CROPS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Henry Clews, of New York, a very good authority, reports that in spite of injuries here and there the crop prospects are decidedly encouraging, not merely because of sufficient yields of wheat, corn and cotton, but because of what is equally important, the promise of profitable returns to farmers. The farmers of the United States, Mr. Clews continues, are certainly enjoying a period of prosperity; so, too, are the industrial classes, for labor is everywhere well employed and wages are often higher than a year or two ago.

A WAR NUMBER.

To commemorate the part played by the Canadian soldiers in South Africa. The Canadian Magazine has issued a war number (August.) The colored cover represents "The Canadian Soldiers of the Queen," while the numerous illustrations add to this idea. "The Maple Leaf in South Africa" is the title of the article which gives in detail the movements of the various Canadian contingents in South Africa. "The Battle of Paardeberg" is graphically described by a Canadian eye-witness, "Three Sieges and Three Heroes," describes the famous defence made by Sir George White, Col Kekewich and Major Baden-Powell. "A Short History of the Boer War" gives a complete summary of the great campaign. There are other features, notably an article on "British Columbia Politics" by T. L. Grahame, with many photographs of the leading men of the province, a short story by Robert Barr and a poem by Arthur J. Stringer.

Montreal Gazette: An ominous silence has fallen upon the poets of Liberalism. The author of "Beware the French-Canadian horde" has lost his voice. He who wrote "Ring the knell of boodling boys," no longer tunes his lyre. There is nothing coming from the bard who gave us "Hurrah for Tarte, so neat and smart." The luxury begotten of an expenditure of a million dollars a week has stilled the singers' noble rage. The party is decaying intellectually. It will presently perish physically.

Nervousness is cured by making the blood rich and pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla. It gives the sweet, refreshing sleep of childhood.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF SCIENCE.

The Land of Cherry—and Recreating Teachers

Leaving Charlottetown on the 24th inst, a thoroughly enjoyable trip brought your correspondent to the city of fog in about ten hours. The following day, still in a fog, the Bay of Fundy was crossed and Digby reached, where the first cherries were enjoyed. From Digby to Bear River station, thence by coach for four miles, "over hill and dale," and such hills—they must be experienced to be realized. Reaching Bear River "the home of the cherries," one finds a ladder standing invitingly against a large cherry tree loaded with luscious fruit. The invitation of the ladder is quickly accepted, and then surrounding objects are lost to view and thought and you eat cherries until eating cherries is no longer desirable for the time being. After a time you are found there again still enjoying the cherry.

The opening meeting of the school, on Thursday evening, the 26th, was a most enthusiastic one. The spacious Baptist church was filled by an intelligent audience. Mr. Clarke presided, and in an exceedingly neat and appropriate speech welcomed the school to Bear River—its homes, the hearts of its people—the beautiful scenery—its cherries. He dwelt upon the interest taken in education at the present time and the apparent revival of learning, especially the interest taken in the practical education. Rev Mr Porter also spoke words of welcome to the school. He welcomed them because he saw in the members a band of young men and women seeking for truth. He also welcomed them because he found on the faculty a former teacher of his own, and one that he would again enjoy for the next two weeks the privilege of sitting at the feet of and being instructed. President Campbell, replying for the school, thanked the speakers and the people for the very hearty welcome given. He dwelt upon the aims of the school to bring the teachers more into touch with nature and having themselves been imbued with a love for the natural, they would go back to their schools and impart some of their enthusiasm to the pupils. Mr. J. Vroom, of St. Stephen, dwelt upon the advantages Bear River offered to students of history especially of early Canadian history, being surrounded on every side by places of historical interest. Here was fought out Canada's destiny. J B Hall, Ph. D., of Truro, N S, dwelt upon the recreative features of the school, and the benefits derived by tired teachers coming to new surroundings and associations and experiencing a restful feeling combined with the work of the school. Mr. J S Seaman spoke of the happy combination of recreation and work the school offered, that while thoroughly enjoying themselves the members of the school were also acquiring a large fund of useful information which could not fail to make them better and more successful teachers. Also the enlarged outlook one receives by going to new places of interest and meeting with the specialists that attended the school. A local choir furnished some selections of music during the evening.

Afterwards there was held in the vestry of the church a most enjoyable informal reception, where former members of the school renewed their acquaintance and new acquaintances were made. Bear River N. S. July 27th, 1900

The Montreal Star remarks that the platform of the Liberal party and the pledges of Sir Wilfrid may have been written in sympathetic ink, which soon becomes invisible, but the writers forgot that heat will restore such writing, and an election campaign is usually a warm time.

An English engineer writes to the London Standard:

I remember some five years ago I was up the Nile in Egypt, away from big towns, and had a long talk with various sheiks and omdehs of villages. I was the only westerner present, and we all knew and trusted each other in a way. I asked if taxes were lighter.

"Yes," was the answer.

"Is water fairly distributed?"

"Yes."

"Can you get justice against a pasha?"

"Yes."

"And who did all this?" I finally asked, expecting to be told it was the English.

There was silence; they are never in a hurry. Then an old sheik answered "Allah."
