IN MEMORIAM

MRS. LUCINDA HAMMILL

—The parish of Kinkora lost one of its oldest and most highly respected members in the death of Mrs. Lucinda Hammill, widow of the late Patrick Hammill, on December 4th last at her home in Lower Freetown.

Born Lucinda Doyle in Campbellton, Lot 7, eighty-one years ago, at the age of twenty she married Patrick Hammill and settled with him in Summerside. A few years later they moved to Lower Freetown where they operated a large and prosperous farm and were blessed with a family of eleven children, ten of whom survive. They are: Florence (Mrs. George Sherry), Fernwood; Catherine (Mrs. Russell McCarville), Lower Freetown; Laura (Mrs. McLellan), Montreal; Genevieve, R.N. (Mrs. Harold Johnston), Summerside; Helen, R.N., Montreal; Wilfred, Dorothy, and Pauline at home; and Revere and Austin on adjoining farms in Lower Freetown.

One son, the Reverend Thomas R., predeceased her six years ago in Camrose, Alta. One surviving brother, Thomas Doyle, still resides on the old homestead in Campbellton, Lot 7.

Her funeral took place on Thursday morning, December 6th, and despite the almost impassable condition of the roads, a very large cortege of mourners and friends followed her remains from her home in Lower Freetown to St. Malachy's Church in Kinkora where the Solemn Funeral Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Francis McQuaid, assisted by Rev. W.E. Monaghan of Alberton as deacon, and Rev. Phelan McKenna of Morrell as subdeacon. Rev. R.F. MacDonald and Claud Shea of Seven Mile Bay assisted in the sanctuary.

The pallbearers were her three sons: Wilfred, Revere, and Austin, and her three sons-in-laws: George Sherry, Russell McCarville, and Harold Johnston. The funeral was under the direction of P.A. Monaghan of Kinkora, and burial was in the family plot in the parish cemetery.

To know Lucinda Hammill was to love her. Her home was uncassled for its religious atmosphere, hospitality, neighbourliness, and enjoyment. Her ready Irish wit, characteristic of the Doyle family from whom she descended will long be remembered by all those with whom she came in contact.

The numerous floral and spiritual offerings received by the bereaved family at the time of her death bear testimony of the high esteem in which she was held by relatives, friends, and neighbours throughout her long and cherished life.

May she rest in peace.
