L.K. (Mrs. Keston) is a woman who suggests that you are out of touch with reality to some extent. In short, you are emotionally sick, it seems—a condition that probably predates your involvements in the man.

The fact that you can't think how to break out of your own mind and feel you should, and that you seek help in the man—this gives evidence, in my opinion, that you are in a bad fix against Mrs. Haskins' mother, Mrs. Edna Howatt of Carleton, P. E. I.

Dear L.K.: There is a bound which suggests that you are out of touch with reality to some extent. In short, you are emotionally sick, it seems—a condition that probably predates your involvements in the man.

MR. AND MRS. MURRAY L. SHAW

Young Couple Pledge Vows At Ceremony At First Baptist

A lovely fall wedding was solemnized recently at the First Baptist Church in Charlottetown when Emma Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sharam, Charlottetown, became the bride of Murray L. Shaw, son of Mr. S.A. Shaw, and the late Mrs. Shaw of Yarmouth, N.S.

Rev. C.W. Passey performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Carl Farmer.

White and yellow mums decorated the church and the guests were marked with white satin bows. Miss Suzanne Brenton played the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist Miss Betty Lou Thompson as the singer in "The Wedding Prayer" at the beginning of the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register.

When in marriage by her father, the bride looked radiant in her floor length gown of white with red and blue appliques. It featured a softly fitted bodice with a lily print sleeve. Her French tulle illusion veil fell from a pearl studded crown and she also wore a pearl necklace and pearl earrings and white feathered carnations.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. M. I. O. MacKay as matron of honor, while Mrs. Boyd Good and Miss Jeanie MacKinnon were the bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical street length dresses of green velvet with matching headpieces and they carried crescent bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother wore a broaded beige sheath dress with rose accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. Byron Fenwick was the best man and the ushers were Vernon Shaw of Westville, N.S. and Henry Sharam, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall. Deacons proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. The best man read several congratulatory telegrams. Sharon Passey was in charge of the guest book.

On their return the young couple will reside in New Ross, N.S., where the groom is pastor of the New Ross United Baptist Church.
