

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. HENRY MACDONALD

The death of Mrs. Henry J. MacDonald occurred at the Charlottetown Hospital on September 13, in her 55th year. Her sudden passing came as a great shock to her family and to relatives and friends throughout the province and elsewhere.

She was born in Cardigan on May 20, 1880, the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Quinn (nee Rose Ann Gill of Elliotville). In her youth she attended the public school at Iona, later Cardigan High School, and she also attended the Prince of Wales College where she obtained a teacher's licence and taught school successfully at Cardigan, Glenfanning, Little Pond, Donnelly, Road and Elliotville. She also spent several years in Boston, Mass.

She was married in the fall of 1900 and lived on a farm in Little Pond for 10 years where the comfortable home was established. She wished to have her family educated in the colleges and family of Charlottetown; she moved with her husband to Belvedere Avenue.

Although she was frequently unwell during the last 12 years of her life, she never complained and accepted her crosses with complete resignation to the will of God. Possessed with a cheerful disposition she made many friends who were deeply grieved at her sudden death. She was known to be generous and charitable and never considered any task too heavy when done for the comfort and welfare of others, and for this she will be long remembered in the community where she lived. In the home her family will always cherish the memory of a kind and loving mother who devoted herself unsparringly to their spiritual and temporal welfare.

She was about her household duties as usual when called upon to undergo a serious operation in the Charlottetown Hospital. This proved too much for her weakened constitution, and all that medical skill and tender nursing could do was to no avail. Surrounded by her sorrowing husband, family and neighbors, her kind soul passed to its eternal reward fortified by the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church of which she was a devoted member.

Her funeral, largely attended, took place from her late residence, Belvedere Avenue, to St. Dunstan's Church, where Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Francis Corcoran. Present in the sanctuary were Rev. Louis Callaghan, Rev. L. J. Ayers, Rev. Harold Croken and Rev. John Sullivan.

Burial services took place in the Roman Catholic Cemetery, St. Peter's Road. The services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Francis Corcoran, assisted by Rev. Louis Callaghan and Rev. John Sullivan.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Earle Adams, Edwin Hughes, Thompson, Knox, Woodrow Wheatley, Benjamin Livingstone Jr. and Richard Quinn.

Eternal rest grant unto her, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon her.
