HARSH JUDGMENT.

BY F. W. FARRER.

O God! whose thoughts are brightest light, Whose love always runs clear, To whose kind wisdom sinning souls Amidst their sins are dear!

Sweeten my bitter thoughted heart With charity like Thine, Till self shall be the only spot On earth which does not shine.

Hard-heartedness dwells not with souls Round whom Thine arms are drawn; And dark thoughts fade away in grace, Like cloud-spots in the dawn.

How Thou canst think so well of us, Yet be the God Thou art, Is darkness to my intellect, But sunshine to my heart.

Yet habits linger in the soul, More grace, O Lord, more grace! More sweetness from Thy loving heart, More sun-line from Thy face.

When we ourselves least kindly are, We deem the world unkind! Dark hearts in flowers where honey lies Only the poison find.

'Tis not enough to weep my sins: 'Tis but one step to Heaven, When I am kind to others, then I know myself forgiven.

Would that my soul might be a world Of golden ether bright, A heaven where other souls might float, Like all thy worlds, in light.

All bitterness is from ourselves, All sweetness is from Thee; Sweet God! for evermore be Thou Fountain and fire in me!

Facts and Scraps.

Heavy Contract to Let.—A gentleman who came down from Lexington on Saturday was asked how times were in that section. He said: "About all I have heard of lately is a joke on an editor, who, going away, left his paper in charge of a minister. During the minister's stay I the sanctum the following letter came from a mountain subscriber:—

"You know very well I paid my subscription to your paper the last time I was in Lexington. If I get any more such letters from you as I received last week I will come down to Lexington and maul you out of you!"

The minister answered: "I have been trying to maul that thing out of the editor for ten years past, and if you will really come down and maul it out of him, then, my dear sir, I have twenty members of my church I will also get you to operate on."

THE FAKE THEY BROUGHT ON THEMSELVES.—Lancaster, O., Oct. 14.—This morning three tramps boarded a moving coal train near Lancaster, on the Hocking Valley Railroad, for the purpose of stealing a ride. When near Grovesport they cut the train in three parts for the purpose of escaping, but they overdid the business. The train was on the down grade when the coupling pins were pulled, and the tramps were on the middle section. The speed of the detached cars was so great that when they reached the bottom of the grade, the rear section ran into the middle section with terrific force, throwing it from the track. One tramp was buried under ten tons of coal and instantly killed, while another, by the name of George Sanders of Nashville, was fatally injured. The third man escaped, it is supposed, without injury. The dead man's name is supposed to be Thomas Rolland, of Columbia, Tenn., and, as he was well dressed and had a kit of burglars' tools in his possession, it is believed the trio were thieves playing the tramp dodge for effect.

The statement that the coal fields of the world will be exhausted in 2,000 years brings no premature solace to the man who has to carry the present daily supply for the families up three pairs of stairs.

A Narrow Escape.—One of the local papers here has recently taken a young lady novice on trial, and she has been awaiting her opportunity to prove her value. A small wedding gave it. She had a jolly good time, and went home to write about it. At midnight she carried in her copy herself to make sure of its safety, and in about an hour back she came, breathless and in a great hurry. "Where is my manuscript?" she inquired. "I want to make a correction in it." "I am sorry," was the reply, "but your copy is in hands up stairs, and I cannot possibly arrange for you to see it." "Oh, but I must, the correction must be made; everything is spoiled without it; it is very important," she urged.

Seeing her evident distress, the editor suggested that she give him the correct one and he would attend to it. She was profuse in her thanks, and would be kindly see that after the description of the veil the words "a mist of truth" be inserted.

The Deacon Answered.—Up in New Hampshire, where I used to live when a boy [says Gov. Noyes] there was a mad praying old hypocrite, a dead more pious than honest. When he had done any particularly mean thing, he eased his conscience by going into the field, along one side of which was a stone wall, and, kneeling beside it, prayed the Lord to topple it over on him if he had done anything offending to Him or wrong in His sight. Well, we boys found it out, and one day when we saw the Deacon making or the stone wall, we got on the other side and waited. He knelt down, according to his usual custom, and went through his usual formula, closing with the petition to cause the wall to topple over if he had done anything wrong. And we toppled it, jumping out from under the stones, the old man cried, in tones of mingled disgust and alarm. "Good gracious, Lord! Can't you tell when a man is joking?"

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

WHILE taking this opportunity of thanking our numerous customers for the liberal manner in which they have patronized

OUR NEW STUDIO,

we would inform them that we have now increased facilities for the production of first-class work, and are prepared to make Photographs of a Style and Quality that has never been before attempted in this City. We have on exhibition, at our Rooms, a large number of Photographs of every variety, including the

the most beautiful style of Photograph known, possessing a softness and delicacy of coloring that has never been equalled. This elegant picture has become deservedly popular elsewhere, and cannot fail to become so here. Though the English of our Photographs cannot be excelled, we would direct attention to the beautiful which we make. They possess a highly enamelled surface, and are practically indestructible, and will retain their freshness and beauty for any length of time. If they become soiled they can easily be cleaned, as they will not lose any of their beauty by being wet. This valuable quality, combined with their remarkable elegance, make them very suitable for presents, while the difficulty of their production will prevent their ever becoming so common as to lessen their value. Our patrons can have one or all of their Photos finished in this style—an advantage which cannot be obtained elsewhere. We give special attention to making Groups of Families, Societies, Schools, &c. Our pictures of children are sufficient evidence of our success in this difficult branch of our art. Our ENLARGEMENTS, finished in India Ink, Pastel, Crayon, Oil and Water Colors, have made a favorable reputation for themselves throughout the Lower Provinces. Parties intending to have Photographs made will find it to their advantage to sit early, as the number of our customers makes some delay in the delivery of the Photos unavoidable. We prefer to have our sitters come by appointment. Photographs can be obtained for less money elsewhere; but in this case we ask that quality be given the preference; assuring the public that they will find our charges very moderate.
