PREPARATIONS Chapter 64
To go abroad! Actually to be offered a chance to go abroad. Pan could not believe it. But Gloria was busy planning. "Of course," she said, "that's the best idea of all. I had a general idea you might want to go back to the farm in the Spring—your father might want you."
"My last letter was from Rio," Pan said. "I don't believe he'll come back, except perhaps for a few months. If he isn't home now, I'm sure Uncle Peter won't have him. He's always so cross whenever father goes off!"
"Curious that you should be so placed, so ready to stay in one place," Gloria mused. "You father has a roving foot."
"I wanted to go, but I never would have had the courage to go by myself," Pan answered. "But tell me more about going abroad. You can't imagine how wonderful it sounds."
"It would be fun," Gloria agreed. "It's been years since I've been over. I swore I never would, while my husband lived there—but he won't be in Paris, and we'll go there. I'll put you and Frankie in the nicest little hotel, in charge of a dear little old French woman, and you can amuse yourselves while I hunt Louis Quinze, and Ormulo for my millionaire client—who incidentally will pay my expenses."
Pan protested at being a burden.

to which Gloria answered practically—
"My dear, if I took a nurse, I should have to pay her expenses, as well as Frankie's, a salary at least as large as I give you—and probably more. If I sent him to a boy's camp I'd worry all Summer, and he would not be happy—and it could be costly too."
"Don't think too much about money. Don't you know that the people who could pennies never have a chance to count anything larger?"
"You were $500 in debt last week," Pan reminded gently.
"And $1000 to the good—this," Gloria answered cheerfully. "This is a big order. I asked for $1500 advance, which he gave me. Never mind child, my hectic finances worry your methodical little soul—but I like them. It adds zest to life. Now then, I'll see about tickets and you arrange with which ever cook you can have this week to leave us by April."
But April came and went and May came, before there were definite preparations for sailing. The Benson house was up the river, and Mr. Benson put one of his cars at Gloria's disposal to run back and forth from country to town.
Pan had a letter from her father, who intended reaching the farm "somewhere before June," he wrote "He wants to see me," she said a little regretfully.
"Then run home for a week end," said Gloria. "I'm going to a house party next week end, and I can take Frankie with me. There are some children there and he would adore it."
"I think that's a good idea," George agreed—he was lounging as usual in his favorite chair in Gloria's living room. "We learn by contrast. The child thought she was too fond of a lad in her home town—now he, her go back and find out she isn't interested in him at all. She's never quite behaved that way."
Pan gave him a little smile that puzzled him.
"What is it, child?" he asked. "You look so superior—as though you knew all sorts of things I don't know and never will."
"I do," Pan answered, and refused to be drawn out any more.
How could George know that she was in love with him? He would never suspect it, she would never let on, Gloria did not guess it. She remembered the little diary she had left on the farm, tightly wrapped and hidden in a box in the attic, where some of her old things were stored.

That used to be all her confidences, that was once her only friend. She was alone now, in a way. "I am still standing apart from the world," she thought. "Once I had two good friends, both in my imagination—my ideal man and my ideal woman. I made the mistake of thinking Morton was the man. I know better now. Morton had too many limitations—he simply wasn't the sort."
"George is, he is everything. My standard is higher now that I've seen more. And he measures up to it. But isn't it odd, that I once thought my ideal woman would be my friend, and my ideal man would be in love with me? Of course two people such as imagined, would fall in love with each other!"
And she went on thinking happily she would be if Gloria cared for George as she was sure he cared for her. How different was his attitude to her—how Gloria was a kindly big brother.
She was thinking how her life had changed, how happy things had now, than a year ago, as she packed a small travelling bag and prepared to go home for a brief visit. Yet when she reached the familiar station, she had a momentary sinking around her heart.

Gains Weight And Says She's Fresh As Lark

Mrs. Jessie Hayman Declares Tanlac Would have Saved Her a World of Suffering if she had only tried it sooner.
"I only wish I had tried Tanlac sooner, or I believe it would have saved me untold misery," said Mrs. Jessie Hayman, 168 St. James St., St. John, N. B. I went through a nightmare of chronic stomach trouble and biliousness. I was careful of my food but it soured on my stomach and gave me terrible griping pains and I would bloat up with gas until I thought I would suffocate. I had the most awful spells of biliousness and they often lasted two or three weeks. Then my husband had a serious accident and when he came out of the hospital I had to wait on him day and night. This robbed me of what little strength I had left and I was on the verge of a breakdown.
"My first two or three bottles of Tanlac didn't seem to do me much good, but after that I picked up fine and today I am like a different woman. I have a fine appetite and my digestion is perfect. I have gained several pounds and feel fresh as a lark. I don't believe there is any medicine to equal Tanlac."
Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

THE BANKERS AMALGAMATED SILVER BLACK FOX CO. LTD.

Mr. F. E. Muzzy of Springfield Mass., leaves Charlotte, on to-morrow, Wednesday, morning by boat for Pictou (thence to North Sydney across the channel to Port aux Basques and by rail from there to St. John's Newfoundland. Sailing from St. John's Newfoundland, 24th, for New York City and from there home.
Mr. Muzzy during the past week has been visiting the fox ranches he is interested in as well as other ranches and reports he has not found any of the increased eagerness to have done better than the Bankers and but few as well. Mr. Muzzy reports approximately 100 p. c. increase and the foxes of a better quality than ever before as the company during the past two years have pelted all the undesirable foxes and retained foxes of quality only.
The Bankers Silver Black Fox Co., is one of the most successful large fox companies on the Island has prospered and increased every year and was originally capitalized at a low price per fox valuation.
Mr. Muzzy attributes the success of the Bankers Company to the efficient management of the caretakers, Mr. Shaw McMillan and Mr. John Hoper than whom Mr. Muzzy thinks there are none better on the Island also to the able assistance given them by the directors Messrs John Anderson, R. E. Spillet and Dr. Geo. F. Dewar.
If all fox companies were as competently and honestly managed there would be no complaint of the fox industry.
Mr. Muzzy states what the fox industry most lacks is cooperation among the fox breeders and publicity. He has written many articles for the Guardian and especially hammered on co-operation and publicity for the fox industry.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.
What is CASTORIA?
Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.
