

Let Not the Heart Grow Selfish.

Touch us, oh Time! with light hand as you pass;
Tempt us to think it a loving caress;
Tread on our hearts, too, with reverent care—
Crush not the flowers of life blooming there;
Farrow our foreheads with care if you will,
But let youth linger within our hearts still.

'Mid our dark tresses are fibres of gray—
Silent reminders of life's fleeting day;
And when we turn to the shadowy past,
On its bright altars lay ashes and dust;
All its fair idols are marked with decay—
All its sweet pictures are faded away.

Sadly we look for the friends of the past—
They of strong heart and the beautiful trust;
Some we find sleeping beneath sculptured
stone;

Some toiling wearily onward alone;
Some thro' ambition grown heartless and cold,
But one and all, save the dead, growing old.

Oh! we grow weary in watching in vain
O'er hopes that always but shadows remain;
Weary of counting the joys that have died;
Weary of laying bright visions aside;
Weary of taking but dress for pure gold;
Weary, so weary, of hearts growing old.

Chase from us, Time, all shadowy fears;
Lift from our lives the slow burden of years,
Shadow our foreheads and sprinkle our hair,
But oh, shield our hearts from the furrows of care,
Let not the heart grow selfish or cold,
And we shall no longer fear to grow old.

Usefulness of Autumn Leaves.

A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker speaks thus of the usefulness of autumn leaves:—

"I was out a few evenings ago for a drive, and I saw a young lady retrace her steps to gather a few autumn leaves—evidently she enjoyed their beauty! A little farther on, I saw a lady sweeping the ripe leaves out of her yard into the street, to be lost. I said to myself, 'She cares neither for the beauty nor for the utility of autumn leaves.' Why is it that people keep up such destruction from the falling of the first ripe leaf until the trees are bare? We cannot afford such a loss; for loss it is. Leaves should be carefully gathered, even those from the street, if they fall from the trees belonging to us, in front of our homes.—There is nothing nicer for covering tender plants that are to be left in the ground, or to protect the lawn in winter. 'Leaves are Nature's covering,' and they are far more slightly than much of the material used in their place to protect the garden from frost. All that are not needed to cover plants, can be piled in an out-of-the-way corner, and covered with sods to keep them in place. Sods should be turned over the pile on washing-day, and the mass should, occasionally be stirred from the bottom. Leaves treated in this way, will decay gradually forming a rich mould that any florist will prize. Pressed autumn leaves, tastefully arranged with dried ferns, are fine for decorating the house; but in our admiration of the beautiful, let us not forget the useful."

WHEAT CAKES.—If our readers would enjoy wheat cakes in perfection, we advise them to follow the rule set down here, which rule has been faithfully tested scores of times by our own household and always with complete success. In the first place you must have some of the flour known as "middlings" and which is most easily procured in the country where mills are found. Now, to a quart of flour add one teaspoonful of salt and enough sour milk to make a batter. When ready to bake, add one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in warm water, and if this should thicken the batter too much (as it sometimes does by effervescence), thin it with a little more milk, either sweet or sour. Then bake like griddle cakes, and, if we are not much mistaken, you will find your cakes lighter, tenderer, altogether more satisfactory than any wheat cakes you ever tried. But, we repeat it—you must have sour milk, really sour and "middlings" instead of fine wheat flour. Old housekeepers all know what young ones may not know—that the best way of greasing a griddle is by means of a strip of salt pork, cut thick and fastened to a stick or fork.—Christian Intelligencer.

APPLE DUMPLINGS.—Put to three cups of flour half a teaspoonful of baking powder; sift them together; cut into the flour half a cup of sweet lard; mix with a knife into smooth, firm paste with one teaspoonful of cold water. Set on ice or in a very cool place fifteen minutes. While the pastry is getting cold take one and a half cups of butter and extract the buttermilk and salt by pressing it in a clean towel, then flour it. Now take the dough and roll out on a smooth, well-floured board; place the butter on it, and fold the dough over it, so as to cover all the butter. Roll out lightly to half-inch thickness; turn it over; fold each end to the middle, flour it, roll out again; again turn over, fold each end to the middle, flour, and roll out. Repeat this three times more and use. (It made in summer this paste should be put on ice between each folding and rolling.) Peel and core eight fine flavored tender apples, and fill the centre when the core is removed with sugar. Roll out the pastry thin, cut it into eight squares of four inches, lay an apple on each square, wet the four corners of the pastry, and bring them together. Sift sugar over, lay in a baking sheet, and bake in a hot oven twenty-five minutes. Serve with hard sauce.

TO LET,

AND immediate possession given, 2 first-class DWELLINGS, situated on Longworth Street, opposite the residence of Hon. L. C. Owen. These Dwellings were erected this spring, under careful superintendence, no cost being spared to make them warm, comfortable and convenient. The outbuilding arrangements are second to none in Ch'town. There is a good well of water and a pump in the yard to supply the occupants. Persons wanting a good house would do well to call and examine for themselves. None but good and careful tenants need apply.

The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER is acknowledged by all who have used them, to act quicker than any other plaster they ever before tried, and that one of these plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different: the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered. Being, however, convinced of the wonderful cures effected by DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and their superiority over all other plasters, they now actually prescribe them, in their practice, for such diseases as rheumatism, pain in the side and back, and all such cases as have required the use of plasters or liniment. After you have tried other plasters and liniments, and they have failed, and you want a certain cure, ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER. You can hardly believe your own convictions of its wonderful effects. Although powerful and quick in its action, you can rely on its safety for the most delicate person to wear, as it is free from lead and other poisonous material commonly used in the manufacture of ordinary plasters. One trial is a sufficient guarantee of its merits, and one plaster will sell hundreds to your friends.

Ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and take no other; or, on receipt of 25 cents for one, $1 for five, or $2 for a dozen, they will be mailed, post paid, to any address in the United States or Canada.
