The counselor of the Embassy, Hallett Johnson, reported the State Department via the Cayuga that the action was taken. He reported the Finnish vice consul's wife was shot during the fighting at San Sebastian. He added that most of the diplomatic corps had departed San Sebastian.

These developments occurred as a new call for help came from the American Consul at Barcelona and advices were received that 11 despatched American athletes had escaped into France from that city. Children Shoot Priests, Fascists In Malaga

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) GIBRALTAR, July 26.—British refugees from burning Malaga declared today they had peered through shutters of their locked hotel to see "children wearing red ties and red shirts" shoot down scores of Fascists and priests.

"What is happening is savage and criminal," said one of the refugees who arrived last night aboard the British destroyer Brazor. "Most of us were locked in our hotels for seven days in complete darkness. Through the shutters we saw about 100 priests, Fascists and others shot down, chiefly by children wearing red ties and red shirts."

The whole Caleta district and the Calle and Larios, principal streets of Malaga, were reported completely burned, with more than 250 buildings destroyed; several hundred persons killed and more than 1,000 wounded.

The refugees brought reports that 2,500 bodies were lying in the streets of Malaga. (There was no confirmation of this report from other sources.) One stated 50 Catholic priests had been placed together in a public square and shot down by a machine gun. (This report likewise was not confirmed elsewhere.)

Queen Mary Shatters All Speed Records

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, July 27.—(Monday)—R. M. S. Queen Mary, Britain's stately mistress of the seas, anchored off Ambrose Light at 2:15 a.m. A.D.T. today, completing a transatlantic passage that apparently shattered all existing steamship speed records.

However, officials of the Cunard White Star Line, operators of the mammoth steamship, withheld the laying of public claim to the blue ribbon pending receipt of direct word from her master.

The Queen Mary had been reported off the light at 1:35 a.m. Regardless of whether her time was to be computed officially from the time she reached the light, or from the moment she anchored there, it appeared she had won the record.

In the first event, her time, computed unofficially, would be four days, nine hours, 49 minutes. Should the 2:15 a.m. A.S.T. time be used, the time would be four days, 10 hours, 29 minutes.

The record had been held by the French liner Normandie, with a crossing of four days, 11 hours, 42 minutes.

(A. P.)—MacKay Radio reported early today that the British liner R. M. S. Queen Mary had been sighted off Ambrose Light at 1:35 a. m. A. D. T.

The Queen Mary's owners, the Cunard White Star Line, withheld entering an official claim for a record passage until it had heard directly from the liner's master that she had passed Ambrose Light.

However, the mammoth liner apparently had lowered by something more than two hours the record of four days, 11 hours, 42 minutes established last year by the French liner's stately mistress, Normandie.

Reaching for the blue ribbon of the world on alien soil. One of our English poets, Rupert Brooke, whose ashes lie in an Ionian Island, wrote that where he lay would be "forever England"—that England for which he died. He spoke a parable; but here today that parable is living truth. The realization of it will I know bring comfort to many thousands of Canadian men and women. For this glorious monument crowning the hill of Vimy is now and for all time part of Canada. Though the mortal remains of Canada's sons lie far from home yet here where we now stand in ancient Artois their immortal memory is hallowed upon soil that is as purely Canada's as any acre within her nine provinces.

In your name, Canada appears to the nations of Europe today. This she does in the honored presence of her King, and of the President of the Republic of France, and of numbers of those who were once your comrades in arms. Canada wishes the nations of Europe to know that he thoughts, while of you, are also of the many loved ones of their lands, who like you, lie silent in their graves. In their name, as well as in yours, Canada speaks today. Canada asks that the nations of Europe strive to obliterate whatever makes for war and for death. She appeals to them to unite in an effort to bring into being a world at peace.

ADDRESSES AT VIMY UNVEILING

eloquent speeches delivered by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, and Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Minister of National Defence.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) VIMY RIDGE, July 26.—The mutual desire of "old Europe and young America" for peace, and the nation-building quality of Canada's two-fold heritage, derived from her origins in Britain and France, were outlined today by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, and Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Minister of National Defence in brief addresses at the unveiling of the Dominion's memorial to her war dead.

Both ministers stressed the obligation to strive for peace, in the light of the sacrifice made for that cause by the thousands whose death is commemorated in the Vimy monument. After thanking President Albert Lebrun and King Edward for their presence, Mr. Lapointe said the pillars of stone in the memorial were the symbol of Canada's external gratitude to those who died. The ceremony has a special character: "On the soil of Canada two races, nurtured and cradled by old France, reared and brought to national maturity by Great Britain, have faithfully preserved the ideals of social progress and democratic liberty derived from their two mother countries."

Canada was the first of all American peoples to enter the war. The response was spontaneous and immediate, Mr. Lapointe said. Now "it is old Europe and young America who commune in the conception of a mutual desire arising out of the immolation of that great conflict. This conception, this noble desire predicted a new human ideal, a higher plane of civilization, in which recourse to brute force will vanish before the rights of the helpless, the revolt of character and the cries of sorrowing mothers."

Humanity was now determined to rise above the level of the "bloody golgotha" of 1914-1918, and to "seek sanctuary in justice and truth."

Message Of Premier King

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) VIMY RIDGE, July 26.—Here is the message of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, read at the Vimy dedication service today by Hon. C. P. She appeals to them to unite in an effort to bring into being a world at peace.

This is the trust which we, the living, received from those who suffered and died. It is a trust which we hold in common. "A world at peace," Canada believes, is the only memorial worthy of the valor and the sacrifices of all who gave their lives in the Great War.
