold hot or cold liquids or ice cubes are also available.

And to assure a picnic lunch at refrigerator temperature (40 to 50 F.) for a carrying time of 3 to 4 hours, we can add several cans of refrigerator, first frozen overnight. These can be re-frozen and used over and over again.

Be sure all foods are refrigerated cold when packed. Tuck the cans of frozen refrigerator in between. Zip up the bag and enjoy the picnic foods with safety, for bacteria that often cause food poisoning cannot multiply at a temperature under 50 degrees F.

With the food safeguarded by such insulated refrigeration, you might have a menu like this:

FULL DINNER PICNIC
Celery Pickles
Fried Chicken
Cream Cheese Nuj Sandwiches

MONDAY DINNER
Cantaloupe Cup
Escalloped Veal
Canned Dried Lima Beans
Corn-on-Cob Tossed Salad
Bartlett Pears
Cream Cheese Hot or Iced Coffee or Tea Milk

CANTALOUPE CUP FROM THE CHEF
Pare cantaloupes, scoop out seed and dice pulp. To 3 c. add 3 lbs. frozen lemonade concentrate; chill 30 min.

Parker-Lewis Wedding

Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Lewis became the bride of Mr. Murray Noah Parker in St. George's Anglican Church, Moncton, at three p.m. Saturday, August 6. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Lewis of Moncton formerly of Charlottetown, and Mr. Parker is the son of Mrs. Frederick J. Parker and the late Mr. Parker of Windsor Mills, Quebec.

Previous to the service Mr. Grenville Steeves sang "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. C. J. Staples on the organ. During the signing of the register, Mr. Steeves sang "O Perfect Love." The bride and her attendants entered the church to Handel's "Minuet from Berenice" and left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March".

Mr. Lewis gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by her aunt, Mrs. Ben C. Howard of Sherbrooke, Quebec, and Miss Barbara Michahelles of Moncton.

For her wedding, the bride chose a waist-length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin, enhanced by tiers of nylon tulle ruffles at either side of the gown, and a tiny stand-up collar of lace, on which she wore a gold and pearl brooch belonging to her great grandmother. A close-fitting net headdress trimmed with iridescent sequins and seed pearls held her fingertip-veil of lace edged tulle. She carried a single white orchid and white prayer book bound in lace.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Ben C. Howard, was dressed in a waist-length gown of champagne color Chantilly lace over taffeta of the same shade with fitted bodice and flared skirt. Her headdress was a Paris import of iridescent shells and she carried a semicascade of pink gladioli.

Miss Michahelles, the bridesmaid, wore a waist-length gown of mauve nylon tulle with tiny bolero and accessories to match. She carried a semi-cascade of yellow and mauve chrysanthemums.

The mother of the bride wore a smoke grey nylon crepe dress with a long torso line and flared skirt. She wore a lavender Milan straw hat with other accessories to match her dress. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Parker chose a dress of Dior rose silk shantung. Her accessories were of navy blue, and she wore a corsage of pink gladioli.

Mr. James Dykes of Windsor Mills was best man and the ushers were Mr. Ben C. Howard of Sherbrooke, and Mr. George E. Lewis of Moncton.

The reception was held at 93 Victoria Street, the home of Mrs. V. P. Doucet. The rooms were decorated with white gladioli and garden flowers. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Ernest S. Lord of Charlottetown, P.E.I. Mrs. V. P. Doucet poured tea while Miss Ruth Duffey, Mrs. David Fowles and Miss Elizabeth Palmer, friends of the bride, served the guests.

For travelling, the bride wore an American-beauty rose and white dress of silk shantung, and matching rose linen coat on which was pinned a single white orchid. Her accessories were all white.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Parker left on a wedding trip around the Cabot Trail. On their return, the couple will reside at 50 1/2 Rue St. Philippe, Windsor Mills, Quebec.

born colt and his mother spent his first night in the wide open spaces of pasture last night, the earth for his bed and for light that of the moon and the stars. A winsome creature this is, which like the kittens not long ago, brought more than one of the family to admire him...A vacationist to the Province visiting this land of his mother's people, carried away with him with other pictures and we hope nice memories of his stay, a snapshot of the youngster and his dam, the Nell-mare.

The saying—that was the continued story on these farms this week, the scene of it at Rob's where at length the work was brought to a satisfying close. What a nice time it has been, from the young summer evening it began in a first mowing, until now with Autumn golden blossoming and that season setting its cool shadows before we go back over the busy days knowing how enchanting they have been...and remember against them the hush of those more recent which took help and machines off to Rob's. The dawns we see again, inlaid with rose and amber, the new sun of day presently flooding with gold the opposite side of our valley; and the dusks, hushed and peaceful bringing purpling shadows in from the hills. Very sweet are the days of the haying and easy to remember "the days that are no more."

Each member responded to the roll call by repeating a verse from Theologicals, the Bible Study for the month. Next month's Bible Study will be the suggested one in the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. Florence Glover and Mrs. Russell Murray led in the Golden Meditation dealing with the issues of racial tensions as outlined by the Report of the second Assembly of the World Council of Churches.

The president led the Study Period on the topic "A Door of Unrest and a Day of Prayer". Mrs. Up-ton Smith and Mrs. Robert Carruthers led in prayers of confession and petition.

During the business period it was announced that a Rally will be held in the Kensington Church in September when the special speakers will be Dr. Florence Murray, Missionary on furlough from Korea and Miss Dorothy Young, Home Organization Executive Secretary.

It was also decided to hold an open meeting in the church on the same evening.

The Literature Secretary, Mrs. Ethel MacEwen, reported 12 books read and the Community Friendship Secretary, Mrs. George Duggan reported that 49 home-calls and seven hospital calls had been made and that 28 cards 30 treats, and seven bouquets of flowers had been sent.

Those in charge of the program for next meeting will be Mrs. L. M. Murray; Mrs. Smith and Miss MacMurdo. The meeting classes by singing, "Come, let us sing of a Wonderful Love" and the Mission Benediction, Refreshments were served.

Easy too to remember are the holidays spent "down home on the farm". And after them, I'll have Mother's letters "an exiled" island girl said.

Bianche P. Garrett in "The Letters" writes touchingly of these.

It's April in the orchard now And in this city room, I all but catch the sudden scent Of fragrant apple-blossom.

'September dusks are chilly, dear! I've baked spiced buns for tea'. And Autumn mist, and food, and fires Are all my eyes can see.

'I can't remember such a June For birds! And to the ear The whistle of a meadow-lark Is liquid-sweet and clear.

"Dog Day" Cleaning

By ELEANOR FOSSE

During the "dog days," there's a tendency to let down a little in running the house, and we tell ourselves that corner-cutting is excusable in the hot weather. But that's just the time when special care is required, particularly in the kitchen.

For example, before opening a can of anything, wipe off the top with a sudsy cloth. Dust in the air, it collects on tops of cans, and unless they're cleaned before opening, there's danger of it dropping into the cans.

It's advisable, too, to wash the wall can opener often, for every time it's used, a slight film of food or food liquid, often a virtually invisible residue, is left on it.

Maybe it does seem like a bit of extra effort, but to do it off the wall and scrub the blade with hot soap and water. Don't soak it in the sink, of course, for that would only wash away the necessary oil that keeps the mechanism working efficiently. But hold the blade part that dips into cans under the hot water faucet and soap it thoroughly with dishcloth or sponge.

OUTDOOR COOKERY
Be just as careful about the various utensils you may use in outdoor cookery.

Very often, of course, a hot fire of an outdoor grill will burn off excess food particles and so leave the grill holders clean. But double check it. For sometimes bits of food remain in the crevices of wire grilling.

TELEVISION MATCHES
MONTREAL (CP) — Davis Cup officials announced the starting times for Canada-West Indies tennis matches Friday, Saturday and Sunday have been put ahead one hour to permit complete telecasting of events. The matches now are scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m. ADT Friday, 3 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

ELLEN'S DIARY

By An Island Farmer's Wife

"You know, we sort of live for them, we 'exiled' islanders—the two week's holiday we get in summer to spend down home on the farm," a pretty business girl smiled today when she spoke of the "three days I still have before I must be off" to a busy Canadian city and the responsibilities that are hers.

"And for a few days you'll be a little lonely," we commented. "Oh, yes, until I get settled again to my work. But I'll be planning for next summer's holiday and I'll have Mother's letters to keep me up to date on the happenings at home. She usually apologizes for them—she says she is not much at writing. But how good they are! I just couldn't get along without them."

MORNING SMILE

"It's nice to see you," said one woman to another as they met on her street "Are you married?"
