

Chronic unemployment is diagnosis for Canada

By HAROLD MORRISON

Canada's chronic unemployment problem is a diagnosis for Canada, said Dr. Nathan Keyfitz of the University of Montreal, who has been employed by the Canadian government for many years. He said he doubts that it will show any rapid population rise for many years. The population expert, testifying before a congressional subcommittee, also said that the total immigration for the year 1963 would be "very surprised" if it were to exceed 100,000.

home, complaining bitterly about Canada's chronic unemployment problem. He said that more citizens in the U.S. than he got from his neighbor, Keyfitz estimated that about 60,000 migrate to the U.S. from Canada each year and only about 10,000 to 12,000 Canadian migrants to the U.S. from Canada each year. He said Canada has an unemployment problem with the jobs available for the population of 20 million. He suggested dissatisfaction with the population expansion is one reason for unrest and complaint among French-speaking Canadians. The whole country seemed to be moving away from agriculture to city life. While skilled workers would be in demand, opportunities for the unskilled would be scarce. He said that more than 100,000 people had been laid off in the last year. He said that the population expansion for a considerable time.

Record Crop Of Strawberries

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP) — With indications of a record crop in 1963, Nova Scotia strawberry growers are looking to the Boston market as a possible outlet for fresh berries. Dale Ellis, a agriculture department marketing representative, said a meeting of about 60 growers here Tuesday that Nova Scotia strawberry production this year would be record if weather conditions are favorable. The crop in the last year was about 2.5 million, but he said it would be about 2.5 million, but he said it would be about 2.5 million, but he said it would be about 2.5 million.
