Council President Kashmir Bound

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) The Security Council voted Thursday to send its president to India and Pakistan in an attempt to break their deadlock over Kashmir.

Sweden's Gunnar V. Jarring, council president for February, said he would forward the resolution to the two governments any proposals that might contribute to a settlement.

The old princely state in the Himalayas between India and West Pakistan has been an object of discord here for more than nine years. India and Pakistan occupy separate parts of it.

The vote to send Jarring was 10 to 0 with the Soviet Union abstaining. Russia voted a similar resolution Wednesday because it mentioned the possibility of using a UN force to observe a plebiscite.

ACCEPTS CONDITIONALLY The council has recommended a plebiscite to decide whether Kashmir should join Pakistan or India, but India claims Kashmir as part of the Indian federation by accession of the then maharaja Sir Hari Singh in 1947.

Jarring accepted the mission on condition that India and Pakistan co-operate. He is to report back by April-15.

Ailing V. K. Krishna Menon, India's roving cabinet minister, said he would forward the resolution to his government but it would not be considered until after a new cabinet is formed about mid-March. Menon appeared weak but improved since his collapse from exhaustion Wednesday.

Premier Smallwood Urges Holding On To Union Jack

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood urged his fellow Orangemen at their association's annual Wednesday night to stand by the Union Jack against people who would do away with it in favor of a distinctive Canadian flag.

"Nothing can take the place of the Union Jack," he said. "It is the symbol of Empire. It is supreme."

Smallwood said agitation for a new flag has calmed down since Newfoundland entered Confederation nearly eight years ago. Newfoundland's protest in favor of the Union Jack was giving heart to the strong loyalists in Nova Scotia, British Columbia and Ontario.

Newfoundlanders would never lose their British loyalty, he said. "The events of the past few months made us sick... when we think of the country that gave the last ounce of blood for the world, and freedom from the wild beast, being kicked
