British Economist Gives Advice To Bank Of Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—British economist Sir Dennis Robertson said here the Bank of Canada, having moved last June part way to a fixed bank rate, should compete its return to the principle — "not again to depart from it."

He also told the royal commission on banking and finance that he regards Canada's statutory ceiling of six per cent on commercial bank lending rates as "an anachronism which should be abolished."

Sir Dennis, 72-year-old former Cambridge professor and one of the architects of the International Monetary Fund, said Canada's practice between November, 1956, and last June 24 of letting the central bank rated float with the government bill market looked "rather queer" to observers abroad.

In a free economy somebody or other had to have a right of access to the central bank as a lender of last resort. Yet it was necessary to have for bankers a "sting in the tail" in case they added too heavily to their balances by such borrowing. The Bank of England's right to set a penal rate of interest was this sting.

Thus, Sir Dennis said, in English eyes the Canadian floating bank rate — set each week at one-quarter of one per cent above the average yield on three-month government treasury bills — "had an odd air, and smelt somewhat of abdication from an important function."

Sir Dennis said the central ban kis itself too much a part of the market for statements that it must leave interest raes o be determined in a free market to make much sense. It was the central bank's duty to influence interest rates — "but in a direction consistent with the long term forces operating in the economy."

U.S. Farm Bill Passes Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives, by a close to 202 to 197 vote, has passed a compromise farm bill that included some of the provisions asked by the Kennedy administration.

The compromise bill, worked out by a Senate-House conference still must be approved by the Senate. That approval is virtually certain.

The bill contains a provision that in 1964 the agriculture secretary can set price supports for some crops at a level designed to prevent further increase of government - owned surplus stocks.

Republicans argued that this would mean low price supports, at 50 per cent of parity or 80 cents a bushel for corn, which they said was a ruinous level for farmers.

Power Of BBG Is Described As Dangerous

KINGSTON (CP) — Richard G. Lewis, editor of the trade publication Canadian Broadcaster, has warned that the Board of Broadcast Governors has power representing "an extremely dangerous precedent."

Addressing a dinner meeting of the Advertising and Sales Clubs of Kingston, Mr. Lewis said the present board is administering the Broadcasting Act "with integrity and understanding," but who "can tell that their successors will be possessed of the same integrity?".

"You probably know that the BBG is considering passing a regulation which would make it compulsory for every Canadian TV station to carry the Grey Cup Football game. This would mean, that in Toronto, where three Canadian TV stations can be seen and in some places four, they would all be broadcasting the Grey Cup," he said.

"Since they (the BBG) have this power—and I am thankful to say that they have yet to exercise it—they could within the meaning of the act apply complete censorship, such as deciding that all stations were obliged to carry the propaganda of one political party and forbidden to air that of another. . .

"I feel that here is an extremely dangerous precedent in the shape of a system of control which could be extended still further into the broadcasting business, following almost inevitably into the realms of newspapers, magazines and other media of communication."

Opening lead—two of clubs.

When you're in the wrong contract, as sometimes happens there's no use fretting over the matter if it diverts your action from the proper play of the cards.

South was in four spades, but could see as soon as dummy appeared that this wasn't the best of all possible contracts. He realized that if the diamonds were divided 2-2 his side could probably make a slam in diamonds or hearts, while if the diamonds were divided 3-1, eleven tricks could be made in either suit.

But at spades, even the tentrick contract was in danger and if South had gotten careless in the play, he would have gone down.

Suppose he had ruffed the club lead and drawn three rounds of trumps, which was a possible line of play. With the spades being divided 4-3 he would then have been in bad shape. Whether he tackled hearts or diamonds next, the outcome would have been disastrous. As soon as West got in, he would draw the last trump and lead a club.

But South saw he would have to handle trumps very carefully to guard against a bad break. There was too much chance the spades would not be divided 3-3. So he ruffed the club lead and returned the king of hearts, planning to establish that suit before drawing trumps.

West took the ace and led another club. South refused to ruff, discarding a diamond to protect against a 4-2 trump division. It was the second trick for the defense.

Since dummy could now ruff a club continuation, East returned a diamond. Declarer took it in his hand with the ace and cashed three top spades, learning in the process that West had started with four to the jack.

He then ran the hearts and it did not matter whether West ruffed early or late. South had to lose a trump trick, but no more. If he had relied on a favorable trump break earlier—by drawing trumps prematurely or by ruffing the second club lead — he would have been defeated.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
