Holy Name Society Addressed Yesterday By Dr. J. A. McMillan

Dr. Joseph A. MacMillan, of Charlottetown, was the guest speaker at the annual communion breakfast of the Holy Name Society of St. Paul's Parish, Summerside, held yesterday morning in the church basement following mass celebrated by the spiritual director of the Society, Rev. J. H. LeClair.

The President, Mr. William Frigen, presided and the speaker was introduced by Mr. T. Earle Hickey. Dr. MacMillan took as his subject "the role of Catholic laymen in the community." At the commencement of his speech he referred to the recent proclamation of the dogma of the "assumption" and said that this belief is nothing new as "we and our parents were taught it as children." He said that it is hard to be a Catholic if one lives up to his religion and that "we must love all our neighbors" and that means all
