Actress Claims Men Like Women To Look Like Women

By IDA JEAN KAIN

"Women are apt to carry stream lines too far," Maureen O'Hara commented when I visited with her recently in Hollywood. Be-gorra, this is something new coming from a movie star, thought I. This Irish lass admits that she fell into the trap, too—at one time she used to strive to keep her weight pared down to a thin 112 pounds. It took a definite jolt to open her eyes. It happened this way: One day at the airport, the pilot who knew her well gazed up a dozen strong and told her in no uncertain terms that they didn't like her so thin and to please gain some weight.

"That did it!" she told me. "Back I went to eating, and happy I was too."

O course, even now this Irish actress could scarcely be considered plump. She's 5' 7 1/2" tall and weighs 128 to 130 pounds, with these provocative measurements: bust 39", waist 26", hips 37"—"and a bit."

service on Sunday September 23. Worship service on the theme "Destined To Be Hers". The first chapter of the new study book "South East Asia", was taken by Mrs. R. Leard.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

WHEATLEY RIVER W.I.

The Wheatley River W.I. met for their September meeting in the hall. The meeting opened with all members repeating the Mary Stewart collect in unison. The roll call was answered by 10 members reciting a poem.

The minutes of the last meeting were read, approved and signed. Further donations were passed in for the Salvation Army. The Secretary reported the proceeds from the Ice cream Festival amounted to $52.60 and the supper $105.02.

The Committees gave their reports and the following were appointed for next month: Sick-Mrs. Walter Ling and Mrs. Harold Bun-tain; School-Mrs. Harold Chandler and Mrs. Harold Buntain; Lunch-Mrs. Harold Buntain, Mrs. James Wares and Mrs. Alfred Ax-worth; Programme-Mrs. Harold Chandler.

It was decided to hold a pantry sale at Hunter River whenever a store was available Mrs. Fred MacRae is to see about same.

Mrs. Preston Rackham invited the members for the October meeting. Roll call to be answered by stating "What I like best about this month". The collection amounted to 70 cts. Remnants were sold. The meeting closed with the Queen, and lunch was served.

MR. AND MRS. STERLING EARLE MacRAE

Wed In Wheatley River Will Live In Greenvale

The marriage was solemnized at the Wheatley River United Church of Jean Elaine Gloria, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chandler, Wheatley River, and Sterling Earle, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle MacRae, Greenvale.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. C.R. Moase, assisted by Rev. Howard Christie. The organist was Mrs. Philip Matheson and her daughter Margaret was soloist. The selections were "The Wedding Prayer" previous to the ceremony, and "Oh Perfect Love," while the register was being signed.

The church was tastefully decorated with tall baskets of white and mauve lilacs, also a huge basket of peonies. The guest pews were marked with tiny bouquets of white and mauve rocket.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a ballerina length gown of white nylon net over satin, a tight fitted bodice, and a full skirt with panels of inserted lace. The lace bolero had long pointed sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. A coronet of tiny pearls held in place her veil of embroidered net. She carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses with white satin streamers. She wore a blue rhinestone necklace and ear-rings of the groom.

Miss Alma Chandler, sister of the bride, was maid of honour. She wore a ballerina length blue nylon net over satin. Her matching head-dress was of blue flowers. Her also wore blue nylon mitts. Her nosegay was of yellow and white mums.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Moase, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Reginald MacRae's sister-in-law of the groom. Mrs. Moase wore a ballerina length yellow nylon net over satin, with matching head-dress and mitts. Her nosegay was of mauve mums.

Mrs. MacRae's gown was mauve nylon net over satin, ballerina length, with floral head-dress and mitts to match. Her nosegay was of white mums.

The best man was Reginald MacRae, brother of the groom. The ushers were Emerson MacRae, cousin of the groom, and Jackie Chandler, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore navy and white with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore navy with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A delicious lunch was served by the ladies. Presentations were also made to Jean and Sterling by the New Glasgow and Districts Junior Farmer's Group, Presbyterian Y. P.U. and United Church Y.P.U.

The September meeting of the Montague Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George Nicholson, with the president, Mrs. Ad. MacLure presiding.

The meeting was opened with the Mary Stewart Collect repeated in unison. There were 12 members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Nicholson, and approved as read. Correspondence included a letter of appreciation from the Red Cross Society, thanking the members for their splendid cooperation at the Blood Donor Clinic held in Montague in July.

Mrs. Albert Fraser reported that her committee had made arrangements for sponsoring a motion picture at Yeo's Theatre in October. It was also reported that the Red Shield campaign, under the direction of the Institute, was an outstanding success.

The sum of $5.00 was voted towards the Cancer Fund, and $5.00 towards a Care parcel for overseas. It was moved by Mrs. Lorne Wigginton and seconded by Mrs. Fraser that all accounts be paid. New business included a discussion in regard to donation prizes at the close of the school year. It was suggested that prizes be given for application, but the matter was left over for further discussion at the next meeting.

A very interesting report of the provincial convention was given by Mrs. Duncan MacIntyre. Mrs. Lester MacLeod and Mrs. Nicholson were appointed on the school committee.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lyle Boehner, when the roll call will be answered with "What I Like Best About October". At the close of the meeting, lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. John Ballam.

CASCUMPEC W.M.S. The Cascumpec Auxiliary of the W.M.S. held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Bruce Gamble. The meeting opened with a hymn and prayer it was decided to have the Autumn Thankoffering

LET'S EAT

Use Any Vegetable In Making Fritters

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Almost any vegetable may be used in making fritters," pronounced the Chef.

"Corn fritters are a prime favorite, but other kinds are equally good.

"For example, sliced cucumber or zucchini or half-green tomato fritters; cauliflower fritters made by dunking half-cooked cauliflower into fritter batter; diced raw celery or mixed vegetable fritter batter just as you do corn kernels.

"To save time, a chief generally deep-fries fritters in vegetable frying is not always convenient for fat at 370 degrees F. But deep the home. So I suggest frying vegetable fritters in shallow hot fat in a deep skillet."

Fritters from Sliced Raw Vegetables: Dip in savory fritter batter. Fry on one side, then the other.

Fritters from Diced Raw Vegetables: Stir 1 1/2 c. diced raw vegetables into 1 recipe fritter batter. Drop by tablespoons into shallow hot fat. Fry until browned on each side. Drain on crumpled absorbent paper.

Savory Fritter Batter: Sift together 1 c. already-sifted enriched flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1/4 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. thyme, marjoram or poultry seasoning.

Beat 2 eggs light. Add 2-3 c. milk and 2 tsp. melted shortening. Beat the liquid slowly into the flour. Use as directed.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Cucumber cream soup; panned cold cuts; cold sauce creole; vegetable fruit cup; coffee tea milk.

All measurements are level recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6.

Cucumber Cream Soup: Peel and cut 3 large green cucumbers in 1/4" slices. Slow-saute 10 min. in 3 tsp. butter.

Stir in 3 tsp. flour. Slow-cook 3 min.

Gradually stir in 3 c. veal or chicken stock (or boiling water and 2 chicken bouillon cubes. Bring to a boil; simmer 3 min. Rub through a sieve or food mill. Reheat.

Add salt, pepper and a few grains nutmeg to taste.

Beat 1 egg yolk until light; add 1/4 c. light cream or undiluted evaporated milk.

Stir into the soup. Cook and stir 1/2 min. Garnish of minced parsley.

Orange Fruit Cup: Arrange this dessert in deep glass sauce dishes. In each, put a peeled whole California orange opened like a flower.

Separate the section with thin slices of purple plums. Drop a scoop of lemon or lime sherbet in each. Top with a mint leaf.

Cold Sauce Creole from the Chef: Combine 1/2 c. tomato ketchup, 1 tsp. mayonnaise, 3 tsp. horseradish, 2 tsp. minced olives and 4 drops Tabasco.

Stir in 3 tsp. flour. Slow-cook 3 min.

Gradually stir in 3 c. veal or chicken stock (or boiling water and 2 chicken bouillon cubes. Bring to a boil; simmer 3 min. Rub through a sieve or food mill. Reheat.

Add salt, pepper and a few grains nutmeg to taste.

Beat 1 egg yolk until light; add 1/4 c. light cream or undiluted evaporated milk.

Volunteer Taste Testers Gain

By GILLIAN FRITCHARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Office workers in one Toronto company are encouraged to take frequent snacks, and the food is provided by their employers.

The office workers act as taste testers for new products and new recipes in the office of a wholesale food distributing firm.

Says home economist Betty Kirby: "By using anyone who is available in the office for taste-testing, we get the sort of comments and opinions we would get from the public."

Tests are held daily on a variety of foods from salads and rice dishes to puddings and fruit drinks.

"Tasting can, of course, play havoc with your figure," Miss Kirby admits. "I've gained 20 pounds in the four years I've been with the company."

COOK AT HOME Food to be tested is prepared in the company's ultra-modern kitchen. But if a wide-scale test on a new recipe is required, office girls are called in again and asked to make the new dish in their own homes.

The results are compared with the recipe made by an expert under most conditions. Miss Kirby says there are several differences between Canadian and United States food preferences, although basically, their eating habits are much the same.

Canadians love butterscotch and caramel flavors, while Americans are not particularly keen on them. Canadians like pineapple jelly, which isn't included in the firm's range of American products.

Canadians like deep pies, so pie filling mixtures are half-a-cup larger than the U.S. counterpart. Canadians don't eat as many salads and rarely use rice as a vegetable as Americans do.

Miss Kirby, who trained at the University of Toronto, receives many letters every week from housewives across Canada.

The most common mistake housewives make when cooking cakes is using the wrong size in baking tins, says Miss Kirby.

The cake won't rise if there is either too much or too little batter for the size of tin.

Wife Preservers

It is a good idea, especially during the picnic season, to save the cardboard containers in which frozen foods come. Wash the foil plates thoroughly, then when using the plates for a picnic slip them back into the containers. They will travel without spilling, are unbreakable and can be disposed of.

FREAK LIGHTNING TORONTO (CP) — A lightning bolt that travelled along a wire clothesline, smashed off a clap-board siding, grounded on a kitchen stove and blasted an electric food-mixer 25 feet into the next room, started a small fire in a suburban home Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. N. Russell and their family were in bed and none was injured.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

To remove a grease stain from silk, lay the material on a table on a clean white cloth. Cover the spot thickly with French chalk (from your drug store). On this, lay a sheet of blotting paper and apply a moderately hot iron. If the stain does not disappear, repeat the process.

MORNING SMILE

"Well, Mary, so you played a game of golf today? What did you go around in?"

"Oh, a cute little sweater with matching skirt and blouse."

Newspaperwoman Sees The World

OTTAWA (CP) — Gwen Peck's footsteps trail around the world. But she says they will end back where they began—in Australia.

The 31-year-old newspaper woman stopped in Ottawa during a cross-Canada tour, en route to South America.

In a couple of years, her travels will end in "the place I like best," she told a reporter.

"She has covered many miles in the 11 years of her journalistic career. She now works for the women's news service of the North American newspaper alliance, with headquarters in New York.

A native of Sydney, New South Wales, she served three years with Australia's land army and then began her "cadetship"—a four-year training program for cub reporters which combines university studies and practical newspaper work.

After working for a Sydney newspaper and freelancing for national publications, Gwen said she decided to take five years to "see the world."

She wrote her way through Africa, covered the Mau Mau uprisings in Kenya and was an accredited reporter for the royal tour of Rhodesia in 1953.

At that time she also attended the opening of Rhodesia's first federal parliament, the climax of the federation of northern and southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

During the same year, she travelled the length of the Belgian Congo, drove across French equatorial Africa and at Christmas time waded knee-deep in snow atop Mount Kilimanjaro.

The next year found her in London, writing for a monthly women's magazine. Early this year she joined British Information Services in New York before moving to her present post and her Canadian tour.
