CHEERING THROUNGS ACCLAIM SOVEREIGN PROROGATION OF PARLIAMENT YESTERDAY

Military Display Marks Birthday Of King Edward

His Majesty Heads Glittering Cavalcade To Attend Traditional Trooping Of The Color In The Horse Guards Parade.

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, June 22—King Edward and his brothers rode in a glittering procession today along the Mall to attend the traditional King's birthday ceremony of trooping the color in the Horse Guards parade.

Cheering throngs acclaimed the sovereign as he drove at the head of a colorful cavalcade along the Mall. He wore the scarlet tunic and black uniform of a colonel-in-chief of the Grenadier Guards.

Directly behind the King as he rode along the Mall were his three brothers. The Duke of York, heir-presumptive, wore the uniform of a colonel of the Scots Guards, the Duke of Gloucester that of a major of the Hussars and the Duke of Kent that of a colonel of the Royal West Kents.

The Earl of Granard, Master of the Horse, followed the Royal riders with gold-sticks-in-waiting, squires and the military members of the army council headed by the chief of the imperial general staff, Field Marshal Sir Cyril Deverell.

Military attaches of the Dominions and of foreign powers rode in the procession.

Bands crashed out the Royal Salute and National Anthem as the King rode onto the parade ground, where the troops had been massed to form a hollow square.

After riding along the ranks, His Majesty took position at the saluting base and the 1,800 men on parade, their bayonets gleaming in the sun, moved as one to the music of massed band and began the "troop."

The six-foot officer bore the color emblazoned with his regiment's battle honors, past the entire parade.

Trooping and march-past over, the Royal Horse Guards were the first to leave the parade ground. The field officer in brigade waiting handed over the command to His Majesty.

The King led the parade along the sanded roadway of the Mall where thousands more waiting to cheer, back to Buckingham Palace and a last salute at the gates.

King Edward VIII's first honors list was made public last night on the eve of his 42nd birthday. No Canadians were included.

Hospital Bazaar Formally Opened Last Evening

His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan Presided—Addresses By Mayor P.W. Turner And Dr. W.J.P. MacMillan.

The mammoth bazaar in aid of the Charlottetown Hospital was officially opened at the Market Building last evening by His Excellency Bishop J. A. O'Sullivan. Short addresses were also delivered by His Worship Mayor Turner and Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, chief of the Charlottetown Hospital medical staff.

Despite the fact that yesterday was the King's birthday and that consequently there was a large number of people out of the city the attendance was equal to that on the opening night last year. The bazaar will be in full swing tonight.

Mr. Stanley Maxted of Toronto, noted Canadian tenor, delighted the audience last night with his songs. He sang "Round the Bend of the Road," "All Alone," and "Danny Boy." He received a very hearty response from the audience. He was accompanied by Mr. Al Blanchard.

His Excellency in opening the bazaar told the audience that this year's objective is $10,000. Last year the venture was successful beyond the most sanguine hopes and it is confidently felt that with the experience gained last year this affair will be even more successful. He paid tribute to the excellent nursing and medical staff at the hospital.

His Worship Mayor Turner said that the motto "All work together" would be a good one to adopt in an enterprise like the hospital bazaar. "We have in this city citizens of different nationalities and people of different creeds all working together in harmony," the speaker said. He made an appeal for the application of the principles of the Christian philosophy by the people in supporting the bazaar in its worthy object of raising funds for the hospital by giving liberally of their material goods.

Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, chief of the medical staff of the hospital, declared the bazaar was an important occasion in the life history of the Hospital, which began as the first in the province in 1879 and had continued its good work for 57 years. The bazaar was absolutely necessary as without additional funds the institution cannot carry on its work as at present. During his political career he did his utmost to have the grants for hospitals increased knowing how urgently additional funds were required. The grant was increased since 1927, first from $500.00 to $2,000.00, and then, during his term as premier, from $2,000 to $3,000.00. The city followed the example of the province and also increased its allotment. In spite of the extra grants and all the economies that could be managed it is not possible to make revenue and expenditure meet in any one year. It will continue so long as the number of patients which must be treated free remain as great as at present.

More Workers Wanted; Enter At Once! New, Renewed Subscriptions Bring Pay

For the benefit of those who may have missed the details of this generous offer, let us repeat the plan of the Campaign. In just a few weeks, the Guardian will offer the person who accumulates the most votes through subscriptions to the newspaper, their choice of a fine new 1936 Chevrolet Master Coach or $800.00 cash!

Second Prize The winner of second prize will receive the choice of a Ford V-8 Tudor Sedan or $650.00 cash. Just think of it, two cars will be given free for your spare time effort! All you have to do is to subscribe to the Guardian. If they are already a subscriber, they will be glad to extend their subscription in order to help you win. Four big cash prizes will be given to the next four winners. The best part of all is that everyone wins because each worker is paid 30 percent commission on every subscription collected.

Pay Day Every Saturday—there is no way to lose in the Campaign except to fail to enter it. It costs nothing to enter. You don't even have to be a Guardian subscriber! The Campaign is just starting, this is "Opening Week." Extra cash prizes will be awarded those who have done the best work by 8 p. m. Saturday, June 27th. Get started at once and win one of these money prizes Saturday night. Fifteen dollars ($15.00) will be given the person who turns in the most cash during the week and $10.00 will be awarded the person who makes the second largest report for the week. All those who sell $50.00 in subscriptions will receive $5.00 in addition to the $15.00. If you report $50.00 in sales this week, your pay check will be $15.00. This is his money for the little time and effort it requires to meet this quota. This is the only week extra votes and extra cash prizes will be awarded. Get busy today and may success attend you!

Not Too Late Some people have the idea that it is too late to enter the Campaign and to win. Nothing could be further from the truth than this! There is room for MANY more workers! As yet, there are only a few active workers in the Campaign. By the end of the week a brand new worker could easily be in
