HAPPENINGS

"Christianity in the News" is the caption in the recent War Cry for several short articles. These are the President's Creed, The First Negro Bishop, Visitor from Japan, Revival in Baghdad.

Accompanying the article, Visitor from Japan, there is a fine photograph of Mrs. Tsururichi Watari, a recent visitor to Prince Edward Island. The quote from the "Japan Year" of mission study, the Dominion Board of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church has as its guest, Mrs. Tsururichi Watari, a daughter (Yoshiko) of the late Commissioner Gunpei Yamamuro. She has addressed the annual meeting in Toronto and many other important gatherings, interpreting the life and work of the Japan Church. She will finish her busy itinerary in Vancouver, after visiting other parts of Canada.

Mrs. Edith MacNevin of Braintree, Mass., who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Smith of Cedar Avenue, Summerside, has been widely entertained by many of her former friends in Summerside.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Brookline, Mass., with their two children, Vickie and Dennis have been the guests for two weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Young, Birchwood Avenue.

Mrs. Malcolm MacLean entertained Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Florence Drake and her daughter Flo, prior to their departure for Toronto, where they will take up residence.

ELLEN'S DIARY

A Roly Poly Pup Is Now A Pet At Alderlea

This morning saw the wedding commence at Alderlea with a gathering of the men of the family to the work in the roof-field — James, his sons, and (older) grandsons, like in Scriptural story it came to mind, and he obviously well pleased with it all. Not that much was expected of Gage and Mack, who mixing duty with pleasure were to be heard at times at play about the lawn. . . young laughs, words, fading in with the summer birdsong and beauty and bloom all about.

In another addition to the pets of this place a pup appeared with Mack at our door this morning — a roly-poly fellow, a dark collier to replace his immediate predecessor the likeably "Chippy" whose untimely but necessary end remains shrouded in mystery to the children.

With smiling assistance the babe-of-dog mounted the doorstep to with his master our first visitors of the day.

"He's really a god pup" Mack said. "And pretty too, isn't he?" he added. "The only thing is that if he's left alone in the barn he cries for his mother and that" he offered soberly "is something I don't like to hear. . . perhaps you'd like to have him stay a while with you — just till I have my breakfast. He won't chew things — I promise. He's not old enough yet for that" he smiled with some suggestion.

Is there a limit to pup-rearing for lads-of-fellows? Perhaps. Maybe when the years have made eyes blind to the charms of such youngsters and ears deaf to the mournful keening which are so reminding of a child forlorn. But not this morning. We picked up the warm snuggling babe-of-body.

We'll put him in your grandfather's chair. He'll be snug there until you come for him" we said.

CANADA OPENS ARMS

VIENNA (Reuters) — Canada heads the list of countries taking Hungarian refugees from Austria last week. Of 809 refugees who left for new homes abroad, 569 went via Le Havre to sail Friday in the Ascania for Canada. Another 83 Hungarian refugees flew direct from Vienna to Canada.

"Easy" Is Hard Worked Now

By DOROTHY ROE
NEW YORK (AP)—Easy does it in the fall fashion roundup. As New York designers today opened a hectic week of fall showings for 200 members of the fashion press, it became evident that "easy" is going to be the most overworked word in the fashion vocabulary this year. Easy shoulders, easy waistline, easy fit—the trend-setters chant a chorus.

It's true that the predominant silhouette for fall is the unfitted sack, with the belt added merely as surface decoration and probably at the neckline. But things aren't as bad as they seem. On the tall, string bean woman, the sack looks good. And for her shorter, more rounded sisters there are plenty of outfits with conventional waistlines, but not squeezed in to the point of suffocation, as has been true in the not too distant past.

FUR PREDOMINANT
Biggest news in the fall collections lies in color, fabric and a record crop of fur trimmings. Everything from chiffon to nans dress to town suits come with their own fur accents this fall. The dance dress may have a fluffy fox border, like a hemline ruff. The suit may have a leopard jacket, or an ermine sailor collar. Fur hats, bags, belts and scarfs are all over the place, and in all pelts.

There's also news in daringly new exposures in after-6 fashions. Bolder designers, such as Call Chapman, Oleg Cassini and Luis Estevez, slash the neckline to the waist on some of their sliery black crepe dinner dresses with long, tight sleeves making them seem even more startling. These, of course, are worn with built-in bras.

Slender, draped, peg-top sheaths, usually in crepe, also may have hemlines trailing the floor in back but slashed above the knees in front. The cult of the uneven hemline reaches its peak in the fall fashions of Estevez, the handsome young Cuban designer whose frankly sexy gowns have captivated the imagination of women all over the country.

Women who have had painful adventures with the narrow skirts of the last few seasons may relax this fall. Although the silhouette still is slender, new ways have been found to give sufficient room for walking or climbing into a taxi. These include slits, low-placed with a fabric underlay and other devices to keep the wearer from being hobbled.

Hostesses Aid World's Fair

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—A pretty face, a pleasing personality and the ability to keep smiling—these are the chief qualities demanded of the 220 girls chosen to act as hostesses for the 1958 Brussels World's Fair.

These are the girls who will receive Belgium's thousands of visitors next year and act as their guides, interpreters and friends. Not all of them will be on the fair ground itself, though some will be stationed at each of its 10 entrance gates.

The idea is that hostesses shall be on hand everywhere they may be needed—to help the tourist or the holiday-maker or the businessman who has a problem.

They will be at the main frontier posts, ports, railroad stations and airports, to help speed up and smooth customs formalities. They will travel on the Dover-Orlando boats and on the main express trains.

STRATEGIC POINTS
In Brussels, they will be found at a special "welcome-to-Belgium" centre in the heart of the city and if some visitors to the world's fair are housed in other cities, such as Bruges, Ghent, Antwerp or Liege, they will find a hostess there to whom they can turn with their difficulties.

All the hostesses speak Belgium's two languages, French and Flemish, and at least one other language. Many of them know English, Dutch and German. At least one girl speaks Arabic and several speak Russian.

The fair will open officially April 17, 1958. A nucleus of about 20 girls is already trained and wearing their uniforms. They dress in smart red jackets, tricornes black hats and pencil slim, navy blue skirts.

NEW LONDON W.I.
Mrs. Oscar McKay was hostess to the members of New London W.I. for the June meeting. The meeting opened by singing "O Canada" and repeating the Mary Stewart Collect in unison. 18 members and 15 visitors attended the meeting with a famous Canadian woman.

Minutes were read, approved and signed. Correspondence consisted of a letter from the Salvation Army and Holman's for Women's Day at their store on June 21, and one from the Protestant Orphanage. Annual meeting is to be held June 20.

Mrs. Morn McEwen and Mrs. Oliver Bernard were appointed as delegates to attend the W.I. convention in Charlottetown on July 3 and 4. Sick committee reported 3 calls made. School reported nothing.

COOL COMFORT

These trim and pretty separates in pastel checked seersucker are just the thing to smarten up any summer vacation wardrobe. And they are made of a new combination of combed cotton and acetate that gives the fabric a silky look and washes like a dream.

THE EXPERTS SAY

Good Eating Makes For Beauty, Brains And Bliss

By MARY BURKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO (CP)—Eat your way to health and happiness! That's the advice of Ann Matthews, nutrition consultant of the Toronto department of public health, who says "good food develops not only your physical well-being but also your mental powers."

To induce better food habits, Miss Matthews says "we dietitians try to appeal first to people's vanity—a better complexion, a glowing healthy look—and finally to their good sense."

SELECTION COUNTS
The secret to careful food budgeting is not how much you buy but what you buy. A family of four can eat on $15 a week, single girls or bachelors on seven dollars.

To make sure of daily, nutritious meals, Miss Matthews recommends Canada's Food Rules. Adults should drink one-half pint of milk daily, children under 12, one pint, adolescents and pregnant women, a pint and a half. Milk can be skim, whole, evaporated or powdered.

Other requirements in the average daily diet:
Two fruit servings—one citrus; one vegetable serving; one meat serving; one bread serving; one dairy serving.

ing needed, but decided to treat school, pre school children, and donated money for prizes as usual. Collection amounted to $2.40.

Mrs. James Cole will entertain the members at the July meeting which will be held July 8. A debate then followed with Mrs. Eric McEwen, Mrs. Wilbur McKay, Mrs. Oscar McKay and Mrs. John R. Burgoyne. Meeting closed with the Queen. Lunch was served by the hostess and committee in charge.

PALMER ROAD C.W.L.
The June meeting of Palmer Road C.W.L. was held on Sunday afternoon, June 16th. Meeting was opened by the president, in the absence of the director, Rev. Father Walsh, the president read the League Prayer.

Twenty-three members answered the roll call. Minutes of last meeting were read, approved and signed. The treasurer reported $58.78 on hand, apart from $100.00 put away to pay St. Dunstan's C.W.L. Scholarship for girls.

A bingo held in June realized the sum of $45.56. It was decided to hold another Bingo on July 16th and tickets are to be sold for said Bingo. $20.00 was voted to help defray camping expenses of 4 boys from the Parish.

The Reverend Director then gave a very instructive talk to members. He urged all members to do their utmost to assist at the Eucharistic Congress to be held in Tignish on July 9th. He also encouraged members to help the Social Service in Summerside in every way possible.

MR. AND MRS. J. R. HIGGINBOTHAM

Young Couple Pledge Vows At Fortune United Church

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Friday, June 7th at 2.30 o'clock in Bay Fortune United Church, when Ida Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Wood, Rollo Bay West, became the bride of John Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Higginbotham, ev. D. A. Sharpe officiating, Rev. D. A. Sharpe officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The music was played by Mrs. D. A. Sharpe. The church was prettily decorated with tulips, daffodils, ferns and apple blossoms and the guest pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown of white nylon net over satin, and strapless bodice in lace with fitted lace bolero. A coronet of seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil of tulle illusion. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fortune Bridge hall for approximately 50 guests. LET'S EAT

Irritation Is Sparked By Skipping Breakfast

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN
To skip breakfast sparks irritability, quarrels and mid-morning fatigue. Juice, coffee and toast are not enough. Many interesting quick-and-easy menus can yield both nutrition and enjoyment.

For a 12-minute, man-size breakfast, you could serve Orange Juice, baked ham and eggs, heated rolls and coffee. Here's how it's done: Before you finish dressing, put the ham and eggs in aluminum throw-away foil pans in the oven. Wrap the rolls in aluminum foil to oven-heat. They will be ready when you are!

Ham 'n Egg Bake: Butter 6-in. throw-away aluminum foil pans. Border each with one third of a dice cooked ham. Break in 1 or 2 eggs. Top with 1 tsp. milk, salt and pepper. Bake 10 min. in a mod. oven. 375 degrees F.

ELEANOR ROSS

Old-Fashioned Games For Summertime Fun

By ELEANOR ROSS
This is the time of year when all those wonderful toys the children own don't mean a thing.

First of all, one can't drag them all down to the beach or pile them in the car. As a result, parents are often driven frantic caring for children on a trip or snatching them out of the drink before they get themselves drowned.

GAMES AND CARDS
To the rescue come those pastimes that used to amuse children by the hour before showers of toys descended upon them — playing cards and old-fashioned games. A good children's card game will keep youngsters occupied for hours.

If they are very young, for example, a popular old game like Pig might be just the thing to hold their attention. Pig is an ideal game for the beach since any number from three to thirty can participate, using only one deck of cards.

OBJECT OF GAME
Playing Pig consists of passing cards, one at a time, to the left and picking up the card received from the right. The object of the game is to collect four cards of the same rank. The moment you receive the fourth of a kind, lay your cards down on the table and touch your nose with one finger as quietly as possible. Every other player, as soon as he notices, touches his nose, too, and stops playing. Last one to see and touch his nose is the Pig and loses the deal.

For a more strenuous and exciting game, there's Pounce. As the name implies, Pounce involves plenty of physical exertion and is perfect for outdoors. The game, a multiple version of Solitaire, is for three or more players and since they all play simultaneously, the opportunities for physical exertion are unlimited.

BUILD UP SUIT
In Solitaire, it will be recalled, the Aces are the foundation cards and you try to build up from the Ace to the King in each suit. In Pounce you build on any foundation, yours or that of your opponent, and that's where the action and the fun begins.

Older children (6-8) will probably enjoy Concentration, a game that's good for both adults and children to play together. Strangely enough, the children usually win despite the most determined efforts of their elders. To play this one, spread out 52 cards, face down. Each player, in turn, gets a chance to turn over two cards. If they match numerically (two 6's, two Queens) he triumphantly takes them off the board and gets another turn. If they don't match, he turns them back face down in their original places. Eventually all the cards are matched and withdrawn and the player with the largest number wins.

LOCATION OF CARDS
The trick, of course, is to remember the location of the cards. That's the reason, according to experts, why children win this game more often than adults. They're better at concentrating and not so easily distracted as grown-ups.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Many plumbing difficulties in a kitchen can be averted if you use a sink strainer. It is usually triangular in shape so as to fit into a corner of the sink. It should have some weight to hold it slightly above the sink so it can drain readily. It may be purchased in enamel ware, aluminum or stainless steel.
