

Reds Increase Economic Drive Tempo In Mid-East

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Communist bloc is steadily raising the tempo of its drive to penetrate the Middle East economically.

In the last week alone, Middle East news agencies reported an agreement for the exchange of Soviet wheat for Egyptian cotton, an Egyptian agreement to buy Chinese meat at prices below the world market, and a Soviet offer to develop oil in northern Syria.

The latter is the most noteworthy of the three reports. Syria's Communists, though small in number, are strong and ably led by Khad Baghdad, Moscow's chosen representative for the entire Middle East. Syria's government is in a chronic state of instability, and the army is heavily infiltrated by Communists. It would be no big trick, when the time might be ripe, for the Russians to support a Communist coup in that country aimed at setting up a people's democracy for a permanent foothold in the Middle East.

TEMPING PICTURE

The Damascus report said a representative of the Soviet firm, Techno-Export, has informed Syria there is abundant oil in its northern territory and Soviet concerns can get it out on ordinary commercial terms. It said the Soviet representative pictured Syria as a potentially rich country which, with the money and assistance which could be pocketed, could industrialize and develop itself economically.

his is an attractive picture for a poverty-stricken country like Syria, forever nervous about her neighbors and jealous of the oil riches of next-door Iraq. The Soviet Union is playing clever politics with such an offer.

There are only the recent manifestations of the Communist bloc's determined economic drive in a wide area of Africa and Asia, whose eventual aim to divorce such countries from any Western influence. Trade between the so-called backward countries and the Soviet-Communist bloc has been increasing significantly ever since 1954, when the Russians suddenly decided to introduce themselves dynamically into the agitated politics of the Middle East.

All the Communist satellite countries have been marshalled into the campaign in an effort to convince the formerly colonial countries that trade with the Communist camp will permit them to retain their national dignity and will bear no taint of economic domination.

Pre-Election Activities In Nova Scotia Under Way

By DAL WARRINGTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — No election has been called—the government could wait until 1958—but both Liberals and Progressive Conservatives act as if a Nova Scotia polling date were only weeks away.

Political fever has touched a new peak since 41-year-old Liberal Premier Henry Hicks returned last week from a flying visit to Ottawa, where he talked with Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Since then announcement of public works projects, aid for tax-starved municipalities, and improved health and welfare services have come almost daily.

Opposition Leader Robert L. Stanfield says, "An election this autumn now seems to be a certainty, and rushes plans for a province-wide Progressive Conservative campaign here Sept. 15."

MANY CONVENTIONS

Both parties have been nominating candidates for months, but this week things really get going. The Liberals plan conventions in three ridings, the Conservatives in five. The Liberals expect to hold four more next week. The Premier will announce an election next weekend, some observers say. So far Mr. Hicks has stuck to his two stock answers for election date queries: 1. In the not-too-distant future. 2. "Sometime in the next 13 months."

Last week's flurry of government activity generated a new crop of early election forecasts. The experts pick Oct. 30 or Nov. 5 as likely dates, both Tuesday. Nova Scotia law requires election writs to be issued 43 days before voting.

Province House began to bustle early this month with appointment of a commission to find a way to give Nova Scotia farmers easier credit. Then the premier called in reporters to announce he was going to see Mr. St. Laurent about high freight rates—a perennial Maritime complaint.

STUDY PROMISED

Last Tuesday the premier saw the prime minister, who broke a vacation for the meeting. Mr. Hicks quoted Mr. St. Laurent as saying the Maritime freight rate problem will be considered when the Gordon economic commission submits its report.

He said the prime minister assured him federal spending for regional development is justified when all Canada benefits indirectly. Regional development is a live issue in the Atlantic provinces.

The rest of the week government announcements came thick and fast. Education Minister Fielding told municipal delegates a commission will rescale city, town and county assessments to equalize the burden of education costs.

The premier and federal Works Minister Winters combined to an shipment terminal on the Strait of Canso. There the Canso causeway has scuttled the area's largest job provider, a railroad ferry service.

BOOSTS MUNICIPAL AID

Next Mr. Hicks said Nova Scotia will get almost $5,000,000 in increased federal grants in 1957 instead of $5,000,000 forecast earlier. He announced aid to municipalities will be boosted more than 25 per cent next year.

He and Mr. Winters joined again to announce a $2,750,000 marshland dam project on the Annapolis River in the premier's own constituency. The province will contribute $1,000,000.

Present party standing in the 57-seat legislature is: Liberals 19, Progressive Conservatives 13, CCF two. Three former Liberal seats have been vacant for a year or more, giving the government a slim three-vote margin in the House. Redistribution will add six seats to the next House.

PC'S OPTIMISTIC

"This is the election for which all Conservatives have been waiting," says PC Leader Stanfield. Main points of his attack on the government are "lack of leadership" in industrial expansion and "lack of co-operation" with other Atlantic provinces in regional development.

Premier Hicks has yet to face the electorate as government leader. Canada's youngest premier took office in September, 1954, five months after the death of Premier Angus L. Macdonald.

The Liberals, in power since 1938, lost ground in the last election, in May, 1953. The result then was Liberals 23, Progressive Conservatives 12, CCF two. The government lost another seat to the PCs in a by-election.

See U.S. May Favor Taking Suez To U.N.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Signs appeared Monday that the United States may favor tossing the Suez crisis into the United Nations security council despite an Egyptian plan to create a new "international negotiating body."

State Secretary Dulles in a statement deploring the "disappointing failure of the Cairo conference," said that treaty rights of the canal-using powers remain intact and should be pursued "consistently with the spirit of the UN charter."

There was no official interpretation of his words. But Dulles noted in his statement that a primary purpose of the UN charter is to preserve "justice and respect for the obligations arising from treaties and other sources of international law."

Moreover, the Dulles statement was read to reports by a state department spokesman shortly after Herve Alphan, the new French ambassador, discussed the canal dispute in a 45-minute meeting with Dulles.

OTHER SOLUTIONS

Alphan told reporters that France would acquiesce in referring the Suez dispute to the UN "if our friends want to."

The envoy observed that France believes there are other routes to a peaceful solution. In response to questions, he said his country cannot exclude the use of force as a possible resort, in view of the importance of French interests in the waterway nationalized by Egyptian President Nasser July 26.

"But we want to act according to the spirit and charter of the United Nations," Alphan said.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Dan Gerber (MOTHER OF 11)

The many warm letters I receive from mothers all over the country are a joy to read and I can't tell you what a pleasure it is to share in the lives of so many wonderful babies. From a question that pops up in my mail: "Are you real, or a just-pretend person?" Well, I'm a very much alive, mother of five and bursting-with-pride grandmother of six. If you could see and hear the happy hubbub when the clan gathers, you would be little doubt about how real this family is.

How about you? Many of the hints in this column come from mothers just like you. If you would like to share your suggestions and anecdotes with other mothers, do write me, Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 4027, Terminal A, Toronto, Ontario.

New diet for the up 'n' coming set: Gerber Junior Beef and Noodles with Vegetables and Gerber Junior Chicken Rice Dinner. The Best and Noodles with Vegetables combines juicy bits of lean beef, tender egg noodles and golden carrot morsels... offers good nourishment in the form of meat, egg and cereal proteins. The Chicken Rice Dinner combines delicate chicken with rice, golden carrot morsels and the full flavor of natural chicken broth for just about the happiest, heartiest eating ever.

"Knee-cap" cue. Little overalls worn out at the knees? Why not patch 'em with colored felt, cut in the shape of hearts, flowers or simple animals for a gay and playful touch.
