A Royal Canadian Navy helicopter squadron at Key West, Florida, for three months' anti-submarine training with the U.S. Navy. One of the six Canadian Sikorsky is shown over Miami Beach following the record five-day, 1,763 mile flight from Dartmouth, N.S. The longest helicopter formation flight for the RCN, it was probably the longest for six helicopters anywhere. By way of contrast, the squadron last fall operated in the sub-Arctic on the Mid-Canada Line. (National Defence Photo).

There's A Story Behind Ships Headed For The Scrap Yard

HAMILTON (CP) — During the Second World War the United States converted three vessels on Lake Michigan for use as training for aircraft carrier crews. All were side paddlewheelers. One of these, the Sable, was demolished in Hamilton after having her sides sheared off to get her through the Welland Canal. The Sable was one of 85 vessels carved down since 1938 to provide scrap steel for the melting furnaces of the Steel Company of Canada plant here. HISTORIC RELICS To T. C. Wilkes, steel company executive who razed the lakes buying unused ships, read for the scrap heap, these ships are a valuable source of steel. But to Ivan S. Brookes, an electrician with the company, the ships are more than rusted hulks. He is a maritime historian who has recorded the names and histories of every ship broken up. While the ships are being cut into pieces by flaming torches, Mr. Brookes begins his research. He gives them names and personalities. The Saturn, for instance, was known as the Perry G. Walker. In 1909, her engine room telegraph failed while she was making her way through a lock gate at the Canadian Sault Canal. The lock gates were wooden in those days and one was knocked off its hinges. The Perry G. Walker and two other ships in the lock were swept away on a 20-foot wave like three canoes going over a stretch of rapids. One ship was carried for three miles before she got turned around. Another was beached in a sinking condition four miles away. The Perry G. Walker took a glancing blow from one of the ships, backed out of control for some distance but managed to survive.

NOTABLE VESSELS

The passenger steamer Hamonic, burned to a hulk at Point Edward, Ont., was rated as the most beautiful passenger ship ever on the Great Lakes by Mr. Brookes. Last of the famous "whale-backs" the round-decked monitors—plying the lakes—was the Alexander McDougall. She was outfitted with an orthodox steam boiler and a whaleback stern. The liner Athabaska, one of the first three ships owned by the CPR, also met her end in Hamilton. With her two sister ships, she linked Owen Sound with Fort William before the rail line was put through the Schreiber district as part of the first Canadian transcontinental railway line. The price paid for ships bought as scrap depends on how easily they can be brought to Hamilton, and how conveniently they can be broken up. Passenger vessels are not often taken because they have more woodwork than merchant ships and are expensive to strip down. One notable exception was the Noronic which burned at a Toronto dock in 1949. Of the 524 passengers aboard at the time, 119 died in the blazing ship. Just the steel was left and it readily went into the furnaces.

Anglican Bishop Visits Church At Summerside, St. Eleanors

His Lordship, the Right Reverend R.H. Waterman, D.D., Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island arrived in Summerside on Saturday. Yesterday morning in St. Mary's Church the service of holy communion was held at which His Lordship was the celebrant. Following holy communion a communion breakfast was served in St. Mary's hall by the Anglican Young People's Association at which the communicants were addressed by Bishop Waterman. At 11:00 o'clock the service of confirmation was held and an inspiring sermon delivered by His Lordship pointing out the significance of the ceremony in which they had participated. During the course of his sermon Bishop Waterman announced that the rector of St. Mary's, Ven. Archdeacon Harrison was to be honored at the coming synod held in Halifax at which time the degree of Doctor of Divinity would be conferred on him. His Lordship paid high tribute to the rector and said that he was one of the foremost churchmen in this diocese. He described the meaning of the word doctor in this sense and said it meant "a learned man" and that such could be truly said about Ven. Archdeacon Harrison. No service was held at St. Mary's in the evening. At St. John's, St. Eleanors an evensong service was held at which His Lordship was the preacher. Today he will leave for Charlottetown where he will attend the 113th annual meeting of the Diocesan Church Society in St. Peter's Cathedral at 7.30 this evening.

Review Of Dairy Industry By Dairy Superintendent

Following is a comprehensive review of the dairy industry given by Mr. H. J. MacDonald, Friday at the annual meeting of the P.E.I. Dairymen's Association (continued from Saturday's edition): There was an increase in the percentage of Canada First Grade Cheese manufactured in 1956. This increase could possibly be attributed to a slightly cooler summer, stricter supervision over the milk supply and to better milk filtering and sanitizing methods in the plants.

From November 28, 1955, to November 24, 1956, there were 8,688 boxes of cheese graded with 92.51 per cent Canada First Grade, 6.62 per cent Canada Second Grade, 0.86 per cent Canada Third Grade and 0.01 per cent below Canada Third Grade. There were 1,738 more boxes graded in 1956 than in the previous year with 4.30 per cent increase in Canada First Grade, 4.37 per cent decrease in Canada Grade and an increase of 0.07 per cent in Canada Third Grade with the percentage of below Canada Third Grade remaining the same at 0.01 per cent.

The yeast and mould counts are much the same as last year. The figures show a decrease in percent excellent and an improvement in the good, fair and poor categories. We notice also that the only creamery in the Province operating a stainless steel churn has won the first prize the past two years for the highest percent excellent.

In 1956, there were 4,287 churnings sampled, plated and counted. Out of these 64.61 per cent were excellent, 21.18 per cent were good, 5.27 per cent were fair and 8.9 per cent were poor. In 1955, there were 4,508 churnings sampled, plated and counted showing 66.15 per cent excellent, 18.97 per cent good, 5.85 per cent fair and 9.03 per cent poor.

Will Seek Review Of Treaty With Australia

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has decided to seek a review of its trade treaty with Australia in the hope of reducing Australian curbs on Canadian goods. Finance Minister Harris said in his budget speech Thursday night that Australia has already been informed of Canada's desire for new trade talks.

He made this statement in announcing immediate tariff reductions on some 15 products — none of any major importance — and hinted at possible changes later in Canada's tariffs on steel, pipe, rope and cotton. Canada has already opened negotiations with the United States with a view to raising Canadian duties on potatoes. But U.S. officials had completed their public hearings on the case only last week and they are not yet in a position to indicate their attitude," Mr. Harris said.

He also has asked the Canadian tariff board to review import duties on iron and steel, pipes and tubes and rubber footwear. The board's reports now are "well on their way to presentation."

There will be a round of world tariff talks at Geneva next fall under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and at that time there will be an opportunity for tariff "readjustments."

DISCUSS NEW TREATY "The sort of readjustments I have in mind are those that we might wish to seek after considering the reports of the tariff board that are presented in the meanwhile."

The budget contained changes on 87 items but most of these were technical amendments having no effect on rates. The 15 items on which rates are reduced or eliminated range from foreign railway freight cars to equipment used for packing fresh fruit and vegetables. A Canadian duty, now eliminated, previously applied on the excess in the number of American freight cars in Canada over the number of Canadian cars in the U.S. Officials said the change will mean a revenue loss of about $100,000 a year. Also eliminated are tariffs on such musical instruments. The duty-free entry of materials used for training mentally-retarded children is being considered.

Alberton Red Cross Campaign Reported As Well Underway

At Alberton the Red Cross campaign is well under way. For the fourth consecutive year the local chairman is Mrs. A. C. Green. As in previous years canvassers are giving willingly and generously of their time and it is understood that citizens are making good response to this worthy cause from which they themselves have benefited so greatly.

Each summer large classes of children and adults receive instruction at the Red Cross swimming and water safety classes, and every year numbers of people receive assistance in securing treatment for bank free transfusions which are of inestimable value in hastening restoration of health and are often the means of saving life. Several handicapped children in this immediate area have been given assistance in securing treatment through the Red Cross for the past eight years a Red Cross loan cupboard has made hospital beds, wheelchairs and other sickroom equipment available to homes where there is illness. In 1956 more than sixty loans were made in Alberton and surrounding districts. Both men and women have been trained in Red Cross first aid classes. Through the Red Cross Disaster Service Branch in Alberton, assistance has been given to five or six families whose homes have been destroyed by fire since the branch was organized about two years ago. This is seen in one small area example of the past service being rendered by Red Cross throughout the world.

Each year a record is kept of factory plant managers and cheese and butter makers who perform outstanding work during the year. The prize money for this work is very generously donated by the Directors of the Dairymen's Association.

Lions Club Plan Its Minstrel Show

The main topic under discussion at the regular Wednesday night meeting of the Summerside Lions Club was the forthcoming minstrel show, King Lion Russ Kelly presided at the meeting.

The director of the show, Ige Herb Shurman, gave a detailed report which showed that a tremendous amount of work had been done to ensure a top notch show. The members of the cast have been practising for some time and all that is needed now is a bit of polishing up before the show goes on a Civic Auditorium on the nights of March 26 and 27th. Lion Joe Clark and committee have nearly completed building and painting a beautiful stage setting to be installed at the auditorium for the show.

Lion Mac MacLean, who is in charge of the tickets for the show, stated that each club member would be responsible for selling a share of the tickets. After further routine business, the meeting closed with "The Queen."
