MIDSUMMER EXAMINATIONS.

A good deal of interest was taken in the examinations to-day. We give below a few notes of hurried visits to the various schools.

SPRING PARK SCHOOL.

The school-room, Great George Street, is clean and pretty well ventilated. The teacher is Miss A. Lawson. Number on the register, 80. The examiner speaks very highly of this school.

ROCHFORD SCHOOL,

on Kent Street (west), is off the street. The teachers are Mr. Amos and Miss Welsh. The former has on the register 47, the latter 56. Both schools seem to be in good order.

WEST KENT STREET SCHOOL.

Scott's Hall: ventilation not so good as some others; children wholesome and intelligent. The Principal, Mr. A. A. McKenzie, is a very experienced teacher, and he evidently spurs no pains to make his pupils worthy of his high reputation. Some of his pupils read exceedingly well. Number on register, 44.

Miss Fennessey, the next teacher, has a very nice school. Pupils are well under control; reading good. Miss Fennessey deserves great credit. No examiner present. Number on register, 56.

Mr. Helm, the third teacher, is diligent and anxious to make his school a success; pupils read well. No examiner present.

QUEEN SQUARE SCHOOL.

St. Patrick's Hall—Rooms airy and well arranged; good order seems to pervade the school. Many of the pupils are well advanced in their studies. Mr. Peter Curren, Principal, has 48 on his register; Mr. McIlmeel, 60; Mr. Smith, 69; Mr. F. Curren, 56; and Mr. McDonald, 64. No examiners present when our reporter called.

EAST KENT STREET SCHOOL,

Formerly Normal School. Of the pupils of Mr. Millar's Department, the examiner, (Rev. A. Osborne) gives very flattering reports. He says that pupils of the same rank in England and New York are not a whit better instructed. Number on register, 50. Miss McKinnon, formerly of the Model School, has an excellent class. She was to-day the recipient of a Silver Pencil Case, as a token of the regard of two of her pupils. Number on register, 41. Mr. Seaman's class is too full for his room. Discipline good. Pupils well advanced. Number now on register, 67. Miss Eliza Lawson and Miss Miller have overcrowded classes. Their class-room is airy, but rather too small. It was nicely decorated for the occasion. The pupils are making rapid progress. Reading and singing both very good. Number on register, 124. Statistics of Upper Prince Street School, and further remarks, we are compelled to hold over.
