DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

Is L O N G F E L L O W
A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

DOROTHY DIX'S COLUMN—

ANSWER: Even a gypsy fortune teller would have trouble answering your questions. I'm no clairvoyant, my dear, just a woman trying to do a conscientious job.

I might suggest that, since the boy hasn't made a declaration of love in five years, maybe you had better utilize the time he's away to find another and more aggressive beau.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 20 years old and have just met a very nice boy. My mother has forbidden me to see him because he has a twitch. I like him so much that I've bee going out with him anyway. Am I right?

S. S.

ANSWER: No, you are not, primarily because deception is never right. It's quite possible, you know, that mother's attitude is caused by apprehension that the twitch may be a symptom of a serious physical or nervous disorder. Get her to tell you frankly why she objects. If the grounds are valid, better reconsider your attitude; if she has an unreasonable dislike of the boy, or is convinced herself that his condition is a minor affliction, wait until you are 21 before making up your mind about him.

DEAR MISS DIX: For some time my husband has been letting a married man use our mail box to receive letters from another woman. I don't like the idea, but my husband says there's no harm in it.

PATSY

ANSWER: Your husband is wrong to connive at his friend's infidelity. Of course, all parties involved are wrong, but your husband might be able to make the other two see the light if he refused his co-operation.

Miss Nissen cannot reply personally to readers but will answer problems of general interest through this column.
