The Mortgage.

MR. EDITOR.—Please insert the following cutting from the Labor Reformer, and if it prevents only one from mortgaging the old home, the writer will be more than satisfied.

RAMBLER.
We worked through spring and winter, through summer and through fall, But the mortgage worked the hardest and the steadiest of them all;
It worked on nights and Sundays, it worked each holiday;
It settled down among us and never went away.

Whatever we kept from it, seemed almost as bad as theft;
It watched us every minute, and it watched us right and left.
The rust and blight were with us sometimes and sometimes not;

The dark-browed, scowling mortgage was forever on the spot.
The weevil and the cut-worm, they went as well as came;
The mortgage stayed forever, eating hearty all the same.

It nailed up every window, stood guard at every door;
And happiness and sunshine made their home with us no more;

Till, with falling crops and sickness, we got stalled upon the grade, And there came a dark day on us when the interest wasn't paid;

And there came a sharp foreclosure and I kind of lost my hold.
And grey weary and discouraged and the farm was cheaply sold.

The children left and scattered, when they hardly yet were grown;
My wife she pined and perished, and I found myself alone.

What she died of was a "myatery," and the doctors never knew,
But I knew she died of mortgage—just as well as I wanted to.

If to trace a hidden sorrow were within the doctor's art, They'd ha' found a mortgage lyin' on that woman's broken heart.

Warm or beetle, drought or tempest on a farmer's land may fall, But, for first-class ruination, trust a mortgage 'gainst them 'em all.

How to Play Tennis.

THE ADVANTAGE OF JOINING A GOOD CLUB—PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT.

MacMullen, lawn tennis club champion of New York, and who is a strong bidder for the championship of the United States, writes as follows concerning the game:—

The first thing I should advise any one to do—that is, any one who feels the sacred fire within him, and who hungers and thirsts after tennis—is to join a club. Home play, of course, improves you, but not nearly so much as club play. In a private family Tom beats Dick, or vice versa, almost every time, and it gets very tiresome to play the same old set over and over again. In the club there is every variety. You are pretty sure to be able to beat some one after a short time, and there is almost always some one who can beat you, practice as long as you will. However, if you object to making an exhibition of yourself or inflicting yourself on others, which is necessary at first, it is all right to practice at home until you have mastered a few strokes, but for regular practice I should depend upon the club.

The way to hold the racquet is very important, and can be learned by asking a good player, or consulting Dr. Dwight's book. A wrong start often nullifies a considerable amount of practice.

Lawn tennis is eminently a game for thought, and some who play never seem to appreciate this fact. Many persons imagine that the only thing about it is to get the ball over the net, and others, who have considerable skill, put it in exceedingly foolish places. Above all things I like to see a man play with brains, and hit the ball with the right motive even if he has not much skill, for I know that unless he has some physical disadvantage, he will make a good player. Let every player when he makes a stroke have reason for making it in the way he does it, and if it turns out badly, let him try to see the reason of it.

Another thing it would be well to remember is that the unexpected is always terrible. Very often it pays to make a stroke simply because your opponent does not expect it. Good players sometimes get in the habit of playing too much by rote, so that you can tell exactly where they are going to put the ball. If your opponent does not know what you are going to do, it has a demoralizing effect upon him.

In service there should not be too much difference between the speed of the first and second ball. A very swift first service is almost always uncertain. I believe in placing the service, and in hitting the second ball fairly hard, even at the risk of making a double fault.

On the question as to whether it is better to play a placing game with the ball at a fair rate of speed, or a very hard but not so certain game, I am decidedly in favor of the former.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. [April 1 '88

Our Book Table.

WHAT an agreeable pose in a photograph may be to a sitter, the verbal arrangement of Bret Harte's stories is to the reader.
His thoughts (so to speak) are mounted on every page with expressive language—polished in mode, finished in execution.

We have his "Argonauts of North Liberty" before us, and find it fully up to the standard and style that characterizes his numerous writings. The characters are drawn sharp and clear, and whether incidents are probable or improbable, the careful student of telling phraseology is sure of obtaining pleasurable entertainment by perusing the "Argonauts of North Liberty." Wm. Bryce, Toronto.

Richard Dawling's "Miracle Gold" is what, in stable parlance, is "a horse of another color." It is a piebald story, to which the author has wisely added headings to every page, so that its juvenile readers can select the attractive parts without worrying through the whole volume and wading knee-deep in verbiage. It is published by Wm. Bryce, Toronto.

The June number of Harper's Magazine gives a second paper on "London as a Literary Centre," and takes in "The Novelists," with eighteen excellent portrait engravings. Charles Graham's "Sketches in Capri" has a series of admirable illustrations, cut by Grimley, that have a remarkable softness and finish.

Kansas enjoys the geographical privilege of being what has been called the heart of America, just as Lexington Spa is the heart of England. The Ogden monument marks the accepted spot in Kansas, while an old oak tree does like duty in England.
The paper is well written and well pictured with streets and buildings. "The Surplused Choir in New York" is a paper that will be read with interest by Anglican Churchmen. The story in this number of Harper's, entitled "Two Countries," is a very remarkable exhibit of loyalty to their respective countries by a Yankee and an Englishman, and well worth examination.

We consider this June number of Harper's New Monthly Magazine, published by Harper and Brothers, New York City, quite on a level with the best periodical productions of this prolific firm.

The Canada Educational Monthly: Toronto.
The "Canada Educational Monthly" Publishing Company (Limited), P. O. Box 2075.

The May number of the "Monthly" opens with the final instalment of "Our Work and How to Do It," by the Rev. Prof. Clark, Trinity College, Toronto. An able article; all educational workers will be much helped by reading it.

Rev. Dr. Armstrong of Ottawa, writes well on the timely subject of "Some Suggestive Facts About the Bible," showing that God has spoken to man, and that we have that word in the Scriptures.

Baie Chaleur makes a successful attempt to show how in the "Study of English Literature" we should "know what thou dost and do it." We need hardly add that this requires freedom of choice for the teachers and masters in our schools.

"Early Education in Canada," by Miss J. T. will prove interesting to those who desire to be informed on the early educational history of the country.

A paper read by Mr. William Rennie, Principal of the Public School, Newmarket, at the recent meeting of the South York Teacher's Institute, on "Temperance and Hygiene," also appears in this number.

These articles, however, by no means exhaust the contents of the magazine. The Editorial and special Department are equally well applied with "valuable matter for high-class work in our schools."

North Lake Notes.

Only two classes of people here, farmers and fishermen, are both very busy, the farmer busy at his work—nearly done in most cases —and the fisherman yet preparing, but in good spirits, though ice keeps him from pursuing his trade in the deep blue sea. Some caught a large quantity of herring a few days ago, many getting from 25 to 30 barrels—too much ice for good fishing.

The factory is ready for doing a big trade in lobsters, and will start killing as soon as the ice is gone. This is a great place for all kinds of deep-sea fishing, and each season brings new additions to the fishing fleet; and no harder or braver can be found than those who ply their vocation here, and for years they have caught more fish per man than in most of the adjoining fishing stations. We want a harbor for boats here, and there is no reason why we should not have it. There is plenty of water inside the Lake, and only about seventy yards to there, and no fear of it closing if opened once. There is a natural outlet in the middle of the sand beach always open and plenty of water. If Leo Davies and his fellow Grits tried as hard to get a harbor here as they tried to belittle our snug little isle in the eyes of Canada and the rest of the world, they might get it, and have that at least to point out as having done. Will not the Government grant a help; and we feel sure everyone here would give a good help if the work was started.

Ezra D. Fraser has built, this season, seven fishing boats, and will build three more before 1st July.

Many vessels are waiting to get to Magdalen Islands, but the way is blocked with ice.
