Freetown Couple Honored On Fortieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Jardine were "At Home" when over one hundred friends and neighbors gathered to offer congratulations on the occasion of their fortieth wedding anniversary. Thursday evening, September 22nd, Mr. Louis Cairns acted as chairman. Mrs. Clayton Thomas played the wedding march. The bride and groom of forty years ago were escorted to the seat of honor by Mrs. Fred Hooper and Mr. Everett Schurman. Mrs. Hooper was the only one present at the marriage ceremony, September 22nd, 1915.

The bride was presented with a bouquet of gladioli by her granddaughter, Sandra. Gifts presented on behalf of the family by Robert Jardine, with address from Gerald Jardine were: a travelling case and an electric razor; from the grandchildren, with an address by Shirley, a disk of art glass; from relatives in Kensington, with an address by Mrs. Myron MacArthur; an electric kettle; from friends in Tryon, by Mrs. Clayton Thomas; an electric clock. Mr. John Lewis, on behalf of the community, presented the happy couple with a purse of money.

An address was read by Mrs. Andrew Jardine on behalf of the Church and an anniversary poem composed and read by S. Barlow Bird on behalf of the community. A bride's cake was made and presented by the groom's sister, Mrs. A. W. Humphrey.

Harmonious and encore was capably presented by Mrs. Thomas Humphrey. Remarks were made by Miss MacKenzie, Mr. Allison Proffit and Mr. Thomas Humphrey. Mr. and Mrs. Jardine responded in a charming manner and thanked all for their kind wishes.

At the close of the evening Mr. J. B. Lewis presided at the organ and led in the singing of old favorite songs. After the singing of "For they are Jolly Good Fellows" lunch was served by the ladies.

Following is the anniversary poem: HONOURED GUESTS, ladies and gentlemen: We counted up the years to find forty have passed to glory since George and Bert first began to write their wedded story. Tonight we gather to extend sincere felicitations. And in our usual, humble way, To say: Congratulations!

Back in the days when Freetown boys Were models of decorum, They had their weighty moments And grave problems came before 'em. Our good friend George, battling his share, Was never one to weaken— His one ambition was to wed A girl named Bertie Deacon.

George kept his buggy spic and span, A neat whip in the socket, Fresh hope was always in his heart And candy in his pocket. His future, it was slightly marred— All was not hunky-dory— George was a liberal to the core, — Miss Deacon was a Tory.

Prayer meeting was, for George, always A very fitting symbol, But when the service ended he found he had to be nimble— For the cavalry were there And Bertie still was single, The way the fellows sought her out Made George's knuckles tingle.

Visitors' Experience In Search Of Dunedin

The following article, of much local interest appeared recently in the Florida Times: There are three Dunedins in the world. There's Dunedin, New Zealand, a city indeed, which crops up at least twice a year in the local news and of which as much could be learned as Dunedin, Florida, U. S. A. if interest ran high. Then there's Dunedin, P. E. I. It took Col. and Mrs. R. H. McCormack, Dunedin, U. S. A. residents, a whole afternoon on a recent trip through that area to find that one!

A pin point on the map? Not even that. No modern map correctly bears that name. No such post office now exists. But the McCormacks found Dunedin, P. E. I. They found two living souls — and a cemetery. They found a memory, a what-might-have-been, and a 1918 scrap of paper printed "Dunedin, P. E. I." That provided the overtime reality of what they sought.

AT BEDQUE When the McCormacks arrived by ferry on P. E. I. this summer with the above objective in mind, they settled down at Bedque at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark. Somewhere they knew, between Bedque and Charlottetown lay the third Dunedin. Easily enough they obtained a map and found it right on a paved highway — they thought. But even a cartographer can err. This one had. No Dunedin when they reached the location of that spot on the map. Inquiry revealed that there had been a Dunedin a mile or so south on the West River.

Undaunted they followed directions and found on this river a quiet general store more than a hundred years old. The door they entered tinkled a bell that brought Mrs. P. J. Berrigan, now in her 80's and her son, James Berrigan from their living quarters in the rear. Yes, that was Dunedin. The store, they learned, had once housed a post office of which Mrs. Berrigan's late father was postmaster, for until the coming of the highways and motorized traffic, a boat up the West River to that spot was the only means by which mail for farmers for miles around could come into the area.

A yellowed billhead dated shortly after the armistice of World War I, was produced to show that Mrs. Mrs. Bruce Currie of Elmsdale passed away in the Western Hospital late Wednesday afternoon following a long illness. She was seventy-nine years of age. Her former Miss Frances Webster was a native of the Province of New Brunswick and as a young woman had spent some time in the United States. Fifty years ago she was married to Mr. Bruce Currie of Elmsdale who predeceased her nine years ago.

She is survived by three sons and three daughters. Her son, John Holten (Linda) of Long Island, N. Y.; Mrs. Stewart Matthews (Althea) of Elmsdale; Winston of Alberton; Sidney of Summerside; Mrs. Thomas Dickinson (Grace) of New York, and C. G. George Currie of the R. C. M. P. in Winnipeg. There are eleven grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Also surviving are a brother, Mr. Bert Webster of Sussex, N.B.; and a sister, Mrs. William Mills of Middleton, Conn.

Mrs. Currie was one of the most esteemed residents of Elmsdale district. A woman of true Christian character, she was a member of the United Church of Canada and actively interested in all its work. She was a life member of the Women's Missionary Society and had been a teacher at Elmsdale Sunday School. She was actively interested in the life and welfare of the community, and was a charter member and a past president of Elmsdale Women's Institute. With memories of her many friends will be a source of thoughts of kindness, friendliness and good cheer.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon from her residence to Elmsdale United Church service at 2 p.m.

Elmsdale Men Passes A Way In 75th Year

Besides his wife he is survived by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Colin Fleet (Doris), Dartmouth, N.S.; Mrs. Ralph Bar (Teresa), Elmsdale; Mrs. Roy Jeffrey (Mildred), Summerside; Mrs. Retta, Summerside and Russell, Robert and Elwood at home. ## S'ide Man Gets Copies Of Published Song

J. Aldrus Cameron, 34-year-old Summerside man, has recently received copies of his first published work "Comes A Time", a moderately fast dance tune which he composed both music and lyrics. Published by a California music publishing company, the song, in sheet music form, is already being distributed in the Province, other parts of Canada, and U. S. A., and Mr. Cameron is under contract with the company for publication of two more of his compositions, "Yours For Evermore" and "Dream You".

Mr. Cameron, who is proprietor of the Blue Willow luncheonette in Summerside, studied harmony and composition with the U. S. School of Music before entering the field of song writing. He has an orchestra — the Summerside Rhythm Boys — a string trio, in which he plays the steel guitar.

Describes World Club Opens Fall Meetings

The Summerside Lions Club opened its fall meetings Wednesday evening with the president, King Lion Herb Schurman in the chair. Greetings were read from Lion Joe Storey whose absence on account of illness is much regretted by the club.

Lion Lea Callbeck, chairman of the home groups beautification contest, gave a full report on the final results of the contest. He placed particular emphasis on the extensive work accomplished by the three competent judges. Lion Lea expressed appreciation of the keen interest shown by Dr. Henry Moyle, chairman of the Community Planning Association and stated that much had been accomplished in the first year of organization.

"Flower town of the Maritimes" a slogan suggested by Dr. Moyle. Forty five homes were entered in the competition.

A letter was read from Mr. T. DeBois of Charlottetown, Provincial chairman of the annual financial drive for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, requesting that the Summerside Lions Club assume responsibility for organizing the local canvass.

It was unanimously agreed that since the Lions International makes strict conservation its prerequisite, the local club should accept the challenge. In connection with this particular phase of work conducted by the Lions Club locally, it was noted that in its few months of organization 10 pairs of spectacles had been supplied by the club to needy children.

The blind essay contest was also noted as a success and that cheques had been mailed to the various winners. A letter of appreciation was read from Miss Barbara Vaughan of Summerside whose attendance at the United Nations summer school held at Mt. Allison University this summer was sponsored by the local Lions Club.

Congratulations were extended to President Herb Schurman upon his appointment as zone chairman for Prince Edward Island. This honor was conferred upon him by the newly elected Governor Ron Humphrey of Halifax.

The committee will meet again today and deal with reports of other committee throughout the Atlantic Region.

At yesterday's session considerable stress was placed on the importance of local committees taking the lead in the effort to reduce seasonal unemployment. Taking part in this discussion were Roy Grant, T. H. O'Brien, Mrs. G. O. Spencer, R. A. MacAulay, Andrew Conran and R. S. Cumming of the regional committee.

The work of replacing the existing power lines between Alberton and Alberton South, a distance of approximately a mile, and a half mile extension of the lines to "The Point" was proceeded with yesterday.

Get a rubber folding boat for the season's hunting. Use as a blind, also for retrieving. Not an air-inflated boat. Has hardwood frame. Weighs only 35 lbs. with seat. 10 ft. long, 38" wide, folds 38" long, with carrying straps. Can be used with motor. Made from nylon, coated with rubber. Will stand lots of abuse. Only 5 minutes to assemble.
