Lake Pilots Threaten To Picket Ships

TORONTO (CP) — The president of the Great Lakes Pilots Association said Friday any foreign vessel refusing to take on a Canadian lake pilot at Kingston, Ont., will be picketed at United States ports.

Captain John Andrews, president of the association which is affiliated with the International Masters, Mates and Pilots Association (AFL-CIO), said the international union has agreed to back up with the 50-member Canadian affiliate.

Where East allowed the diamond ten to win the trick, declarer had no difficulty producing ten, or even eleven tricks.

Where the East player overtook the diamond lead with the jack, and continued with the ace and another diamond, all the declarers were defeated since they later took a heart finesse and lost to the king.

It is not difficult to prove that the ten of diamonds should be overtaken with the jack. There are recognized conventions to guide East to the correct play.

According to these conventions, the ten of diamonds can properly be led with two holdings. The ten may be a singleton or it may be a doubleton. In either case, winning the lead with the jack, and continuing with the ace, assures the defense of three immediate tricks, counting the expected ruff by West.

If West holds three or four diamonds that include the ten, he should lead his lowest diamond. This is in line with the general principle that the highest card of partner's bid suit is not opened if the leader has three or four cards that include an honor.

It is thus possible for East to deduce that the ten of diamonds shows a singleton or doubleton diamond.

The lazy defender who mechanically plays low on the ten, merely because he knows it will win the trick, must pay the piper.

Doctors Report Unique Series Of Operations

MONTREAL (CP) — A young Greek immigrant has undergone a series of operations regarded here as unique in medical annals.

John Vasalis, 21, is the first person in Canada to have half his liver removed — and live — and may be the first person in the world to have an operation pay for itself.

Dr. D. W. Ruddick of the Montreal General Hospital, the surgeon, Thursday described the rare disease which caused formation of three abdominal cysts and necessitated removal of one lobe of the diseased liver.

"The liver removal was unusual enough," said Dr. Ruddick, "but we discovered later that fluid removed from the cysts was extremely valuable for research and worth about $15 per cubic centimeter.

"If we sell enough, then the money will pay for John's operation."

The disease is called hydatid cysts and involves the growth of huge thick-walled cells within the body which gradually destroy tissue unless checked.

The patient worker, was admitted to hospital in January with fever, abdominal pains and jaundice. Before Dr. Ruddick operated, he consulted papers in German and Russian, but the technique was so rare that they helped him little, he said.

The disease is known to originate in sheep and is transmitted to humans via parasitic larvae in dogs, he said.

It is very common in countries where sheep are numerous, but the operation is rarely performed," Dr. Ruddick said.

Want New N. Y. Waterway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was asked Thursday to authorize a $600-million survey to determine the feasibility of deepening a 450-mile inland waterway shortcut between New York and Montreal.

An opponent of the project however, labelled it untimely and futile.

Statements in support of the proposal were submitted to a House of Representatives public works subcommittee.

The position was heard from Burton N. Behling of the Association of American Railroads. Behling quoted from a 1937 survey of the project by the international joint commission that the waterway would not even approach economic justification.

The commission recommended, however, that a re-evaluation of the project be made upon completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway, due to be opened next year. The senate last year approved such action.
