small scale, every now and then under favorable circumstances. The day after the action, on a Thursday, the crews destroyed the piratical village of Sano, and then, after spending the rest of the day, and part of Friday, "wooding and watering," the two of the vessels started on Friday night on their return voyage.

BOSTON, Oct 25.

Toronto, 24th.—The trial of the Fenian prisoners taken at Fort Erie in June last, commenced at noon today. Col. John B. Lynch was first placed in the dock, and pleaded "not guilty." Solicitor Gene al Cockburn and Hon. J. H. Cameron, M. P., appeared for the Crown, and J. Martin, of Hamilton, and J. H. Doyle, of Toronto, for the defence. Kenneth McKenzie watches the proceedings on behalf of the American Government. The Counsel challenged one panel before the jury was completed, which consisted mainly of farmers and mechanics from the country. Hon. Mr. Cameron opened the case for the crown with an address to the Jury. The first witness, Thomas Newbiggins, of Fort Erie, identified the prisoner of holding a high command among the Fenians while they were encamped upon his father's farm. One of the prisoner's turned Queen's evidence, and confirmed the statements of other witnesses.

BEAR HUNT AT TIGNISH.

On Saturday, the 6th, this district was thrown into a considerable state of excitement by the announcement that a Bear had just crossed the main road and taken refuge in a dense bush of about thirty acres, near Capt. Hubbard's house. Instantly all was hurry, scurry; and the young folks were rather hard to hold in. Guns were carefully loaded, pitchforks, axes, &c., &c. at a premium, and away to the hunt. We only mustered eight hands, young and old, to begin the chase with; and of these two were told off to watch the road, for Bruin is a cunning fellow, and often tries back. However, with a good will in we went, and in ten minutes forced him out of the dense scrub; but in a moment he was gone. Still we proceeded, and after a hard fag got him into his last cover. Stole away, was now the cry, and then a run across an open space of about 1½ miles, the bear leading, and taking his fences in good style, soon distanced all pursuers. "Stick to him, lads, he is in Mr. Conroy's swamp." Now, more help arrives; men, guns and dogs made the place too hot to hold him; so, discarding to skulk, he dashed boldly out into the glorious sunshine. Now the fun commenced in earnest. Many a dog that dashed in pluckily enough, came back yelping, and refused the game again. Lost him again—try back—organized, the beaters, and found we had him. He showed to the front, and at 40 yards got a few grains of Swan shot, which quickened his movements. At this period if only a rabbit stirred or a poor partridge fluttered, bang! bang! in all directions; and as all but a few guns were loaded with small shot, you may conceive that the locality was dangerous. At last after trying long dodge, which his cunning nature suggested for his safety, he made another bold bolt, and galloped for dear life, (and none but those who have seen Bruin in his native wilds can conceive at what a pace he can go). Now, small shot was of no avail; nothing but a bullet could stop his headlong bounding gait; but just as he might fairly suppose he had saved his skin, crack went Mr. T. A. Waite's rifle, and an unlucky ball sealed his fate after a hard chase of eight hours. He was hit fair in the chest and his vitals killed. It was a full grown animal with a splendid skin.

Yours truly,
NIMROD.

Tignish, Oct. 24, 1866.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EXAMINER.

DEDICATION.

Mr. Whelan, not Wailin,
Nor howling, nor crying,
Nor wetting your cambric in drying
Waters symphonious with sobbing or sighing,
Or whizzing and fizzing like anything trying
In bubble and squeak of hot lard in a pan,
Resembling the splatter of splutt'ring fat
A gentleman trying,
The tears Crocodile,
In positive guile,
To deceive and belying
The waters of genuine crying;
No, not among these,
Who laugh cry or sneeze,
As the humor may please,
In the Crocodile feelin'
Can be caught or be seen,
My Learned brother
Hibernian Whelan:
But Mr. Whelan, the laughing
Editor, pleasantly chaffing
All sorts and colors of men—
The fair and the dun,
Like the sly the one,
The other like mud of the fen;
To the type giving type by his pen,
Of figure and style and states of men?
And playful as any wean'd kitten,
Amusing itself with a mitten,
Or its mistresses night cap or wig,
Or ribbon she sports when full rig,
Or whisking a string or a straw,
With infantile passy-pass paw;
Or running round after its tail
And whirling the whirligig trail:—
To thee, Mon Ami,
Of air jolitig,
Sans gravity pregnant,
I gravely propose,
And herewith enclose,
And place under your nose—
Dedicatory, Sir,
My Poem of woes—
Expiatory, Sir,
Of the world as it goes,
As in case of Verucose
Or Verucose Vose,
Call'd as the cap: shows,
"Vose on his Nose."

VOSE ON HIS NOSE.

My Tale wagging goes, of Verucose Vose,
One of the worst used of men, I suppose,
All uprightness his soul did enclose,
And for kindness to friends and to foes
Was a proverb in couleur de rose;
And was respected, as the phrase goes,
By all, full a fall had Verucose,
But in of the heel was down on his nose,
With his toes in the air, and a rent in his clothes,
A long wide rent—a most unfortunate chose—
The tear in the gentleman's superfine clothes;
An indelicate sight was Verucose Vose,
Tripp'd up and tripp'd down on his nose;
But people a-grin laugh'd at Verucose,
Whose misfortune, as each broad-grinner knows,
Was no fault but mishap of Verucose Vose.
Yet laugh'd at and chaff'd at, the fate and the chose,
Recorded above of Vose and his clothes.
Now I gravely declare it is very unfair,
When a man's on his nose, and his toes in the air,
And a rent in his clothes, and exposed in the rear,
To sneer him and jeer him and all his affairs.
The thing is just cruel; and his plight may be theirs,
The giggling, the taunting, the unfeeling Monsieurs.
But so half the chilly world goes
At other's misfortunes and woes,
And will wag on 'till the close,
And the last man through his nose
Shall draw the last airy dose
By his lung's suction hose,
His final parting breath
In the portals of Death.
Now Wisdom outeries:
"I really advise
You to pick up your own nose,
Mind your own heels and your toes,
And smile at your own woes;
Be proud in the throes
Misfortunes impose;
And shrink not nor cower
In the pang of the hour.
Still self-reliant,
Sternly defiant—
Stand calm 'till the close
Triumph over your woes—
Lone conqueror of those—
For as the world goes,
As small sympathy flows
For the worn victim of woes,
All shatter'd
And batter'd
And bruis'd by their blows,
As for a man on his nose—
His head inverted and toes—
And a rent in his clothes
Like poor Verucose Vose."
Wisdom's teaching I own,
Is acknowledg'd and known
Near Philosophy's Stone
At the Observatory Diggins
By Phiz on the leer
And Phiz on the square
And experienced SOLOMAN SPRIGGINS.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENTS.—On Friday evening, as the Heather Belle was on her way up the Hillsborough to Mount Stewart Bridge, whilst the men were preparing the mooring lines, one of the deck hands, Mr. Simon Pitt, accidentally fell overboard. The engine was immediately reversed, and a boat lowered, but the unfortunate man, being unable to swim, sank before assistance reached him, in about three fathoms of water. Deceased was a person of sober habits and attentive to his duties.

On Friday afternoon, as Mr. Lemuel Poole, one of the carpenters employed in the building, was being raised to the cupola of the new Market House, the rope gave way and he was precipitated to the cellar—a distance of forty-five feet. In the descent, Mr Poole struck against one of the joists of the lower floor, and bruised his thigh; but though much injured, we understand the accident will not prove fatal.—Pat.

MOTHERS TAKE HEED.

Thousands of children perish annually from one cause, and that is from worms. Why will you neglect the first symptoms of these pests of humanity, and wait until it is too late before you administer the remedy? JUDSON'S WORM CANDY is the only PURELY VEGETABLE Remedy in existence. If there are no worms, it only acts as a gentle purgative, and cannot harm an infant. IF WORMS EXIST it kills them. Every family should have a package of JUDSON'S DEAD SHOT WORM CANDY in the house. Sold by all Dealers. Get our Almanac.

FIRST BATTLE IN CANDIA.—The insurrection in Candia is turning out unfavorable to the insurgents. A battle is reported to have taken place in which it is estimated that 70,000 were engaged altogether, 30,000 representing the allied forces of the Turks and Egyptians. We have no poet to sing this struggle as Byron sang that of Greece—and yet there is something heroic and romantic about it. There was a time when an affair of the kind would rouse all "Christendom" to arms, but we are wiser in our generation, and people are left to bear their own crosses.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS can be confidently recommended as a domestic remedy for the ailments of all classes and conditions of people—young and old, of both sexes, may take this medicine with the certainty of deriving benefit from its use when disorder or disease is making them miserable. Holloway's Pills are unrivalled for their purifying aperient and strengthening properties. They remove indigestion, palpitation and headache, and are specially serviceable in complaints peculiar to females. Each box of Pills is wrapped with printed instructions for the guidance of invalids, who will readily understand, from carefully studying them, the best way of regaining health. Holloway's Pills will work a thorough change in the constitutions of the weak and nervous.

WE WOULD SAY TO EVERY MOTHER who has a suffering child, to act at once and procure a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little one immediately, will allay all pain, softens the gums, reduces all inflamation, regulates the bowels, and cures wind colic. By relieving the child from pain, it allows it quiet, natural, sleep, and comforts the mother.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES, for Pulmonary and Asthmatic Disorders, have proved their efficacy by a test of many years, and have received testimonials from eminent men who have used them.

COTTON WARPS!

WE would request the attention of those who use COTTON WARPS to the kind of which we are now Manufacturing at the

New Brunswick Cotton Mills.

We spin Nos 7's, 8's and 9's and they are warped and sized by Machinery, thus saving much labour, and being better done than by hand.

They have been extensively used through the Province during the last year, and have been proved to be both better and cheaper than any imported from either England or The United States.

We intend to manufacture them largely for the next few months, and would wish parties in want of such Goods to give them a Trial.

They can be obtained from the principal Dry Goods Houses in the City and throughout the Province.

HAY! HAY! HAY!

FOR SALE, on the Farm of GEORGE GOLES, HAY of the first quality.

Charlottetown, 22nd October, 1866.

PORCELAIN PICTURES

ARE now taken at our Gallery, the only place in the Colony where they are taken. These are the Portraits that of late have caused such excitement all over Europe and America, and no wonder, for they are truly wonderful specimens of art, and are destined to supersede every other style of Portraiture. For beauty of tint, and harmony of light and shade, there is nothing in the world to equal it. Every section of Porcelain, and are indestructible, rivaling gems of the first water.

Respectfully invite all who can appreciate to see specimens which we show at my studio.
