AN INCIDENT OF 1847.

THE QUENCHLESS ANTI-SLAVERY HATE OF THAT PERIOD.

How an English Magazine Commented on an Injustice Done to Frederick Douglass on British Soil—A British Warning That Reads Like Prophecy.

We have for some time been anxiously waiting for a moment when the press of home matters might permit the resumption of the subject of American slavery; but an event has just occurred which compels us, despite that pressure, to return to it. Mr. F. Douglass, having finished his mission to England, has returned a free man to the land to which was honored by his birth and degraded by his bondage. It was well he came to England, for here was widely diffused afflicting truths and great principles, and acquired for himself a high reputation, and many valuable and honorable friendships, of men who remember him with affectionate interest. His private deportment and public appearances in this country have secured for him very general admiration. Moral philosophers, looking a him as a speciman of his sable brethren, a body amounting to three million of men, have inly said, Men of whom this is sample cannot be held in lasting thraldom. Their freedom is merely a question of time; they will, they must either receive, or take it, and none can hinder them!

If the slaveholders are wise they will be wise for themselves; but if they persevere in their folly and cruelty and injustice, they must just take the consequence. If society be prostrated and blood shall flow, on their own heads be it! They are warned—they have despised the warning! In vain in the day of their calamity will they look for sympathy to Europe. There time and circumstances are constantly bringing forth new aggravations of their already enormous guilt. Not satisfied, it would seem, with the exercise of a blood-stained tyranny in their own land, they are extending it to our shores, as the following letter, addressed to the editor of the Times by Mr. Douglass, will show:

Sir: I take up my pen to lay before you a few facts respecting an unjust proscription to which I find myself subjected on board the steamship Cambria, to sail from this port at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning for Boston, United States.

On the 4th of March last, in company with Mr. George Moxhay, of the Hall of Commerce, London, I called upon Mr. Ford, the London agent on the Cunard line of steamers, for the purpose of securing a passage on board the steamship Cambria to Boston, United States. On inquiring the amount of the passage I was told £40 19s; I inquired further if a second-class passage could be obtained. He answered no, there was but one fare, all distinctions having been abolished. I then gave to him £40 19s and received from him in return a ticket entitling to berth No. 72 on board the steamship Cambria, at the same time asking him if my color would prove any barrier to my enjoying all the rights and privileges enjoyed by other passengers. He said "No." I then left the office supposing all well and thought nothing more of the matter until morning, when, in company with a few friends, agreeably to public notice I went on board the Cambria with my luggage, and on inquiring for my berth found, to my surprise and mortification, that it had been given to another passenger, and was told that the agent in London had acted without authority in selling me the ticket.

I expressed my surprise and disappointment to the captain, and inquired what I had better do in the matter. He suggested my accompanying him to the office of the agent in Water street, Liverpool, for the purpose of ascertaining what could be done. On stating the fact of my having purchased the ticket of the London agent Mr. McIver (the Liverpool agent) answered that the London agent, in selling me the ticket, had acted without authority, and that I should not go on board the ship unless I agreed to take my meals alone, not to mix with the saloon company, and to give up the berth for which I had paid. Being without legal remedy and anxious to return to the United States, I have felt it due to my own rights as a man, as well as to the honor and dignity of the British public, to lay these facts before them, sincerely believing that the British public will pronounce a just verdict on such proceedings. I have traveled in this country nineteen months, and have always enjoyed equal rights and privileges with other passengers, and it was not until I turned my face toward America that I met anything like proscription on account of my color.

Yours respectfullly,
Frederick Douglass.,
Brown's Temperance Hotel, Liverpool, April 3.

Here, then, is a company partly English and partly American deriving no small portion of its immense annual revenues for the conveyance of the English mail, with other more substantial advantages from English connection. To meet the tastes of both parts of the company two appropriate agents are selected, one resident in the metropolis to represent British feeling, destroying all distinctions both of price, class, and color; and another at the port to represent American feeling, preserving the distinction with reference to color, while the position of this latter agent amounts to a veto, and renders nugatory the proceedings of his metropolitan coadjutor. Mr. Douglass, after nineteen months' intercourse with all ranks and classes in Great Britain, and just issued from a select assembly, comprising some of our best and wisest citizens, met in London to bid farewell to the interesting stranger, on board the vessel which he hoped was to carry him in peace and honor to his native land, is reduced to the painful alternative of remaining behind, with the loss of his passage money, or surrendering his berth, taking his "meals alone," and being excluded from the "saloon company;" in a word, being treated as being of an inferior order, as a felon, an outcast, a vagabond.

We should like to know the American gentlemen who composed this saloon company, that the British people might judge of their mental and moral superiority to Frederick Douglass; for the probabilities are as a thousand to one that he was incomparably superior to the first among them. On these grounds, therefore, if the American portion of the "saloon company" could not associate with him, so be it—but let the less give place to the greater; let them retire from the saloon, give up their berths, and take their "meals alone."

One word as to the origin of this fell hate. Among the multitude of profundities which distinguish the pages of Tacitus there is not one more sagacious or pertinent to the present case than his declaration, that "Men hate those whom they have injured." This is the utmost stretch of philosophy upon the point—it reaches the bottom at once.

The quenchless hatred of the American whites to the man of color is founded solely in their boundless injuries toward him The fires of their pandemonian enmity are constantly fed by the remem-

BABY AND ITS GRANDMOTHER.

A GRATEFUL MOTHERS' PRAISE.

Loving and grateful mothers never tire of praising and recommending Lactated Food.

The following letter is interesting to all who have babies and aged parents.

"Until I began the use of Lactated Food my baby was sick all the time. When three months old he was very frail and weak. I began to feed him with Lactated Food, and he gradually grew better. He is now eighteen months old and weighs twenty-five pounds, and as well and strong as other children.

"My mother had a very weak stomach and could keep nothing on it until she began to use Lactated Food. It has made a marvellous improvement in her case, and she has now no difficulty in retaining her food. There cannot be enough said in praise of your wonderful Lactated Food."

Within the memory of middle-aged people Consumption and other lung troubles were much more prevalent and fatal than they are to-day. The existing improvement in the public health in this respect is, in considerable measure, due to a more widespread appreciation of sanitary laws; but Puttner's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, and Pancreatine, may justly claim to have largely aided in the good work. Many persons who some years ago were in a most critical state of health, are to-day sound and well, as a consequence of a faithful use of this valuable remedy.

Dr. Sarah Hackett Stevenson, of Chicago, would put men in skirts. In an interview advocating women's skirts reaching only to the ankles, declaring that sweeping skirts spread disease, notably the bacilli of tuberculous, from expectorations in the cars and streets, she said: "By the way, there is not a single graceful line in masculine attire. For my part, I believe men would look better if they wore skirts. In fact, men did wear skirts in the long ago. When men wear short skirts on the stage how much more graceful they appear. I think a change in men's attire is to be commended, and nothing would be more graceful for evening wear than knee breeches."

A DIPHTHERIA SCARE.

There is no doubt but that diphtheria at this season in its worst form is prevalent in many cities and small towns. At the same time, that fact is no reason for frightening people out of their wits, with every new case of sore throat. Hundreds of persons are said to have had diphtheria who only had a severe sore throat. The form of sore which often passes for diphtheretic is what old people call quinsy. "Putrid sore throat," known long before diphtheria An old hospital nurse in Boston, says: "It ain't the clear cold of winter that lays people up with colds, catarrh and sore throats, and lays the children low with diphtheria; its the soft, pleasant, alternating with the wet, slushy days." This is very true, because then the air is laden with poisonous vapors. The first symptoms of true diphtheria there is fever, some stupor, and difficulty in breathing. Very sharp pains are often felt in the neck glands, just below the ear. The tongue is coated, the throat and tonsils inflamed, little white spots, which increase and turn to a dirty yellow or brown color. Very many reliable people claim to have cured severe cases of diphtheria with Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Be that as it may, it is worth trying, because we know from experience it will cure a common sore throat in one night, and thousands of people claim that no remedy known will relieve colds, catarrh bronchitis, croup, etc., as promptly. If it cure them, why not diphtheria? I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass., will send their new illustrated book, entitled "Treatment for Diseases," free to any person for the asking.

THEORY EXPLODED.

The Belief that Brights Disease is Incurable No Longer Holds Good.

SOMERSET, Man., March 18—The old time theory of medical men that Bright's disease was incurable has been exploded to the satisfaction of all the people in this part of Canada. Arthur Coley, a well-known farmer, living near here, was attacked by the disease in the autumn of 1893. He was prostrated by it during the whole of the following winter. He and his friends were convinced that he would not live through the past summer. But to-day he is alive and hearty and working like a nailer to make up for the time he lost while sick. The happy change is due to Dodd's Kidney Pills, the only sure for any kidney disease.

"What is this?" thundred the chairman; "here is a newspaper report of an 'anarchist washed ashore.' Who has broken the rules of the society?" He was dead," replied a member, "or he never would have submitted."

25 Cents vs. Kidney Trouble.

For 2 years I was dosed, pilled, and plastered for weak-back, scalding urine and constipation, without benefit. One box of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills relieved, 3 boxes cured. R. J. Smith, Toronto.

"What did you learn at school to-day, Teddy?"

Teddy—"That the fellow that sits in front of me would lick me if I ever took anything out of his lunch basket again."

RELIEF IN SIX HOURS.—Distressing Kidney and Bladder diseases relieved in six hours by the "Great South American Kidney Cure." This new remedy is a great surprise and delight on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys, back and every part of the urinary passages in male or female. It relieves retention of water and pain in passing it almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is your remedy.

A spring poem appeared at the head of this column yesterday. Two hours before it was placed in type the weather was unpleasantly warm, but when it was given to the world the mercury stood at zero. This is a great country; there is no limit to its possibilities.—Atlanta Constitution.

Whose treachery long has been avowed
And do not doff your flannel shirt
Unless you want to wear a shroud.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—South American Rheumatic Cure, for rheumatism and neuralgia, radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at ronce the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits.

EDMANSON, BATES & Co.,

Gentlemen,—Abut three or four weeks ago I had an attack of Itching Piles. I tried two or three different remedies recommended by druggists as "the best and only cure," etc., etc., but got no relief. About this time I was beginning to despair of finding any relief. With some slight misgivings I bought a box of your pile cure, which I am pleased to say gave me almost instant relief and permanent cure. I consider your Ointment a Godsend.

ALF. J. DEAN.

"I wouldn't swear that way," said the kind looking old lady, mildly.

"Bless your soul ma'am you couldn't. It takes years of truck drivin' to come anywhere near it, responded the gentleman whose team had balked across the car track.

It's All Nonsense

For people to say there is no cure for consumption. Sufferers from that dread disease and kindred ailments are being saved every day by Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. Do not die without giving it a fair trial. If it will cure others it will cure you. The secret of its success lies in the fact that it creates new blood in the system, thus enabling sufferers from lung troubles to overcome the destructive forces at work to waste the tissues of the body. Miller's Emulsion is the great nerve strengthener and blood-maker, and cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, scrofula and all lung agections. In big bottles 50c and $1, at all drug stores.

Little Grace—I've heard about the American eagle and the British lion and Russian bear, but I never heard what animal Japan has.

The Cheapest is Pond's Extract,

Because on "Small" bottle, 50 cents, has more beneficial effect than one gallon of other preparations sold as being the "same as" or "equal to" Pond's Extract. For all pain and soreness." ...

Little George—The bull, of course. Everybody has heard of the bull in the China shop.

If too rapid eating causes dyspepsia, and it in its turn produces nervous exhaustion, debility, weakness, anaemia, etc., the first step in effecting a cure is to eat slowly. The second and most important is to take a course of Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic, which aids the process of digestion, invigorates the stomach, renews the vitality of the blood, relieves brain fatigue, and makes weak nerves strong. ......

SUIT CLUB!

When we started the now famous Suit Club we had no intention of violating any law of the land, But as it has been decided to the contrary by the Stipendiary Magistrate, we freely submit to that decision, and will discontinue operating our Suit Club. Priestley's Dress Fabrics
In the long run it is the quality of the material that will determine the success of a lady's costume. Every lady who has at all studied the matter knows this. The American ladies prefer Priestley's dress fabrics to French. Our Canadian ladies are now asking for them.
