

The Campbells are Comin'.

The Campbells are comin', O-ho, O-ho!
The Campbells are comin', O-ho, O-ho!
The Campbells are comin' to bonnie Loch-leven,
The Campbells are Comin', O-ho, O-ho!
Upon the Lomonds I lay, I lay,
Upon the Lomonds I lay, I lay,
I look it down to bonnie Lochleven,
And saw three percher play, play.

Great Argyle, he goes before,
He makes his cannons and guns to roar;
Wi' sound o' trumpet, fife and drum,
The Campbells are comin', O-ho, O-ho!
The Campbells are comin', etc.

The Campbells they are a' in arms,
Their loyal faith and truth to show;
Wi' banners rattlin' in the wind,
The Campbells are comin', O-ho, O-ho!
The Campbells are comin', etc.

Her Duties to Society.

I heard a woman not long since—she was a wife and a mother—telling of the duties she owed to society. Her remarks were in answer to a female friend who had suggested to her that the true woman, at the head of a family, with a husband and children to care for, could not be expected to give her time to much of outside matter. She could do what was truly and righteously hers to do, and there let it rest. And the woman had answered that she owed duties to society—suffering humanity everywhere—which demanded, and merited her attention.

Ah! even so. But, my good woman, is all attended to at home before you go forth to your work for the outer world? You do owe a duty to society—a duty sacred and of vast moment. It is yours to strengthen the hands of your husband for his battle with the world and to rear and fit your children for their places in the nation. Well did the old political philosopher and economist say: "Let me lead the mothers, and I lead the nation!" Aye, —forget it not, mothers of our land; The little ones now under your fostering care are to be workers and warriors, the physicians and evangelists, of the coming time.

How He Was Weaned From His Cups.

A young wife in Michigan had just got settled in her new home. All seemed fair and promising, for she did not know her husband was a drunkard. But one night he came home at a very late hour, and much the worse for liquor. When he staggered into the house, the wife, who was much shocked, told him he was sick, and made him lie down at once, and in a moment or two he was comfortably settled on the sofa in a drunken sleep. His face was reddish purple, his breathing heavy, and altogether he was a pitiable-looking object. The doctor was sent for post-haste, and mustard applied to his feet and hands. When the doctor came and felt his pulse, and examined him, and found that he was only drunk, he said: "He will be all right in the morning."

But the wife insisted that he was very sick, and that severe remedies must be used.

"You must shave his head and apply blisters," she urged "or I will send for some one who will."

The husband's head was accordingly shaved closely and blisters applied. The patient lay all night in a drunken sleep, and, notwithstanding the blisters were eating into the flesh, it was not till near morning that he began to feel about, disturbed by pain.

About daylight he woke up to a most uncomfortable consciousness of blistered agonies.

"What does this mean?" he said, putting his hands to his bandaged head.

"Lie still—you mustn't stir," said the wife; "you have been taken very sick."

"I'm not sick."

"Oh, yes, you are; you have brain fever. We have worked with you all night."

"I should think you had," groaned the poor victim; "what's the matter with my feet?"

"They are blistered."

"Well, I'm better now; take off the blisters, do," he pleaded piteously.

He was in a most uncomfortable state—his head covered with sores, and his feet and hands were still worse.

"Dear," he said, groaning, "if I should ever get sick in this way again, don't be alarmed and send for the doctor, and, above all, don't blister me again."

"Oh, indeed, I will—all that saved you were the blisters, and if you ever should have another such spell, I should be more frightened than ever—for the tendency, I am sure is to apoplexy, and from the next attack you would be likely to die, unless there were the severest measures used."

He made no further defence; suffice it to say he never had another attack.

Guessing and lying are fust cuzins. The man who gets into the habit of guessing at all things will soon get into the habit of lying about menny things.

CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS.

The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered. Being, however, convinced of the wonderful cure effected by DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS, and their superiority over all other plasters, they now actually prescribe them, in their practice, for such diseases as rheumatism, pain in the side and back, and all such cases as have required the use of plasters or liniment. After you have tried other plasters and liniments, and they have failed, and you want a certain cure, ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER. You can hardly believe your own convictions of its wonderful effects. Although powerful and quick in its action, you can rely on its safety for the most delicate person to wear, as it is free from lead and other poisonous material commonly used in the manufacture of ordinary plasters. One trial is a sufficient guarantee of its merits, and one plaster will sell hundreds to your friends.

Ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and take no other; or, on receipt of 25 cents for one, $1 for five, or $2 for a dozen, they will be mailed, post paid, to any address in the United States or Canada.
