

MR. AND MRS. BARRY BALDERSTON
August Wedding Ceremony
Is Held At Trinity Church

In an August ceremony at Trinity United Church, Charlotteville, Louise Ann Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cox, was united in marriage to Barry Wayne Balderston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Balderston, New Wilshire. Rev. John G. E. Ball was the officiating clergyman.

Baskets of white gladioli decorated the church, and guest pews were marked with white satin bows. Fay Edwards sang "The Wedding Prayer" during the ceremony, and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza with a fine skirt having a front panel of lace. The train fell from an Empire waist, and the bodice was of lace trimmed with seed pearls. Her head dress was an organza bow which held her four-tier veil of tulle illusion. She carried a bouquet of pink gladioli with stephanotis and ivy.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Lynn Rogerson, and bridesmaids were Linda Clark, Mrs. Donna Hecks, and Ann Hutchison, cousin of the bride. They wore identical floor-length gowns of pale pink brocade with matching accessories, and their headresses were matching bows. They carried nosegays of sheela daisies.

Lowell Balderston was his brother's best man, and ushering were Trevor Campbell and Clive Balderston, cousins of the groom, and the bride's brother Wendell Cox.

Mrs. Cox the bride's other wore a multi-colored brocade sheath with matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of white roses. The bridegroom's mother was in a blue lace sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

At the reception for 160 guests at the Charlottetown Hotel, which followed the ceremony, the toast to the bride was proposed by Paul Williams, and to the bride's attendants, by Lowell Balderston. Rena Ferguson was in charge of the guest book.

On a honeymoon trip to London, and Niagara Falls, Ontario, the bride wore a brown and white knit walking suit, a brown velvet hat and matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES CARR
MacMillan - Carr Marriage
Held At Zion Presbyterian

Zion Presbyterian Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Anna Claire MacMillan, Sherwood and Charles William Carr, Harrington at 12 o'clock noon. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Donald Campbell, B.A. DD. The parents of the bride couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest MacMillan, Sherwood and Mr. Howard Carr and the late Mrs. Carr of West Royalty, formerly of Oyster Bed Bridge.

Royston F. Mugford, ARC, was organist and accompanied Mrs. Leith Thompson who sang "Thou Art My Own" prior to the entrance of the bride party. "The Lord's Prayer" during the service and "We Lift Our Hearts" while the register was being signed. The bride party left the church to Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary".

ELLEN'S DIARY

Work Done With Grace
Can Be Truly Glorified

What has this week given us farm-folks? What indeed have we contributed to it? In the overall, such faithfulness to the affairs of the occupation as is in us. "According to our light" as one remarked this evening, "the light which includes knowledge of it and experience and the number of things, which keep us to each day's round."

"It's not altogether how well we do our work that counts" we recall an oldtime farmer long since gone from the homespun ways, say, "it's whether or not we do it with a good heart. It's only then it's glorified."

"Well" Jaes commented closing a granary door this evening against the bantams' probable morning inroads or a ny chance animal night prowler, "we're grateful for that. It's a nice lot to have saved."

Grateful too, we are at week's end not only for the amount of grain gathered in, but for "the strength to do and the will to dare", to cope with the demand of the exacting harvest days.

And grateful we are for them the harvest days of the year, for their sunny golden loveliness that reaches off to the distant hazily blue-scarfed hills; for the fullness of season, and the busyness of hand and mind which allows little time remaining to indulge in mean thoughts or acts which after all claim time which can well be used for thinking and doing only lovely things.

The fallows, our summer guests have gone. We miss their presence about the flash of buildings wings, the bright eyes above a nest along rafters or lintel, the fledglings babies of creatures. And the practice flights, and the quiet rows on the service wires. And then this silence. And we know they have departed. Slipped away unknown to us, at the edge of dawn, we fancy, the bright of the rising sun indicating that gateway they enter to pursue the long trek ahead. And in parting, as it is with folks who come to summer on the Island, kin and friend, it is not final. Only an Au Revolt, a "be-see-ing-you", come another spring-time and summer.

"Why do I come?" one echoed our query recently, one who travels distances to revisit his own native land. "Oh that's no question at all" he smiled. "I come back because just to think of the Island, the fields and trees, and all the places I knew as a boy-and all the old friends, gives a longing to return to it once more. I must, it's up to me to prove to myself, that it's all as good as I remember it. And" he added warmly, "it is!"

It takes so little sometimes to give one that old lonesome feeling, when pleasant scenes come to mind. James Russell Lowell of schoolday Readers long gone, at sight of a common dandelion wrote: "Then think I of deep shadows on the grass Of meadows, where in sun the cattle graze, Where as the breezes pass, The greening rushes lean a thousand ways, Or written in the wind, of waters blue That from the distance sparkle through some woodland gap, and of a sky above Where one white cloud, like a stray lamb doth move."

My childhood's earliest thoughts are linked with thee: The sight of thee calls back the robin's song, Who from the dark old tree Beside the door, sang clearly all day long, And I secure in childish piety, Listened as if I heard an angel sing With news from Heaven, which he could bring Fresh every day, to y untaunted ears. When birds and flowers and I were happy peers." Until Monday - - - Diary - - - Goodnight. . . .

CWL Convener Gives Report On Seminar

The September meeting of Kensington - Indian River CWL was held at the home of Mrs. Stewart Darr with an attendance of 22 members and three visitors. Two deceased members who were former presidents, Mrs. Grace MacLellan and Mrs. Wilbert Lawless were remembered with prayer.

"Thank you" notes were received from Mrs. Thelma Sullivan, Rita MacLellan, Nancy Paynter, Carl Connick and the family of Mrs. Grace MacLellan. Mrs. Leo Hughes, Mrs. Dan Noonan and Sheila Dunphy who were present thanked the CWL for treats received while ill.

The treasurer's report, read by Mrs. John Arsenault, showed a favorable balance on hand. Mrs. Peter MacLellan and Mrs. Ray Lavers reported that some of the aprons have been returned. Hand books sent for have been received. Convener who were present gave reports. Mrs. Lillian Condon for membership; Mrs. Percy MacCarvell Mrs. Marion Brennan for the visitation committee; Mrs. L. G. Ramsay, citizenship, gave a report on the seminar she had attended in Summerside conducted by the Department of Indian Affairs. She said "Before we send money to foreign lands we should see to the betterment of our Indians."

The president, Mrs. Clarence Hickey gave an excellent report of the Provincial Convention held in June at St. Dunstan's. Recording secretary, Mrs. Gerald Glover, read a letter concerning the seminar on welfare to be held in Summerside. Sheila Dunphy was appointed to represent this parish council. The meeting closed with the Act of Consecration recited in unison.

Mrs. Darr then auctioned off the "White elephants" which brought in a neat sum.

A NEW WALL PANEL FROM Abitibi

One of a new, exclusive series
BARNBOARD
a weathered woodgrain pre-finished wall panel that gives any room a charming rustic accent

The beautiful deep-grain effect of this new pre-finished panel gives you the popular barnboard look at a very low cost. It is the perfect panel for the relaxed, casual atmosphere of a family room. BARNBOARD may be used to panel a whole room or to set off an area as a feature wall—behind a bar or fireplace, for example.

SPECIAL MAR-GARD FINISH

This process, an Abitibi development, is a pre-finishing technique in which the surface finish becomes an integral part of the panel to provide protection for a lifetime against scuffs, scratches and stains. The Mar-Gard surface never needs wax or varnish and is easily cleaned with any household detergent.
