

Campus Comment

Question: Do you like "Campus Comment" and do you think it is worthwhile?

1. Yes, it is definitely worthwhile. I think you should ask more professors. I think you should have more comments rather than only ones with pictures.
Jamie Kilbride,
3rd year Arts

2. Sure it is worthwhile because then you get the input of the students.
Shannon Gillis,
3rd year Arts
(on right)

3. I agree.
Bernadette Lynch,
2nd year Business
(on left)

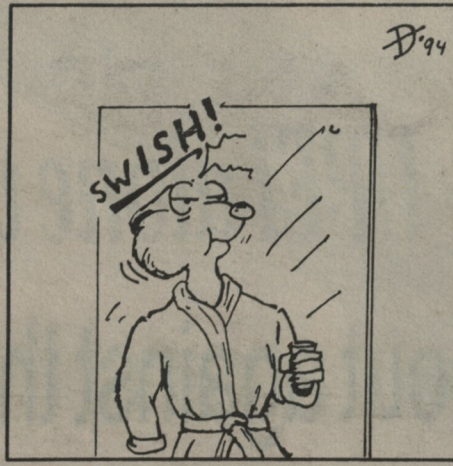

4. I think so...sure. It gives the opinion of the students from week to week. It is always good to hear from the starving students
Mark McKenna,
4th year Political Science

5. I think "Campus Comment" is the most viable source of campus perspective that I have ever endeavoured to take in, in one reading. It fills my soul with love, and my heart with blood, and inspires my life.

It is a summarization of all my hopes, dreams, fears, and hey, the paper is free! So why wouldn't an economically correct student (such as myself) enjoy such an earnest and forthright publication such as this lovely column?

So in conclusion, love vicariously through your favourite column, and you too, my loser friends, may find health, wealth, and lot's 'o' fun in between...Campus Comments.
