

Sour Stomach

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have a magic touch.

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour stomach with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These ailments came on more and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine."—MRS. PETER BERRY, Leominster, Mass.

"IF YOU WANT A WIFE

You Must Keep Your Eye Open for a Warm Bundle of Femininity."

The Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D.D., discusses "The Young Men and Marriage" in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Marriage to a certain degree," he says, "is a young man's duty to look upon from a utilitarian standpoint. A good wife is so much capital. She makes him to be, by a kind of grace, a great deal more than he is by nature. She contributes the qualities needed in order to convert his slight into a safe as well as productive investment. She introduces, for instance, into his intellectual nature that ingredient of sentiment which intellect requires in order to be able to do its best work. Heart and brain need to conspire in order to the attainment of the true, and without caring to assert that man is naturally heartless, any more than I should wish to assume that woman is by nature brainless, yet heart in its way is just as precious as brain in its way, and woman, so long as she is untainted by the low passion, is a man's best friend. She is the member of the communal corporation that will in particular contribute to the capital stock its affectional element. Some women may resent this, but I would like to caution young men against cherishing matrimonial designs upon any woman who is likely to resent it. If what you want is a wife, and not merely a housekeeper, you must keep your eye well open for a warm bundle of femininity that will be to you in a personal way what the fire on the hearth is to you in a physical way—a fund of tropical comfort that will keep the stiffness out of your thinking, the frost out of your feeling, and the general machinery of your life in a condition of pleasurable activity."

Public Invited to Witness the Strangling of Sanguineros in Havana.

A copy of the newspaper La Lucha, published in Havana, Cuba, September 21, was brought to port by one of the crew of the steamer Earlford, from which vessel was in Havana on that date.

An advertisement in La Lucha notifies the public that on the evening of September 21, Francisco Sanguinero, a notorious criminal of the crimes of rebellion and incendiarism, will enter the chapel and there make his peace with God before his execution the following morning, when he will be shot in the ditch of Laurel Grove.

"The Strangling" is the headline of another advertisement calling the public attention to the fact that on the following day, at 7 a. m., Manuel Rodriguez Rivero, Amador Perez Garcia and Nito Santa Cruz will be placed in the chapel of the condemned and strangled there. The execution was advertised to take place in the ditch of Laurel Grove. Their crime was brigandage or being sequestrators.

The execution or strangling of the sequestrators was witnessed by one of the crew of the Earlford. Long before the hour of the execution, Manuel Rodriguez, which is a square surrounded by a high wall, and adjoining Moro Castle, was crowded with people who made a fringe of humanity on the top of the walls.

The garrote was in the middle of the square upon a platform so situated that all the spectators could see it. The first of the sequestrators was a white man, who was accompanied by a priest, four attendants and a guard of soldiers. He was smoking a cigarette with all the nonchalance of a man going to a wedding feast instead of being the subject of his own funeral.

He took his seat in the fatal chair, but refused to wear the white cap, with openings for the eyes, which was attached as a cowl to his robe. The executioner deftly arranged the collar around the man's neck. All was ready in a moment and the executioner gave a tug at the screw and down came a lever. In five minutes a physician made an examination of the grating corpse in the chair and declared life extinct. The body was removed by the four attendants and thrown behind the platform upon which the garrote stood.

The others, who were colored men, were dispatched in the same way, but were longer in dying than their white companion. Their bodies were thrown on the ground, to be buried, it was said, in a pit, where the bodies of victims are thrown and covered with quicklime.

The executioner is a life prisoner, who is paid $17 in gold for each man garroted, which he is allowed to spend upon himself. He wears a black coat, with stripes of white on the back of his coat, such as prisoners in the penitentiary wear. Three months previously he had performed his first work as an executioner. He bungled the job so badly that his predecessor, a powerful black man, was called in to finish the job.
