

Causeway Problem In Ghana Said Similar

SUMMERSIDE — George Fraser, director of information for the Provincial Government was guest speaker yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the Summerside Rotary Club presided over by the President John Arnold. Mr. Fraser, who during the past few months has been in Ghana, formerly called the Gold Coast, as a special advisor on tourism to the government of that country, stated Ghana is only two or three generations removed from slavery, but this enterprising Negro nation has gained for itself independence and self government in 1957 after 113 years of colonial rule. The architect of its independence is Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, its Prime Minister. Mr. Fraser continued "It is an important fact that Communist Russia has not as much as a single toehold in the great continent of Africa, and with a population of 200 million, Africa is bound to play a dominant part in future international affairs. If democracy is to survive there, it is up to the western powers to assist the new nations of Ghana and Guinea in every way possible, Mr. Fraser stated.

PROJECT OUTLINED

He outlined some of the many projects which the young government of Ghana has undertaken, including a five year development program at an expenditure of nearly a billion dollars; and the development of Tema harbour, which Mr. Fraser feels is of particular interest to local people since it is much similar to building a causeway here. The project, he said, calls for the erection of two roadway breakwaters to extend four miles into the Gulf of Guinea. The Ghana government faced a similar problem to the one which confronts the building of a causeway here, the scarcity of near-hand rock and fill. In Ghana, said the guest speaker, the problem was solved by building a railway and transporting all the necessary material from a source 35 miles away in large containers located on box cars. He found the tourist industry potential in Ghana is big and as a result of his recommendation the government is building seven hotels and setting up a tourist board. Mr. Fraser was sent to Ghana by the Canadian government under the technical assistance program and he feels that this assistance freely given without any thought of future exploitation, is the greatest contribution the Western world can make to the cause of democracy in Africa.

NEED LUXURY RESORTS
Earlier, Alan Field, director of the federal travel bureau, told the Commons mines committee that Canada needs large-scale luxury resorts to attract wealthy U.S. tourists and to publicize resort areas to Americans with average incomes. However, he said risk capital for big resorts "is rather reluctant in coming forward in Canada."

Mr. Fisher said Prince Edward Island has some of the finest beaches on this continent "but where can you go when it rains." Senator Harold Connolly, former Liberal Premier of Nova Scotia, said too many tourist operators in Canada have an inadequate knowledge of the travel business. There was no organized effort being made in Canada to overcome this problem.

He also described as "measly" the $60,000 annual budget of the Canadian Tourist Association. The federal government gave the association an annual grant of $5,000 and the remaining $55,000 was raised by subscription.

AWARD WINNERS

The feats of Donnie and Raymond Chappel, York who were tied for top national Holstein judging awards last winter, were acknowledged yesterday by members of the Prince Edward Island Holstein breeders association at their annual dinner held in the Old Spain Blue Room. The boys are sons of Clifford Chappel and grandsons of Robert Chappel.
