

Mrs. Cyrus Pickard Is Honored By Parkdale W. I.

On Thursday afternoon, May 23, the members of Parkdale Women's Institute entertained at the home of Mrs. Edwin Cook in honor of Mrs. Cyrus Pickard who is leaving the district. Mrs. Ross Apple of Mrs. Pickard's valuable work as Guide leader for a number of years and more recently as Guide Commissioner and also of her worthwhile contribution to the work of the Women's Institute, as a token of remembrance, Mrs. Arthur Seaman presented the guest of honor with a Wedgewood sugar and cream set. The president, Mrs. Henry Douglas, presided over the tea table, which was attractive with its lace cloth and beautiful centerpiece of yellow and white mums with yellow forsythia flanked by yellow tapers. Assisting Mrs. Cook was Miss Anna Love, while Mrs. Seaman, Mrs. Warren Burns and Mrs. Hector MacDonald served the delicious refreshments.

Parisian Says Nfld. Sweaters Are The "Best In The World"

By GERRY FREEMAN
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A Paris-trained fashion designer says the best sweaters in the world are made in the quiet fishing village of Brigus on Newfoundland's east coast. Ted Bedin, 32-year-old designer of the sweaters worn by the American team in the 1956 Olympics says the sweaters made at Brigus are works of art, "like postage stamps." They compared with sweaters made in North America by comparison were like portraits by some painter on the left bank of the Seine. Mr. Bedin Wednesday wound up a three-day visit to Eckhart Knitting Mills at Brigus at the invitation of the Newfoundland government. The mill is one of the new industries brought to Newfoundland from Europe several years ago. It employs a staff of nearly 100, including six highly-skilled German girls who passed on their trade to Newfoundland workers. The mill has 65 knitting machines and about 30 sewing and pressing machines. It specializes in hand-fashioned sweaters knit to form on the machines. They are the best sweaters in the world, Mr. Bedin said flatly in an interview. Italian sweaters compared but could not surpass them. The mill itself could become the largest in North America. Mr. Bedin said he might be interested in taking it over himself, introducing some North American techniques to the exclusively European techniques now employed, and raising the staff within three or four seasons to a many as 1,500. Mr. Bedin emigrated to Canada from France four years ago but now lives in New York.

Autumn Styles Already Featured In London Show

LONDON (Reuters) — Christian Dior brought shades of autumn to London Thursday with all the colors of brightly burning coal fire. His collection was based on black, toned to smoke, slate, and indigo, and warmed with glowing reds. There were many unpressed hems and pleats. The unpressed look ran through the show, giving a rounded shape to the clothes. Belts on many coats and suits were low down on the hips in continuation of the "back-to-the-20s" line. Collars were low on the shoulder or high right up to the ears.

Mrs. Edward Lidstone of Cape Wolfe, was a visitor to Charlottetown, recently where she visited her husband who is a patient in the Provincial Sanatorium. Mr. and Mrs. Obadiah MacArthur and daughter, Verna of Summerside, were visitors to the home of Mrs. MacArthur's father, Mr. Charlie MacArthur in West Devon recently. —C.P.

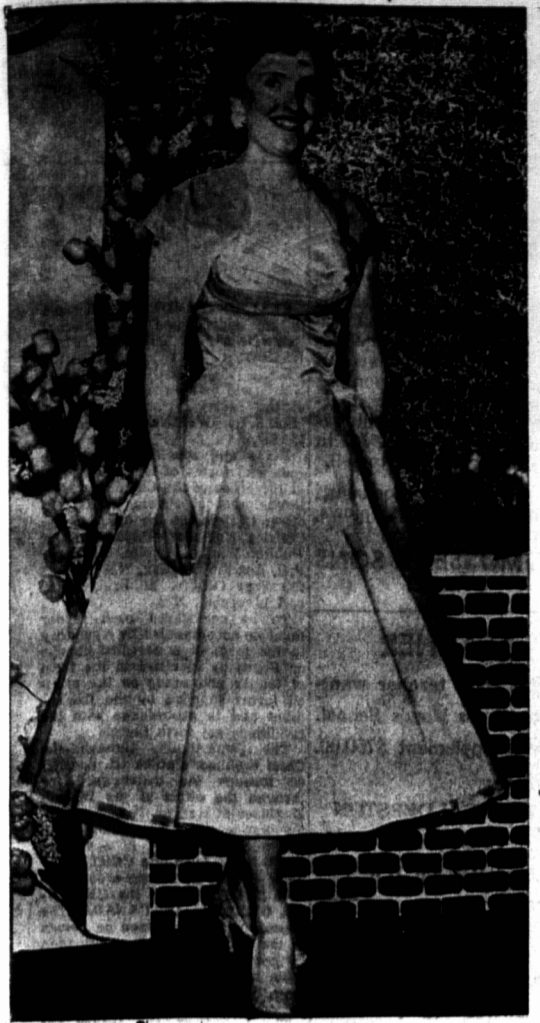

CLC CONCERNED
OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress said Friday in a letter to Prime Minister St. Laurent it is "deeply concerned" that the question of pay increases for federal civil servants has become a political issue in the current election campaign.

Get set for a party. With the lit of music, the sound of song, get set to dance the whole evening long-wear a dress that's so gossamer it floats through the air. Mrs. Ballem is wearing this misty green crystalline formal. It has an interesting criss cross effect in bodice, straps are formed from cuff at bustline ending in bow at back. Another matching bow appears at fish tail back. There is also a matching cover-up jacket.

Plastics Need Good Care As Well As Other Goods

By ELEANOR ROSS
Just as bread is a staple in our diet, so plastics are increasingly becoming staples in our home-making plans. And like bread, plastics have infinite variety! To help us understand this modern creation, the plastics used for the house are broken down into two main groups: thermosetting and thermoplastic. The thermosetting is the type you find, for instance, as handles on your cooking utensils, and in your plastic dinner service. This type is set into a firm shape and won't become soft when washed in water up to 300 degrees. FIRM AGAIN The thermoplastic type, on the other hand, does soften when again when cooled. This type is used in such household articles as measuring cups, spoons and mixing bowls. Unless the item comes with labels giving other instructions, it's safer to wash plastics in water. Use of any abrasives for cleaning is generally to be avoided. While the majority of plastics are durable, can take a beating and give good, long service, certain precautions are in order for certain types. BREAK EASILY For instance, some rigid plastic articles break easily when dropped and some warp under the impact of extremely high temperatures. Plastic dinnerware is becoming prettier, more colorful and therefore more popular every day and is splendid for day-in-day-out routine meals and snacks. The dinnerware should be washed with any standard soap or detergent, but never, never subjected to abrasives which will harm the smooth surface.

"Proud Heritage" Is The History Of N. C. Women

The National Council of Women of Canada send out the following notice: Who was responsible for the domestic science colleges in Canada, the parks and playgrounds movement? Who persistently badgered successive governments for a national health department, battled with municipal authorities for safe water and milk? Why have we a Victorian Order of Nurses, a flourishing Red Cross and dozens of other benefits? The answers? You'll find them in Proud Heritage, the history of The National Council of Women of Canada, which tells what Council has meant to Canada and traces the struggles of the pioneers who founded it. Canadians are enjoying this inspirational reading.

LOVELY LACE DRESS

Lace is lovely and alluring no matter the time of year. But it seems at its loveliest on soft spring and summer evenings when its gossamer charm somehow suggests the season. Rex Reig has done a delightful dinner dress in black Chantilly lace, and has kept the design simple to let the lovely fabric have the starring role. Straps form a square neckline and the sectionally-designed skirt joins three lace tiers with moire ribbon.
