

Polio Vaccination

This is one of a series of articles based on a regular Guardian feature and adapted to the situation by the co-operation of P. E. I. Department of Public Health and Welfare.

Three injections of the vaccine are required over a seven month period for each youngster. The second shot is given two to four weeks after the first, and the third is given seven months after the second.

Success Anticipated

Preparations, however, have been under way since the first of the year—long before we were given the vaccine would work—and the entire operation is expected to run smoothly.
