THE DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

Mr. Williams, Manager of the Emerald Factory, Presented with an Address.

Previous to the departure from Emerald of Mr. J. F. Williams, manager of the cheese factory at that place, he was presented with a highly complimentary address by the directors, shareholders and patrons of the factory. The presentation was made in the hall of the Benevolent Irish Society, the address being read by Mr. P. J. Trainor. In the course of the address Mr. Williams' instruction to the patrons in the care and handling of milk his efficiency in weighing and testing, the high appreciation of the act of the Dominion Government in having sent them such an efficient man, his assistance to Superintendent Dillon in the inspection of the Island factories and the recognition of his efficiency in that he was appointed by the Local Government as sufficiently expert to judge the cheese exhibit at the Provincial exhibition, were all appropriately alluded to. Regret at Mr. Williams' departure was feelingly expressed, and it was hoped that wherever his lot may be cast in the future good luck will attend him.

Mr. Williams made a neat speech in reply to the address, in the course of which he spoke gratefully of the kindness and hospitality extended to him since his coming here by the people of the Island province, especially those connected with the dairying industry at Emerald.

Short and spirited addresses were then delivered by J. H. Haslam, D. B. McLeod, Dr. Wall, Alex. Nicholson, Thos. McKay, P. J. Trainor and others, after which a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Louis C. Haslam, president of the Company.

The patrons of the Emerald factory would like very much to have Mr. Williams back again next season, as they look upon him as one of the most competent dairymen in Canada.

NEWS NOTES.

Snow commenced to fall in Winnipeg on last Saturday night and continued all day Sunday. Incoming trains were all delayed.

Ludgate Hill in London is to be widened at a cost of nearly half a million dollars so as to give an unobstructed view of St. Paul's cathedral.

Another of Dickens' famous London taverns is threatened with extinction. The Old Ship, which is the Old Sol's Arms mentioned in "Bleak House" as the scene of the inquest, has been boarded up prior to being pulled down.

In Hyde Park, London, the dogs' burial-ground at the north end has been closed by the Duke of Cambridge, as ranger of Hyde park. For nearly forty years persons have been allowed to bury their pet dogs there, and put up little tombstones over them. Now the cemetery is full.

The Dukes of Wellington and Marlborough both present, on the anniversaries of Waterloo and Blenheim, small flags to the sovereign as a tribute by which they hold the different estates of Strathfieldsaye and Blenheim. These tropies are hung up in the amoury at Windsor castle, where they may be seen.

Cows were milked by machinery at the recent London dairy show. A pulsating vacuum, imitating the sucking of calves, was created by an air pump in a series of pipes connected by rubber caps to the cow's teats. Ten cows were milked at once, the milking lasting from three to five minutes, and only two pints and a half of strippings being left.

The London Times on Wednesday published a three column letter from its special correspondent sent to report on the Nicaraguan canal. The correspondent arrives at the conclusion that the project cannot be carried through as a private enterprise, but that it must be under the auspices of "some strong Government, which, without doubt, must be the United States."

The Dominion Cabinet, upon the recommendation of the Secretary of State, Dr. Montague, has appointed Mr. A. W. Wright, of Toronto, to enquire into the facts as to whether the sweating system exists in Canada, and, if so, to what extent. He will also enquire into kindred subjects, and will, it is expected, have his report ready for Parliament at the coming session.

The only complete gold toilet service in the world belongs to the Khedive of Egypt. It was made in London, and consists of twenty-eight pieces. Each piece bears the monogram of the Khedive in diamonds, the same being surrounded by a fillet in imitation of that of the Grand Turk. Upwards of 3,000 diamonds and over 1,200 rubies were used in decorating these golden toilet articles. The body of each piece is of eighteen-carat gold, and all are enenclosed in a diamond-incrusted ebony case.

Meetings called for the purpose of expressing sympathy with the Cuban revolutionists are becoming common in the United States, the sympathy apparently originating in an antipathy to Europeans generally rather than to Spain. The insurgents have now been in the field for eight months, and little progress seems to have been made by either side in the conflict. A crisis must soon be reached, and the outcome of the struggle may yet depend upon the aid that the Americans talk of sending.

According to the annual returns, the actual strength of the British Army on the first day of 1895 was 222,151, the average strength during 1894 having been 219,121, and higher than in any of the preceding twenty years. Of the 222,151 with whom the year began, 107,810 were at home, 5,066 in Egypt, 31,783 in the colonies, and 77,492 in India. The number of recruits raised in the United Kingdom this year was 33,441, of which number 23,352 are stated to have been under 20 years of age. The number of men discharged was 10,480, the net loss from desertion was 2,125, and 1,790 died.

Dr. Farrar, Dean of Canterbury, has contributed to the Fortnightly Review a remarkable article on "The Asserted Growth of Roman Catholicism in England." From 1690 until 1767 there are, he says, no trustworthy records as to the Roman Catholic population, but in the latter year a return was made which set it down at 67,916. In 1780 a return made to the House of Lords gave the number of English Roman Catholics as 69,376. Of these 359 were priests. In 1840 the number of priests was stated in the R. C. directory to be 542. In the same year there were 463 chapels, and in 1850 581. In 1824 there had been 346. In 1890 there were 2,478 priests and 1,335 churches. In 1870 there were 350 Roman Catholic schools, and 83,017 children present at inspection. In 1892-3 there were 967 schools, and 202,069 scholars. In the same year the attendance at the Church of England schools was 1,721,452.

SHOULD I FORGET.

Should I forget, may reason
From her throne be ruthely cast;
Poisoned woof and web of treason,
Faith and fond illusions blast!
May the roses of all May time
Frosted be with keen regret,
Night's dark pinions cloud all daytime
In the hour that I forget!

Should I forget, dear, dreary
Must the freighted moments pass,
Funeral-clad and fall'ring, weary,
Jewels set in tarnished brass.
All past love and all past gladness,
Until past and present met,
Canker with remorse and madness
In the hour that I forget!

Should I forget! Ah, never,
While time's flight is told in years;
While the heart can pulse and quiver
With repression, pain and tears.
Tho' last words, perchance, be spoken,
And last glances taken, yet
Time's vast circle must be broken
Ere I can, dear heart, forget!

Should I forget! The seeming
Brings a tortured rush of pain,
For thy spirit-touch in dreaming
Would revive the past again.
Till God's sabre shall dismember
Toil of time and frostings fret;
Sure, dear heart, I must remember,
Then, perchance, shall I forget!

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Previous to his departure for Charlottetown, the members of Keith Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, at Stellarton, N. S., waited upon their brother, Past Master Edward N. Harper, and presented him with the following address and P. M's jewel:

To E. N. HARPER, ESQ.,
Past Master Keith Lodge, No. 23.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Having just learned that you have accepted a better position in Charlottetown, P. E. I., and that you intend leaving for there to morrow, the members of Keith Lodge have asked your kind attendance, this evening in their Lodge room, to enable them to express their high regard for you, both as a man and mason.

You have, for upwards of five years, been an active working member of this Lodge, worthily filling several of the offices, notably, that of Worshipful Master. We fully appreciate the valuable services you have rendered our Lodge, and we regret exceedingly the loss your departure will inflict on us. But as we cannot control the march of events, and must submit to the dictation of individual freedom in the pursuit of our interests and happiness, we can only wish you God speed on your journey and in your new position, where, we feel sure, your high ability in your profession will insure your future success and prosperity.

Please accept this Past Master's jewel, not for its intrinsic value but as a slight mark of the esteem in which you are held among the members of your mother Lodge.

We pray that the Great Architect of the Universe may continue to guide, protect and watch over you, till a ripe old age, and at last receive you to himself.

Sincerely and fraternally yours in behalf of the members of Keith Lodge, F. and A. Masons.

(Sgd.) A. HAY, W. Master.
A. MCKAY, S. Warden.
R. W. MACDONALD, J. Warden.
JNO. FRASER, Secy.

OYSTER SUPPER AND ENTERTAINMENT AT CORNWALL.

The oyster supper and entertainment at the residence of Angus Macdonald, Esq., Cornwall, in connection with the Excelsior Division of the Sons of Temperance on the evening of the 23rd ult., was a decided success.

After all present had partaken of the sumptuous repast prepared in first class style by our esteemed hostess; the entertainment was opened by the chairman, Mr. Allie McLean, W. P., whose remarks were followed by a comic recitation entitled, "Dot Baby," by Mr. Neil C. McCallunr, of Clyde River. Miss Katie Macdonald also gave an excellent recitation. A noticeable feature of the entertainment was a solo entitled, "Playmates Quarrel," rendered in superior style by Miss May McCallum, of Clyde River. Miss McCallum's solo was followed by a recitation entitled, "The Owl Critic," by Mr. Chas. E. McKenzie, teacher, Meadow Bank. Mr. H. H. P. Howard, of Cornwall, gave a humorous speech; and Mr. Hubert Howard, of East Wiltshire, a recitation. After a vote of thanks had been rendered to our host and hostess, for the able manner in which they entertained the company, the entertainment closed with singing "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save The Queen."

Very Necessary

To know exactly where you can be best suited in Fall Wear.

We are very strongly of the opinion (notwithstanding strong assertions to the contrary by some) that the Star Tailor still holds, as formerly, the palm for first-class clothing. We are not anxious to have you run away with the idea that no one else can do anything decent for you. Certainly not. But when you can get the best for the same money you may have to pay for an inferior article, certainly get the best. Step in and get our prices. We are better prepared than ever to minister to your every want for less money than ever.
