with the same man. He dates both of us. We are both sure it is the only one for us, and though he has never said he loved either one, and doesn't know how we feel, we would like to know how we can make him decide between us.

ANSWER: You sound more like a pair of pre-teen-agers than girls approaching their 20's. Of course, neither of you is really in love with the young man, but if you enjoy his company, and get a thrill, as you apparently do, from the suspense of waiting for him to choose, continue dating him until he meets someone else—which he is sure to do.

Miss Nissen cannot reply personally to readers but will answer questions of general interest through this column.
