DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
L O N G F E L L O W
One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chamberlain Appeals His Suspension

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—(AP)—Murphy (Hardrock) Chamberlain, suspended coach of Buffalo Bisons, will attend a hearing Wednesday before Maurice Podoloff, American Hockey League president.
Chamberlain, a former big league left-winger at Toronto and Montreal, was suspended and fined $150 Saturday, when he refused to leave the players' bench after being ordered to do so by referee Walton Russell.
The fine was the third meted out to Chamberlain since he assumed the Buffalo helm seven weeks ago and brought the total fines to $500.

Francis To Be In Nets For Rangers

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—(CP)—Frank Boucher, New York Rangers manager, said today that Emile Francis will be in goal for the Blues when they meet Maple Leafs in a National Hockey League game in Toronto tomorrow night.
Francis is replacing Chuck Rayner, whose knee was injured in a game at Montreal Saturday night.
Boucher said Rayner is expected to be out of hockey for the rest of the season.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

WORTH THEIR WEIGHT

Truly the balance of nature has been greatly upset by the advent of man. Fortunately, back in 1916, Canada and the United States signed an agreement prohibiting the destruction of migratory birds. Otherwise many of our lovely song birds and shore birds would before this have vanished like the Great Auk and the Passenger Pigeon—to be numbered with extinct species. Game birds are protected also, as they may be shot only at certain seasons. Canadians should be proud to live in a country where there are conservation laws.

Both government and private enterprise have done much to preserve bird life by providing sanctuaries, which are dotted all across Canada. Thus seabirds and coastal waterfowl are protected in some places, inland waterfowl in others. Golf courses are most satisfactory as bird havens.

Despite shooting restrictions, our manner of living is a great drawback to birds. When areas are drained we lose Ducks, Herons, and shore birds; when timber is cut down Chickadees, Canada Jays, Nuthatches, and most Woodpeckers leave. Tall buildings, light-houses, and even highways with their rapid traffic are death traps. Water birds are captured by floating oil. The new insecticides kill the insects upon which nearly all young birds and the adults of a great many species feed—thus causing death to the feathered population. Wanton shooting takes the lives of far too many birds. Enough cannot be said in favour of our weed and insect eaters. If that control should be lifted, the plight of our farmers would indeed be tragic. Redpolls, Snow Buntings, Goldfinches, Juncos, Tree-White-crowned, Song, White-throated, and Vesper Sparrows are just some of the birds that feed mainly on weed seeds. Chipping Sparrows, Cardinals, Rose-breasted Grosbeaks, Indigo Buntings, Scarlet Tanagers, Orioles, our many little Warblers, Wrens, Vireos, Kinglets, Creepers, Woodpeckers are continually working to keep down insect pests.

Some birds of prey are not protected, and being for the most part fairly large they make good targets, so the many valuable members suffer for the few that have bad records. Owls by night and Hawks by day render us unbelievable service. People complaining of rodents should remember that these predatory birds are nearly all the best possible mouse traps.

Each species has its special part to play in nature's scheme, and quite apart from their beauty and music, birds require protection, for each is worth its weight in gold.
