Death Wednesday of John Owen Gordon in West Prince. John Owen Gordon, well known throughout West Prince County, passed away suddenly Wednesday morning, a resident of Alma, Mr. Gordon was spending the winter with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brenton Ramsey at South Kildare. Until a short time before his death, Mr. Gordon had been enjoying his usual good health. Not feeling well, he was on his way to see a doctor in Alberton when death came to him. Mr. Gordon, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Gordon was born in Montrose eighty-four years ago. He was married in 1889 to Grace Riley of Alma and they spent sixty-one happy years together. Her death occurred on November 7th, 1950. With the exception of a few years spent in the United States when a young man, John Owen Gordon's life was spent in the Montrose-Alma district. Mr. Gordon was an energetic, industrious man who had no interest in the modern eight-hour day. During his lifetime he engaged in farming, fox-raunching, carpentry and the moving of buildings. In the last named trade he was an expert and prior to his retirement two years ago had moved close to three hundred buildings. He was absolutely honest in business, always ready to do a kind, helpful deed, and his home was known for its hospitality. For many years Mr. Gordon had been a loyal member of Montrose church in which he was senior elder at the time of his death. He had much to do with erecting the present church building after the old one was destroyed.

New Outbreak of Thievery In Summerside. Summerside had another outbreak of thievery on Thursday night and although it could not be confirmed officially, it was reliably learned that Towns Police placed four juveniles in jail yesterday. A 1942 Plymouth car was taken from Corney Bros. garage early Thursday evening and was later found stuck on a muddy street north of the High School. Entry to the garage had been gained through a window and $400 was taken from the cash register. Chief of Police Peter White said last evening that a juvenile had admitted to this break. Also on Thursday night the Trading Post on Water Street had been entered through a rear door and two portable radios and a view-master stereoscope were taken. One radio and the stereoscope were found yesterday. An attempt was also made to break into the auto supplies store of Mr. Alan Jenkins on Water Street West. Although a window was found broken it is believed that no one succeeded in getting into the building. Shortly after 9 during the supper hour on Tuesday evening the premises of Rogers and Arnett Ltd. on Summer Street were entered by breaking a rear window. It is understood that $20 in cash was obtained, in addition to a quantity of cigarettes and chocolate bars. This break was discovered about 7.30 that same evening. As a result of the many breaks and thefts that have been keeping police harassed the last few weeks a long list of charges are pending in juvenile court against a small group of juveniles. However, this court has not sat and, it is understood, that the delay is caused by the fact that the Province has no place of detention in which the boys could be placed if they were found guilty. Previously, juveniles sentenced in the juvenile courts were sent to institutions on the mainland but apparently they now decline to accept any offenders from this Province. Chief of Police White declined to give out any information last night when queried about the report that four boys had been arrested. -S

Planes From S'side Air Station Complete Flight. Another long distance flight was completed Thursday night when two Lancasters, the Polaris and Northern Cross, set down at R.C.A.F. Station Summerside after a Trans Atlantic hop. This finished another operation by members of the specialist navigation course undergoing training at R.C.A.F. Station Summerside and was under the command of Squadron Leader W. L. Gillespie of Summerside and Toronto, who is in charge of special courses at the Air Navigation School here. They were a day late arriving back due to bad weather conditions at Prestwick, Scotland and on this side. The flight back was uneventful except that the planes had to buck heavy head winds and this made it necessary to land at Gander for re-fueling. They touched down at Summerside a few minutes before ten P.M. S-L Gillespie described the trip as most successful from the point of view of its purpose which was to visit service and civilian navigation establishments and get the latest information on developments in this field. Other establishments in related fields were also visited. S-L Gillespie reported wonderful hospitality received from the R.A.F. during their stay overseas. He said they arrived back "full of good food" and when reminded that food is supposed to be scarce over there he replied that only meat seems to be short and it is very short. Captains of the aircraft were: F-O G. W. Kipfer of Hamilton, Ont. and P-O A. Wollenfend of North Bay, Ont. Opl. E. L. Bagnall, formerly of Hunter River was a member of the crew. Although primarily a trip in the interests of navigation the four pilots were not left out of the plans and while in England they got an opportunity to fly the new Meteor jet plane. While most of the three-week trip was composed of steady work some opportunity for relaxation was provided and they had two free week-ends, one of them in London. One more long distance operation is scheduled for the specialist course and this will commence the latter part of April when they will leave to spend two weeks in the far north, gaining practical experience in navigating under Arctic conditions. -S

Island Odds And Ends

More than 30 Charlottetown people paid $15.00 apiece for the privilege of accompanying the Charlottetown Islanders to Halifax last Wednesday to watch them beat St. Mary's on the latter's home ice. Expensive? Not for some of the folks who made the trip. A Halifax man cornered two of them and would five hundred dollars temptingly at eye money. The Charlottetown men covered the wager, one putting up four hundred, and the other a century note. "Red" Favero's overtime goal, brought the money back to Charlottetown on eagle's wings via the airways. Other followers of the club made smaller but profitable deals when Halifax sport followers canvassed for wagers. All available plane reservations have been taken for the game at Halifax tonight and there is some talk of the two available 28 passenger ships making double trips. Other adherents of the club are leaving early today by car, confident of getting over the rough spots along the highway, in time to catch the first crossing of the ferry, thus guaranteeing their arrival in Halifax well before game time. Mayor B. Earle MacDonald will be one of the many going by the air-route. . . .

The eel grass around Island coasts is coming back according to many residents of seaside localities. This news is confirmed by Mr. J. J. Larabee, who heads the Dominion Department of Fisheries in this Province. Mr. Larabee says that the well-known sea grass sometimes called sea-weed is showing signs of new life, in various places around the shores of the Island. Mr. Larabee had no explanation for the disappearance of the grass, but said whatever the agency which caused it, the job was through, because the blight was felt right down the Atlantic coast to Florida. . . .

Like civil servants throughout Canada, Island employees of the Dominion Government have been waiting since Dec. 1st for a promised increase of wages. Supplementary estimates to cover the increase were voted in the House of Commons this week, so it is probable that the money will be forthcoming at the end of March. . . .

Between five and five-thirty each evening the intersection at Prince and Euston Streets, near the new Y.M.C.A. is a busy traffic centre. Not so many years ago it was purely residential and more or less removed from the business part of the town. But the building up of the St. Avaris district, the growth of the Airport and the rapid emergence of the northern end of Great George Street and of parts of Euston Street, to trade and commerce as it were, have made this corner a convenient travel route for motorists. By way of it, many people wend their way home in the evening and many people from Souris and intermediate points pass through it to go "down town." It may not be too long before the need for a traffic light at this point will force itself to the consideration of the City Council. . . .

Isaac Walton's followers are counting the days. If opening day runs true to form it will be far easier to keep track of the trout. But trout fishermen are admittedly the world's greatest optimists and if health and weather permit, the rivers and ponds will get a combing on April 16, which falls on Monday. Such incurables as Lloyd and Bruce Wannocot, Councillor Wendell Beaton, and a few others already have made up a party for the long-looked-for day, and many another fishing group has similar plans. One of our most expert stream-whippers, "Charlie" Earle passes up the early fishing. "Too cold," said Charlie when asked whether he would fare forth on the glorious sixteenth. It won't be too cold for "Cy" Partridge, retired railroad, who will team up with "Jim" Murley, retired telegraph office manager. They expect to get an early start. Meantime the people who are nifty at repairing old rods are being taxed to the limit. Mr. Edward Dickie, well known for his craftsmanship is in line for a rush of business and Reg Mahar of the staff of the Department of Veterans Affairs, who fixes a few rods or personal friends is a very popular man these days.

Fishing and hunting on any enclosed property or trespassing on such property for these purposes is forbidden by a section of a bill entitled "The P. E. I. Fish and Game Act" which was given a second reading Tuesday but the section was referred to a private meeting for reconsideration and brought before the House a second time. The bill states that enclosed property means any land or water advertised as "enclosed property" by the owner or lessee over his signature by advertisement in a newspaper published in the Province and by the posting of notices in four prominent places at or near the boundaries of such property. A subsection of the bill reads that "No person shall trespass to fish or for the purpose of fishing on any private fishing property without the consent of the owner or lessee." Private fishing property is defined as any enclosed property on which a dam has been built or improvement made by the owner. The matter of hunting and fishing on private farms was discussed and it was stated that the property holder was protected by ordinary trespassing laws. These laws give the property holder the right to order a man off his land. It was stated, and provides legislation for the removal of the trespasser. The Fish and Game Act does not deal with this part of the legislation. The amended section originally read "No person shall hunt, trap, fish or trespass for the purpose of hunting game or fishing on any enclosed property without the consent of the owner or lessee thereof. It has now been subdivided to read: "No person shall hunt, trap or trespass for the purpose of hunting on any enclosed property." "No person shall fish or trespass for the purpose of fishing on any private fishing property without the consent of the owner or lessee thereof." "No person shall trespass to fish or for the purpose of fishing on any private fishing property without the consent of the owner or lessee thereof." lity drive and the Red Cross blood donors drive. -S
