OCTOBER 7, 1899.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

WHY is action not begun in regard to the Belfast and Murray Harbor railway and Hillsborough bridge? We are informed that steps have not yet been taken towards the location of either the railway or the bridge. It cannot be said that the delay is due to the want of money; for Parliament placed $250,000 at the disposal of the Government for the immediate prosecution of the work. Will the money not be expended this year? Are we to have a repetition of the Summerside harbor works fraud? Are there political reasons why the line of the railway should not, just now, be located? Is there a party quarrel over the location of the bridge? What's the matter, anyway?

OUR ISLAND MAGAZINE.

THE Prince Edward Island Magazine for October contains a number of valuable and interesting articles, which, we venture to say, will be read with pleasure by P.E. Islanders everywhere. Month by month this magazine is increasing in popularity and has already achieved great success in its chosen field—that of collecting the historical matter connected with the settlement of this province, and at the same time fostering and encouraging the aspirations of our local writers. The low subscription price—fifty cents a year—places it within the reach of all.

THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY

ADVICES from London state that all the nonsense about Canada's selfishness and obstinacy hindering an amicable arrangement between the United States and Great Britain is now discredited, and that the strength and reasonableness of the Canadian claims are in a fair way of being fully understood and acknowledged by the Imperial Government. With Lord Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain backing the Dominion, there can no longer be any talk about "Canada's Cussedness" in the matter. If the boasted Anglo-American friendship is worth anything, it should surely be able to suggest a settlement which will re establish on fair terms that goodwill which is so desirable. It is hoped that before Sir Louis Davies leaves London the Commission will have the present deadlock removed, and that when it resumes its sittings a conclusion, final and satisfactory, will be within easy reach.

A CANADIAN CONTINGENT.

THE Master of the Administration has returned from France to put his foot down upon the idea of a Canadian Contingent for the Transvaal; and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who moved the resolutions of sympathy with the Uitlanders passed by Parliament while Mr. Tarte was absent, has been moved to offer some excuses. These excuses are condemned as insufficient. It has been shown that the law offers no impediment. Sir Charles Tupper has publicly pledged the "Opposition's "co-operation." with the government in case a Canadian Contingent should be despatched. Australia and New Zealand are sending forward contingents and Canada could do so, also,—if only its government had the will.

—It has been decided to use coke fuel on all passenger locomotives on the Intercolonial system.

BOY WANTED.—An intelligent boy as apprentice at THE EXAMINER office.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—The opening of telegraphic communication with Dawson by the C. P. R. is reported.

—We have great pleasure in recommending "The Germania" a monthly magazine, published by the New England College of Languages, at Boston, Mass., to all students of the German language. To read it carefully is a capital exercise for beginners; and it is exceedingly interesting to those who are able to translate. The price is $1.00 per year, 15c per copy.

—A correspondent at Cape Town writes: 'I have accumulated evidence that there is a bona fide belief among the Dutch that the Boers can beat England. A prominent Free Stater says: We are sorry for your soldiers; our burghers will walk over them like sheep over the veldt.' Another Free Stater said: 'You may have an even chance with us if you send 100,000 men, not less.' It is this belief that is at the bottom of the trouble. The Boers and their sympathisers need a lesson as to the power of Great Britain.

—Thirty-eight years ago Sir Charles Tupper visited Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, and saw himself burned in effigy on the public square. On Thursday last he was there as the honored guest of the Yarmouth County Agricultural Society, and addressed the school children, who were attending the public schools created under his public schools law. In the afternoon, he addressed a large gathering at the Yarmouth County exhibition. Hon. L. E. Baker, of the legislative council, presided. Sir Charles received the heartiest welcome.

The date and place of the first convention are to be decided upon by the executive.

A SOURCE OF FEVER.

SIR,—It may not be unknown to some of your readers that there has been for some years on West Grafton Street a drain or sewer with which a number of the houses in that neighborhood are connected. Of late years this drain, having never been anything but a wooden box, has been in bad repair. But still in the long run the drainage has managed to reach the sea. The outlet however has now been entirely closed because it was in the way of the new sewerage works. Have the users of the drain been warned to use it no longer? Not at all. So from this time on, the West end of Grafton Street is to become more and more saturated with sewage, which, when the surface water finds its way into the old drain, as it does after every heavy rain, will be washed into the neighbouring cellars. And even if the old connections should be cut off so as to keep the water out of the cellars, the street must in time become dangerous to health through the saturation of the soil.

People have been expecting the new sewerage to lessen the danger of fever. In the case described above the unfortunate dwellers in the neighbourhood are likely to be worse off than ever.
