BETTER PAY Continued from page 1 new rush of recruits. Single rooms, at least, appear to be out for them and the old familiar H-hut stands firmly in its accustomed place.

Army officials say that since this 5,000-man force is, in effect, entering the army under peacetime conditions, the chances for a man to get pants that fit him and boots that don't pinch are better than they would be under general mobilization conditions. The pay scale for the new force, Defence Minister Claxton said today, will be the same as that for the regular army. This indicated that, at the present stage at least, there is no plan to reward the volunteers with special pay to fight aggression in Korea or elsewhere.

The scale will give a recruit private $65 a month plus $54 as a subsistence allowance for a total of $119. Once trained, he gets a

REPORTERS NEED

The order was quickly rescinded. Then there is money trouble. For transactions with the Japanese you use yen—exchanged at 358 yen to the American dollar. But in addition there is American and British occupation money—a form of script that is used in military establishments. I never did find out what kind of currency was used in Korea. Everything looked so squallid that one was afraid to buy fruit or other food, lush as it might appear.

At the front itself, the Americans ran a very good press camp—rough and ready but full of good humor and release from the tensions that even reporters feel in a place like this. I've probably known more press camps in children's schoolhouses than anywhere else. Somehow, public relations people seemed to gravitate to them. And particularly to these children's schools where all the chairs and tables are built for six-year-olds. They were in again in Korea and we would hear over typewriters at night sitting at these tiny bits of furniture.

This is a war in which correspondents had no standard uniforms and everything from civilian clothes to bits and pieces of last war equipment were worn by reporters. Many of us did not even have tin hats. We wore no identification discs. Nobody knew our blood type if we were hit.

Bedraggled Crowd

The press corps was a more bedraggled looking crowd than ever on this show and nobody cared or needed to.

This Korean affair will probably go down in newspaper history as one of the most costly in reporters. At time of writing, there have been ten killed or missing. With the front so open as it was for the first month, danger involved in moving to and from units was compounded.

Communications from Korea to Tokyo were appalling much of the time. Sometimes you would telephone to Tokyo—get three minutes on the line at a time. At other times you would use a teleprinter service run by the army which was fairly good but would frequently send the tail end of a story first and sometimes drop a couple of "takes" out of the centre. The confusion this must have caused at the receiving end is something I don't like to contemplate.

Many Discomforts

The filth and dirt of the campaign seemed to be worse than other. Mosquitoes and fleas kept us busy with DDT powder and repellants and the sweltering heat turned clothing into soggy masses of sweat.

This war brought a lot of veteran war correspondents out of the mothballs and inevitably led to endless reminiscences of other campaigns where some of us had been together. It made a lot of us feel very ancient, too, when American G.I.'s who might be sitting around listening in would give us the most patronizing of looks. It is said what are you "old" gooks talking about; why were you veterans of the new war already.

This led Hal Boyle of the Associated Press and Bill Lawrence of the New York Times to coin a standard introduction to past war talk: "Now if you don't mind listening to the reminiscences of an old man, etc. etc."

After a stretch at the front, reporters look back on Tokyo with the fond affection we used to have for Brussels and Paris. The comparison is not particularly apt in practice for Tokyo isn't the leave over the other.

Still it was a place for hot showers, cool fans, clean clothes and cool drinks and good food at the Tokyo correspondents club, an institution here for the reporters who work here all the time but which opens its doors to the horde of newsmen from around the globe.

Breaks Record For Channel Crossing

DOVER, England, Aug. 10 (AP) — A 37-year-old engineer crossed the English Channel in an 18-foot kayak in four hours, seven minutes today, bettering the existing canoe record by 50 minutes.

The engineer, Peter Ross of Richmond, made the crossing from Cap Griz Nez to Dover.

total of $126. A corporal's total is $142, a sergeant's $161, a captain's $286.

The subsistence allowance — $60 for a sergeant, $73 for a captain — is granted only when rations and quarters are not provided. When a married soldier is separated from his family for service reasons, he will continue to draw this allowance. Thus a private overseas would get $72 in basic pay plus $39 in subsistence.

In addition, married personnel on non-commissioned status get $30 marriage allowance. Married officers get $40. A private overseas would get, all told, $141 a month.

In the recent war, pay was on a daily basis. A recruit got $1.30 a day, a corporal $1.70, a sergeant $2.20, a captain $5.50. Other ranks got a dependents' allowance of $37.20, a lieutenant $47.20, a captain $52.20, if qualified, plus an ascending allowance scale for children. There was a subsistence allowance of $1.70 for officers, $1.25 for soldiers, but the bulk of the men didn't qualify for that. Before the war, a private got $73, a sergeant $97 and a major $279 a month.

Army Recruiting Team Due Saturday

A mobile recruiting team, which will be dispatched from Halifax, is expected to arrive here Saturday evening to facilitate enlistments of local applications for the Canadian Army, Brig. W.W. Reid, D.S.O., E.D., stated yesterday.

The Recruiting Officer and his staff will make their headquarters at the Armouries and will accept applications for the Canadian Army Active Force as well as the Canadian Army Special Force. Age limits run from 17 to 35 with a special limit of 45 for tradesmen. Recruits will be needed for The Armouries Corps, Royal Canadian Artillery, Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Royal Canadian Infantry Corps and the Royal Canadian Electrical Mechanical Engineers.

CO-OP ISSUE

When the directors made an attempt to carry out the intention of this resolution, their rights to do so was challenged. On whose authority were the directors making this request to the Legislature?

"When informed that a resolution was passed at the annual meeting of our Association authorizing the directors to do so, your directors were asked to give a guarantee that this resolution was passed by a majority of the members attending this Association meeting. This, the directors were unable to do, because there was no means of ascertaining whether or not this resolution was supported by members or non-members."

In order to clarify the situation, Mr. Wright submitted the following facts: "The P. E. I. Potato Growers' Association was incorporated in 1921; by the Statute (Chapter 23) the Association was to have all the powers incident to a corporation under the Act relating to corporate bodies. The Association was given power to carry on the business of wholesale and retail merchants in all kinds of goods, wares and merchandise and to carry on the business of warehousing."

"By Section 6 at the annual general meeting or a special meeting the members of the Association could make by-laws for proper management of the affairs of the Association and these by-laws might provide the terms upon which members are to be admitted to the Association."

By Section 7 the directors could repeal, amend or retract the by-laws but every appeal, amendment or re-enactment would only have effect until the next annual meeting and if not confirmed then or by a special general meeting ceased to have effect."

Quotes By-Laws

"We have a printed copy of by-laws dated July 10, 1931. We cannot find the minutes of the annual meeting passing these by-laws but the printed by-laws were distributed among the members and have always been regarded as the by-laws of the Association. It may be said in explanation that the Association suffered a fire in its premises in the Tweel Building and this explains the fact that the minutes are not available. We would point out the following by-laws relating to membership:

"After quoting the by-laws relating to membership Mr. Wright continued: "Up to and including the year 1935 the members of the Association were those who had signed the approved contract and paid their fees and notices of the annual meeting were sent to the members. Everything appearing up to have been perfectly correct up to this time. In this year the Association was in financial difficulties and the Provincial Government guaranteed loans at the Bank of Nova Scotia up to $100,000 on the understanding that all Association profits be credited to the deficit and members until the guarantee was satisfied."

To give effect to this agreement the directors in September 1935 passed the following by-laws: Mr. Wright went on to cite the by-laws by the directors in September, 1935, giving effect to this agreement. They provided that in order to add to the membership under contract, no membership fees be henceforth collected; to provide that all farmers marketing farm products through the Association be considered full members without signing the contract formerly required, and that all profits be divided among the members and to be paid to members until the Government guarantee was fully satisfied."

"At the next annual meeting in July," Mr. Wright added, "these by-laws were not confirmed as far as we can learn. We do not have a copy of the minutes of the 1936 annual meeting but a full report is contained in the newspapers of the day following and this contains no reference to a confirmation so we must assume clauses 22, 23 and 24 ceased to have any effect on the day following the annual meeting."

"The directors however carried on the affairs of the Association under the assumption that these by-laws were in effect as passed by the directors and the wording of the statute was not brought to their attention. Non-payment of dues however does not have the effect of cancelling the membership of

First Annual Picnic For Blind

Many of the blind of Charlottetown and vicinity left the city yesterday afternoon to attend the first annual picnic to be organized by the Charlottetown Welfare Society of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The picnic was held under smiling skies at Stanhope Beach and approximately forty-five guests were on hand to enjoy the treats of ice cream, candy and fruit.

The winner of the candy-on-a-string contest was George Staines, operator of the C. N. I. B. cart-ten at the Charlottetown Hospital and second prize went to eleven-year-old John Pippy of the P. E. I. Protestant Orphanage. Many chuckles passed through the group of picnickers during the "ballooning" contest. After much puffing Mrs. Caroline Gillis of Grafton Street, successfully burst her balloon, and Miss Lucille Gaultier of Upper Queen Street claimed the second lady's prize. First men's balloon-blowing prize was taken by Master John Pippy, while Wolaston "Billy" MacEachern of North River came second.

Gifts, including cigarettes, cigars, tobacco, and toiletries, were given by the Women's Auxiliary to the blind picnic, and an excellent lunch of sandwiches, home-made cookies and cakes, was served with tea to all present.

Special guests at the outing included Mr. Chester S. McLure, M.P., Miss Lou McLure and Mrs. Hines of Vancouver, B.C. At the conclusion of the afternoon's fresh air activities, the blind guests of the C. N. I. B. gave three rousing cheers for the twelve members of the Women's Auxiliary who served at the picnic.

As was expressed by all present that the first picnic for the blind was a real success, and the local Field Secretary, Mr. G. E. Wood, highly complimented Mrs. W. J. P. MacMillan, President of the C. W. A., and her co-workers for having brought real happiness to the picnic guests. He also echoed the wish of all the picnicists that such social outings will become an annual event here as they have in other Maritime centres.

Plans are already under consideration for parties to be held during the fall and winter, so that the blind of Charlottetown can enjoy making social contacts.

any member of the Association: the only result would be that he might be called upon to pay up his arrears if he were not subsequently relieved by the Association from paying dues.

At the annual general meeting of the Association held March 2, 1950 the following resolution was passed: "That we decide that those entitled to vote at future meetings will be all those growers who were patrons of the Potato Growers' Association as of 1935 and since."

"This is quoted to give you the feeling of those present at this meeting although it may be objected that the 1950 annual meeting was attended by many who were not members in 1935. A great majority of those present however would be those who were members of the Association."

"Since the bank loan is now down to $15,000 and the financial position of the Association is such that this loan can be paid off at any time the directors propose to have this done."

In order to clarify the position of the Association, directors now proposed to amend by-law 11 to provide that no member shall be required to sign this contract from Sept. 1, 1935; to amend by-law 12 to provide that no initiation fee or regular annual fee be imposed or collected from any member since 1935 and that all those who have been, in the opinion of the directors, patrons of the Association since that year, be standing; patrons to include holders of debentures in the Association, membership in Association not to be transferrable.

IN MEMORIAM

REV. I. E. LINKLETTER

Many friends in this Province will regret to learn of the death of Rev. I. E. Linkletter, which occurred at Sioux Falls, South Dakota on Monday whilst vacationing there with his wife and daughter, Ethel.

The late Mr. Linkletter left this Province in 1926 to prepare for the ministry. Prior to his departure he was employed for a number of years with the firm of Sinclair and Stewart of Summerside.

For twenty years the deceased was pastor of the Christian Church at Cedar Rapids, and for the past two years he had been pastor of the Christian Church at Winterset, Iowa.

Island Odds And Ends

Our City street department is getting in some good "licks" these days, and citizens have remarked that the work of creating more parking space is of very practical nature. The programme has been well planned, is proceeding swiftly, and has already greatly assisted the parking problem in the city. The money, which is being expended has certainly never been put to better use, and the improvements being made will make it safer and more pleasant for all motorists, who use our city streets. Aside from its practical nature, it proves a work for quite a large number of men.

Mr. Ivan Nicholson, manager of the local branch of M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd., gives it as his opinion, that more construction work is underway in Charlottetown and Summerside than at any time since the war. This is startling, in view of the fact that the building boom has been underway ever since the end of hostilities in 1945. The Schurman Company alone has twelve jobs in hand, five in Summerside and seven in Charlottetown. All of these jobs are financed by the Dominion or Provincial Governments, or business firms. One of their biggest construction projects is the new Dominion Building at Summerside. Incidentally this building was talked of long after plans were being made to build a similar building in Charlottetown, and will likely be built and occupied before the Charlottetown building is constructed. The western town always had the reputation of being hustlers and they are still "right on the beam" in this respect.

Two Dutch families who lived in Nova Scotia for about ten years, but who settled at Big Point, near Flat River, this Spring are growing a variety of potatoes new to this Province. It is said they are very high yielding tubers, as much as four hundred to five hundred bushels per acre. At least they have yielded this number of bushels in British Columbia where it is said they were first grown in Canada. There is considerable work connected with the new variety of spuds, in-as-much as they must be irrigated almost daily at this time of year. They also call for a special type of fertilizer, which is quite expensive and not easily obtainable. Farmers in the vicinity of Flat River are watching the experiment and if results live up to advanced notices there will probably be quite a demand for seed stock from this farm next year.

The Island's population remains almost stationary and we do not share in the rapid increase which fills up the vacant spaces in other parts of Canada. This condition of remaining in the doldrums might, under the impact of all-out war change rapidly. When some of the highly industrialized shipping centres begin to fear the arrival of atomic bombs, the peaceful agricultural countryside of P. E. I. might look very enticing to people who have the means to move here.

Such a development is not a fanciful dream but a distinct likelihood if a third war starts. Of course only people living on an assured income could move into the Province, because we have not the industrial set-up to look after large numbers of workers nor could our farmers absorb more than a limited number of people.

Mr. W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture who returned a short while ago from a trip to Europe was very much impressed by the efficiency of the British shipping companies. He was amazed by the size of the dairy farms he visited; one of these had 700 head of registered stock. He found that the old country farmers were well educated farming men and farmed on a large scale, and were if anything, not only abreast of scientific farming principles but perhaps a little ahead of this continent in many respects. Farmers in the old land under our old Government are obtaining a great deal of financial assistance, a state of things which in Mr. Shaw's opinion cannot continue indefinitely. However, the farms are flourishing and the farmers get a guaranteed price for everything they can raise.

Criticism of the way in which the parking problem is handled at the Charlottetown race track has been freely expressed during the summer. Many of those who place bets complain that the "Board" does not show the correct odds quick enough. It is quite true that the odds change slowly except just before post time, when many people hasten to the wickets to buy "long shots." At the same time, it must be remembered that the odds are on the wickets, and that the information must be gathered from each wicket on all horses, the totals prepared and phoned to the other side of the track. As soon as the totals are received they are posted.

It would appear that the only justifiable explanation which can be made is that human beings are slower on arithmetic, than the modern mutual machines installed at the bigger tracks; these machines record each ticket as sold and the odds change almost from second to second. Last week no mutual tickets were sold within one minute of post time, and this was much more satisfactory than formerly, when tickets were sold up to the minute the "Gate" started to move. The Driving Park management has a number of competent people computing the odds and generally handling the finances connected with pari-mutuel betting, and the people who know the men behind the scenes have every confidence in their honesty and efficiency.

LONDON, Aug. 3 — (AP) — British European Airways announced today it has ordered 28 new Vickers Viscount prop-jet-airliners. Delivery of the four engine, 40-seater planes will begin in the autumn of 1952.

Successful Tractor Driving Competition

The tractor driving competition at the Junior Farmers' field day on Monday was a decided success. The event was something new and it certainly proved much more popular than its promoters anticipated. Many entries had to be turned away as there simply was not time to accommodate them, despite the fact that no time was lost between entries.

Much experience was obtained on the proper method of running off such a competition and next year it is hoped that many improvements will be made to facilitate the crowds and large number of entries. Next year it is also planned to have an easier course for the younger operators and both courses to be roped off. Special thanks are due the machine companies, through whose generosity the competition was made possible. A Farmall, Case, Massey-Harris, Cockshutt, Ford, Ferguson, Allis-Chalmers, and three John Deere tractors were available to the competitors and all were used. Much genuine interest was shown in the tractors by many of those attending the field day and the general feeling of the companies was that their afternoon was well spent.

The following oil companies have generously donated the following amounts of prize money. (Each company was solicited for $5.00): B. A. Oil Co., $5.00; Irving Oil Co., $5.00; Superline Oils, $5.00; McColl-Fontenac (J. D. Stewart) $5.00; and Imperial Oil Co., the very generous sum of $15.00, with the specification that a certain sum be set aside and awarded to the grand champion driver.

AT OTHER

Continued from page 1 still was operating. It was presumed this Red column was the one that crossed an undefended rugged mountain range running down the East Korea shoreline.

The force, estimated up to 10,000 troops, surprised the South Korean defenders who the night before had been pushed out of Kiyga, eight miles to the west of Pohang. Even as the attack began, reinforcing elements were rushing to the sector, which is 65 air miles north of the important U.S. supply port of Pusan.

On the northern front, North Korean troops recaptured the eastern anchor city of Yongdok, about 90 miles north of Pusan, their main supply port. They also built up heavy pressure on South Korean troops west of Yongdok who are manning the northern rim of the defence lines.

On the western front along the Nakdong River, three American divisions and South Korean forces battled to contain Communist forces struggling desperately to maintain at least three footholds on the east bank of the river.
