Snow Over Week-End

Several inches of damp snow fell over the whole Red River valley during the week-end. At Emerson Saturday the Red was past its level in the almost-legendary floods of 1897.

There was a slight rise at Emerson during the week-end, but residents said the peak run-off from headwaters in Minnesota and North Dakota was passing Emerson Saturday.

Today the main flood pressure moved slowly northward along the Red's course through the Provincial capital to Lake Winnipeg. At St. Jean Baptiste, 47 miles south of Winnipeg, water was six inches deep on Main street and rising steadily. Ninety-eight houses were flooded.

Morris was under water to a depth of several inches to a few feet. The Canadian National Railways line through Morris still was operating but travellers said there was water over the rails at some points between St. Jean Baptiste and Morris.

The bridge at the approach to the town was under water. Everyone entering or leaving Morris had to use a boat.

Urges Special Session

Mayor Shewman, who earlier wired Ottawa for Federal aid for flood victims, urged calling of a special session of the Manitoba Legislature to meet the flood-district situation. Red Cross officials in Winnipeg, closely in touch with the flood situation through the whole valley, expressed belief the Mayor's evacuation warning may have been "pre-mature."

Port Colborne Hopes For Series

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., April 30 - (CP) - The Port Colborne Merchants, intermediate champions of the Ontario Hockey Association, were still hopeful tonight of arranging an unofficial eastern intermediate title series at nearby Fort Erie.

An eastern intermediate title series has already been arranged between Bagotville Allies and Rouyn Blanches, in the belief Port Colborne was through for the season. Port Colborne has declined to travel east in search of further honors but Tommy Bates, secretary-treasurer of the club, said tonight he has been in touch with the Bagotville club and the latter would probably be willing to play another series at Fort Erie if defeat Rouyn. Bates said that Rouyn is not interested in another series if they beat Bagotville.

RETURNED WITH INTEREST

MANITOWOC, Wis., April 30 - (AP) - Eleven years ago Mrs. Roland Sukow lost her purse containing about $110 in cash. Saturday she was through for the season. Port Colborne has declined to travel east in search of further honors but Tommy Bates, secretary-treasurer of the club, said tonight he has been in touch with the Bagotville club and the latter would probably be willing to play another series at Fort Erie if defeat Rouyn. Bates said that Rouyn is not interested in another series if they beat Bagotville.

Urges Special Session

The envelope was postmarked Manitowoc and the note was unsigned. Together representatives of three Government departments, some municipalities and relief agencies to survey the flood situation. He promised "every assistance" to those who suffered hardship. But in an interview he said it is too early yet to decide whether damage has reached a point where the flood constitutes a "national emergency."

Cottons To Lead Parade At Royal Garden Party

By Barbara Stevenson LONDON, April 30 - (Reuters) - Cottons will lead the fashion parade at the Royal Garden Party at which debutantes of the year will be presented to the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace next Thursday.

The pre-war splendor of the evening court has not yet been revived and the royal garden party, in addition to marking the opening of the London season, is foremost among the smart occasions of the year.

Clear-colored, sheer cottons in chiffon, organza, lace or nylon will cover more colorful dresses as the newest debutantes drive along the mall and enter the palace courtyard.

But the filmy glamor of the season's feather-light silk and cotton fabrics will be revealed when these are removed before the ladies enter the galleries to await the arrival of the King and Queen.

Cut primarily for the slim figure, the colorful array of summer prints and sheer fabrics depend for their smartness more on material and cut than on design.

While daughters favor the new cobweb sheer cottons or pure silk shantung dyed in a clear, cool tone, mothers this year are choosing close patterned prints in shades of beige and brown, or greys, with shadowy lines in pastel tints running all through the design.

Many of the new models are sleeveless—something of an innovation in Britain. Silhouettes are mainly slim, with folds, pleats or slight flares hidden. Necklines are wide and often deep, shoulders are natural with little or no padding.

After the King and Queen have entered and presentations have been made, the guests go into the garden to partake of tea, ice cream and chocolate cake.

Here, it may be cool—which is why many of the outfits have stoles and shawls or matching jackets.

Injured Miners Out of Danger

STELLARTON, N. S., April 30 - (CP) - All miners injured by an explosion and fire in the Allan coal shaft here Friday are out of danger, hospital authorities said tonight.

But two of the seven trapped 1-200 feet underground were still in painful condition. They are Town Councillor James Johnston and Brenton Yull, who suffered severe burns in the unexplained blast.

Ernest Wright, Acadia Coal Company mine manager, said it would be three or probably four weeks before the mine, sealed off to smother the fire, would be reopened and inspected.
