

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

MAY 28, 1884.

Nuisances.

CITIZENS should not forget that the Act passed last session to regulate certain nuisances in the City of Charlottetown will be in force and operation on Sunday next, the 1st day of June.

The penalty for a violation of the law is a fine of thirty dollars. For this sum, the required changes can, in most cases, be made; and there is yet time to have them made before the law can be enforced.

The law is for the general good; and though complying with it will give householders a little expense and trouble, we hope the most searching vigilance of the proper officers will not be rewarded by the discovery of a single offender.

The law provides that the City Council shall have power to "grant, lease, or sell for a term of years the exclusive right to remove and take out of the city, all night soil, manure, ashes or refuse, upon such terms and conditions as they shall deem advisable."

Our Fisheries.

The following is a comparative statement of the production in each branch of the Fisheries of Prince Edward Island:

Table with columns: Kind of Fish, Quantity, and Value. Lists various fish like Codfish, Herring, Mackerel, etc., with their respective quantities and values for 1882 and 1883.

The total value of the fish caught in 1882 was $1,855,687.25, and in 1883 $1,272,467.93; so that the decrease was $583,219.32.

The Opposition and their Leader.

HER Majesty's Opposition are evidently in a state of suspense and anxiety not unmix'd with remorse about their Leader. For the sake of having Mr. Blake to lead them, they turn traitor to Mr. McKenzie, and broke his heart.

Our Squares and Streets.

MESSERS. THOMAS MCKINLAY and Arthur Newbery are superintending the laying off of Queen Square, so that citizens may have the most direct foot-paths to the public buildings, and, also, with a view to the protection of the trees planted, and the culture of flowers.

The ladies of St. Joseph's School have planted several ornamental trees on the street, in front of their Convent, and altogether their establishment on Pownall street is a model of taste, neatness and cleanliness.

Produce for Great Britain.

The bark Moselle, McLeod, master, sailed for Penarth Roads for orders on the 28th inst., with a cargo consisting of 43,160 bushels of 34 lbs. each, 517 pieces deals, containing 16,900 feet superficial measurement.

The barkentine Eroma, Rendle, master, sailed for Plymouth, G. B., on the 33rd inst., with a cargo consisting of 26,440 bushels of 34 lbs. each, 397 pieces deals containing 10,619 feet superficial measurement.

The brig Zetia, Neilson, master, sailed for Plymouth, G. B., on the 28th inst., with a cargo consisting of 26,377 bushels of 34 lbs. each, 544 pieces deals, containing 13,000 feet superficial measurement.

The Island and its Ways.

IV.

MENTAL INSULARITY.

It has been remarked that, of all peoples, those who dwell on islands are most fiercely proud and independent. This fact has been illustrated in all ages, from the time when the Greek islands sent their small but haughty armies to fight at Troy, to the present day when another wee island sends its little contingent to sit at Ottawa.

Of all feelings implanted in the human breast, one of the noblest is patriotism. But even patriotism may be exaggerated; and the natives of this colony make it ridiculous. It is a fine thing to honor one's country; but honor should be dealt out in some proportion to desert.

Smallness, by itself, is no crime. That the island is little and its inhabitants few would be easily pardonable, were the natives not endowed with such pretentiousness. Whenever they get a chance, they make their voices heard; whenever they obtain a footing, they make themselves a nuisance.

This spirit of obtuseness, of "bumpiness," if I may use the word, goes far to spoil a people whom a little modesty would make endurable. Incredible as it may sound to insular ears, a stranger cannot come here, and say (as all Islanders expect him to say) that it is the most beautiful country he has ever seen, that the people are the most charming, the society the most refined, the girls the most lovely, the men the most gentlemanly that he has ever been privileged to meet.

P. E. Island Hospital.

ACCORDING to notice published in the daily papers in terms of the Act of Incorporation, a public meeting of the contributors to the Institution was held at the Hall of the Y. M. C. A., on the evening of Thursday, the 22nd May, inst. Chas. Palmer, Esq., was appointed Chairman. The Provisional Trustees to whom had been committed the supervision of the Institution, until official trustees were elected under an Act of Incorporation, reported through their Chairman that the Hospital had been in full operation since the 15th Jan., when the first patient was admitted; that the total number of patients up to the present time had been twenty-two, and there were now seven inmates; that about one half the inmates had been paying patients, and that the other half had been received and treated gratuitously; that the total amount of pecuniary donations that had been received by the treasurer up to that date, including the proceeds of the tea and bazar and fancy table (which netted $338.02), amounted to the sum of $5,059.94 out of which there had been expended the sum of $3,879.48, in which was included the purchase money of the Hospital, $2,800, and about $640 for repairs and furnishing, leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurer, $1,181.15, less the current expenses of month; that the monthly wages was $24, and that Mrs. Robinson the matron had given great satisfaction, and that the patients had all spoken highly of the treatment received, and that the Medical Board had been very diligent in their visitations.

Which report was received and adopted. A code of by-laws was then passed and adopted, and the election of eight trustees by ballot was proceeded with. The following persons were elected, viz: Wm. Weeks, Dr. R. Johnston, H. J. Cundall, Archd. Kennedy, L. L. Beer, John Gillis and A. B. McKenzie. The undersigned was appointed Secretary-Treasurer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Tree-planting.

"When Adam delved, and Eve span, Who was then the gentleman?"

SIR,—In perusing your very appropriate comments upon the "tree-planting," I was gratified to find that you had not followed in the wake of your contemporary, the Patriot, who, not content with publishing a list of the persons engaged in tree-planting, gives additional information as to the "gentlemen" whom he had witnessed descending to the same occupation. Now, before questioning the propriety of this measure, I would ask why the first gentleman in the Province, our unobtrusive, yet with dignified Governor, should be excepted from that list, whilst some, possessing small share even of the world's essentials of "gentleman," should be included. I observe, upon comparing lists, that individuals classed "gentlemen" have never planted trees at all, and, if contributors to Mr. Laird's newspaper, they ought not to be thrust forward as benefactors of the public. In omitting to mention the Governor of this Province, your contemporary has not forgotten to take special notice of the ex-Governor of the Northwest; and has even, with unbounded charity, classed amongst the select few those whom his writings would tend to exhibit as anything but gentlemen.

It was certainly impolitic in a public servant to give undue prominence to particular parties upon an occasion of general effort such as that of the tree-planting; and I know, Sir, you will agree with me in the belief that "the horny hand of the working man" deserved as much credit as that of the "gentleman."

I confess to a feeling of disappointment upon hearing that the Market Square has been left "in beauty unadorned." Of course it could not be laid out precisely as the others, still, some plan might be devised for planting a border of trees round the outskirts. This need not interfere with public traffic. And when the busy hands which planted the saplings are laid away "neath the clods of the valley, and the young giants uplift their branches to the summer sky, the sons of fathers yet unborn will step beneath their shade, and wiping the perspiration from the brow of toil, bless the philanthropic heart which looked beyond, and afforded them comfort.

I am, Sir, truly yours, MOUNTAIN ASH, Charlottetown, May 28th, 1884.
