

A Snapshot of You at 65

Let an Imperial Life policy develop a happy picture

Still drawing on Imperial Life at the age of 88

There is an old adage which says "For a long life and a merry one—look at an annuitant". Take Mr. R. G. For many years he has been drawing an annuity of $1320 from the Imperial Life. Today he still enjoys life. In spite of wars, epidemics, panics or depression, The Imperial Life has met every policy guarantee on time, and in full.

YOUR 65th birthday may seem far away now, but men who have reached that age say that the older they grow the faster time flies.

You can decide which of these two pictures will represent you at 65? Do you know the priceless peace of mind that comes with an Imperial Life policy? Thousands of prudent men do. They are happy—care-free—untroubled by the fear and worry of an uncertain future. Many men, old in years, who are owners of Imperial Life Retirement Income policies are in reality energetic young men today. They have undestepped the ageing worries caused by an inadequate insurance plan.

Decide today that you will enjoy Imperial Life protection from now on. It means ever present security for your family, untroubled middle age for you, an assured income for you beginning the day you wish to retire. You can buy this security with money you will never miss.

FEMALE PHEASANT STICK TO HER NEST—The tenacity of a bird to stick to her nest in the face of overwhelming difficulties is exemplified in the case of a female pheasant on the farm of Mr. Earl Jenkins, Southport. While cutting hay some four weeks ago a ring necked pheasant was run over while sitting on her nest and then ran over by the rake and the nest destroyed. Nothing daunted she still stayed in the same vicinity and again decided to raise another family this time in a field of grain. The other day she cut the grain the binder passed over her and the next round the horses again passed over her but still she sat there. Noticing that her feathers were somewhat ruffled Mr. Jenkins went over to examine her, and almost lifted her off the nest before she ran over in the adjoining uncut grain. Coming over her in some ten minutes on the next round of the binder she was seen sitting on the exposed nest. The place was marked and quickly cleared of sheaves so that no more annoyance would be caused her. At that time writing she is still sitting comfortably on her nest. Let us hope she may have the good fortune to bring out a large family. She has twelve eggs under her and is worthy of being called a pheasant nested in almost the same place in which they were liberated some two years ago.

TUCKER-MACKINNON WEDDING
BRIDE. Aug. 27—An unusually pretty wedding took place Aug. 27 at 2 o'clock when Mildred Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacKinnon, Brule, was united in marriage to Eric Bruce Tucker, son of James Tucker and the late Mrs. Tucker, of New Annapolis.

The home of the bride was attractively decorated, the color scheme being pink and white, with gladioli in the center, and pink and white sweet peas and vases of daisies further adorned the room. To the strains of Lovings wedding march, played by Miss Breda Watt of River John, the bride came down the stairway on the arm of her groom, Eric Bruce Tucker, by whom she was given in marriage. Preceding her were her sister, Miss Kay MacKinnon as bridesmaid, and little niece Pauline MacKinnon flower girl. The bride looked charming in a gown of white lace with veil and orange to match. The bridesmaid was attractively attired in a gown of blue net over satin, and carried a showy bouquet of pink roses, daisies and fern. The winsome little flower girl's frock was pink net over satin and she carried a basket of white flowers. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a basket of gladioli on the bride's pathway. Alexander Wilson was best man.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Bryan of the Presbyterian church, River John. Following the ceremony the guests, seventy in number, hastened to the reception and groom their good wishes and congratulations. After which the caterers, Mrs. Minnie Jollimore and Mrs. Frank MacTucker, Mrs. Curtis Johnson and Mrs. Otis MacKinnon. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker left on a wedding trip to Charlottetown, P. E. I. attending the exhibition, and will visit other points in the province before returning home. The bride travelled in a smart pencil stripe blue tailored suit with hat and other accessories to correspond.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a locket and chain; to the flower girl, a locket and chain, and to the best man, a silver cigarette case. A beautiful chest of silver was the groom's present to his bride.

Besides the many presents received a shower of a large array of useful gifts was tendered by the bride's friends at her home last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Tucker will be remembered as a successful teacher in Cumberland-Colchester schools the past six years. Mr. Tucker is a painter and Colchester's successful young painter and a general favorite among his friends. On their return they will reside in New Annapolis. Their many friends will join in wishing them health, wealth and happiness.

held in Morell and the surrounding districts was testified by the large number who visited her home during the days of her illness and the remains that followed the ceremony on the afternoon of Aug. 5th, evinced an eloquent tribute to the memory of their dear departed friend. The body of her dear departed was conducted by Rev. J. C. Rooney, P. P. When all that was mortal of a truly devoted mother and loving sister were consigned to the grave, the funeral was under the direction of Mr. Francis Connelly, Messrs. Wm. McCulloch, John Duff, Reginald Kenny, Peter Byrnes, Anthony and Frank Dunn former school companions acted as pall bearers. Besides her grief-stricken parents, two sister and two brothers survive her. Mrs. Helen, Thomas and Joseph, to whom is extended heartfelt sympathy in their hours of sorrow. In evidence of the high esteem in which the deceased was held by her neighbors and friends, many lovingly manifested their warmest expressions of sympathy in the presentation of Spiritual Bouquets, Mass Cards, carnations and flowers for which grateful acknowledgments are extended from Mr. and Mrs. Kenny and family. Sweet rest to her beautiful soul, is the prayer of all those who knew her, and appreciated her charming personality.

In Memoriam

MISS CLARE MARIE KENNY

In the early morning hours of August 1939 the Angel of death visited for the first time the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Kenny, Byrne's Road, Morell, and called their youngest and beloved daughter Clare Marie, who was resting in the tender mercies of Our Lord, peacefully passed to her eternal home in the twentieth year of her brilliant career.

After her return home a fatal malady manifested itself with violent attacks of vomiting, the strain of which her enfeebled constitution could not withstand, and despite the best medical skill and the kindest care were not spared, her grief-stricken parents, loving sisters and devoted brothers were forced to see their beloved Marie taken from them. She quietly entered into that sleep which knows no awakening until the Angel sounds the final warning. The advent of the Glorious Resurrection Morn. All through her illness she exemplified the most marvellous patience and cheerfulness, endeavoring to see that her loved ones were better, although fully resigned to the Holy Will of God.

During her illness she was frequently visited by the Rev. Joseph Rooney, pastor of St. Lawrence's parish who consoled her in her dying moments and administered to her the last rites of Holy Mother Church.

With the passing away of one of Morell's most exemplary young women a beautiful life has ended. Called at such a delightful period of life to join the "White robes of virginity" who followeth the lamb whithersoever. He who sees their final resting place. May we not reasonably apply our dear departed one the memorable words of a talented French poet "God loves young flowers, and culls them in the morning air."

From happy childhood to the date of her demise her kind and cheerful disposition endeared her to all. A wonderful faculty for making friends made her universally loved. The esteem in which she was
