Discrimination in Blanchard Hall

Blanchard Hall, a co-ed residence, has four Dons, all of whom are male. Some people in this residence are up in arms because of this discrimination. Something has got to be done! If there aren't any female Dons there by next year, protests are imminent.

Blanchard Hall has 241 students (give or take a few), 116 of whom are female. Now is there any just reason why there are no female Dons there? (No, the fact that the guys Slightly outnumber the girls is not a just reason!). The main excuse seems to be that none of the females who applied for the job were sufficiently qualified. What exactly are the qualifications for being a Don anyway? Male, athletic and good looking? Or a good course average, one year of living in residence, and good communication skills?

There sure must be a lot of useless females out there if none of them met any of these qualifications.

Dons are supposed to be there to consult residents on an individual, student to student basis. But how many of you residence students out there even know who your Dons are? And how many of you girls would even dare to venture near one of your male Dons if you had a personal problem?

Since Blanchard Hall is a co-ed residence, doesn't it seem logical that there should be an equal number of male and female Dons? So let's see an end to this inequality and have two female Dons in Blanchard Hall next year.
