PLANS MADE by all Centennial planning sub-committees to date were discussed last night at a general meeting for the 1964 Centennial at Montgomery Hall. Dr. Frank MacKinnon, chairman, presided. Earlier the board of directors of the Centennial Corporation under the chairmanship of Dr. MacKinnon met. Those attending the sub-committee meeting included: from left, seated, Mrs. Philip Matheson, director; Dr. MacKinnon, Mrs. Anna Stewart, secretary; standing, Dr. L.I. Duffy, centennial director and William Hayward, manager.

National 4-H Club Week Mooted For Centennial

At last night's meeting of the Centennial Planning Committee, a suggestion was made that an invitation be extended to hold a National 4-H Club Week, in Charlottetown as part of the 1964 celebrations. It was estimated that this gathering would involve some 130 delegates.

The meeting followed an earlier session of the Centennial Corporation directors, and was called to further discuss the formation of plans for the 1964 centennial. Dr. Frank MacKinnon presided over both sessions.

Reporting for the armed services committee, Brig. W. W. Reid stated that word has been received from Ottawa that the RCMP's Musical Ride would not be available in 1963. But Ottawa is now studying the possibility of a Maritime tour in 1964 in which Charlottetown and Summerside will be included to tie in with the centennial celebrations.

Another worthwhile suggestion was that special note should be taken of those Island residents who will be celebrating their 100th birthday in 1964, the name most prominent to be mentioned was that of Thomas Moyse of Central Bedeque.

AGRICULTURAL MUSEUM

Lincoln Dewar reporting for the agricultural committee, revealed that his group had some worthwhile suggestions to make, among them being the marking of historical landing places, old shipyards, and an old fashioned blacksmith shop and additional suggestions regarding the operation of the Agricultural Museum which had been proposed earlier.

The financing of the committee's operation came in for a great deal of discussion, and it was noted that until a budget is presented and approved by the provincial government no financial details are available.

Other committees heard from were: special memorial projects; conventions; Summerside group; religious, creative and cultural arts; decorations; publicity and public relations; education and children's events.

An interested observer at the sessions was Hon. J. D. Stewart, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Tourism.

QUEENS MPs

Minister said. "I think there will be an increased growth in the agricultural segment because we do not produce our own needs in a number of basic foods.

MEETING HERE?

Mr. Macquarrie suggested that the first meeting of the Atlantic Development Board, when it is organized, should take place in Charlottetown. He noted that Charlottetown was the scene of an important conference when Maritime Union was discussed and this had led to confederation.

"I would like to suggest that the first "meeting of this board should take place in the historic city where it all began," Mr. Macquarrie urged.

When Mr. Macquarrie rose to speak, Liberal J. W. Pickersgill interjected with "back from the wars". The Queen's MP said he wished the rules of the house would allow him to comment on the remark so he could acquaint Mr. Pickersgill with the results of that war.

SECOND STEP

He noted that, federal grants to P.E.I. have increased from about $5 million to $12.5 million in the last five years. The setting up of the board he regarded as the second and essential step which would bring the region to a level comparable with the rest of Canada.

Mr. Macquarrie urged that agriculture should not be neglected and that while it was important to develop industries, a greater rationalization was needed in the ancient industry of agriculture.

He said there were interesting economic developments at either end of the Canso causeway and he feels the board should give consideration to what will happen when the rest of the Maritimes was finally linked with the banner province of P.E.I.

First Snowfall Results In Slippery Conditions

By STAN BOWLES
Guardian-Patriot Staff Writer

Since Tuesday evening traffic in the western half of the province has been forced to move with caution due to the slippery conditions of highways as a result of the winter's first appreciable snowfall.

These conditions from early yesterday morning gradually spread to the remainder of the province, as the snow built up to between four and five inches in the Charlottetown area and east, with slightly more to the west of Hunter River.

During the early part of Wednesday the snow was driven by winds if from 20 to 25 m.p.h. coming from the northwest, but by late afternoon it had swung around to the north and diminished to about 5 m.p.h.

After dropping to the mid-20s during Tuesday night, the mercury struggled to a few degrees above the freezing point during the day, but by 8 o'clock last night it had fallen to 28 degrees.

The temperature was expected to drop to the mid-20s during the night, and during today to hover around the 32 degree mark.

A report from the meteorologist at the Charlottetown radio range, forecast that there will be some snowflurry activity today, with a risk of light showers in some areas.

The winds are expected to remain northerly and be between 5 and 10 m.p.h.

MINOR MISHAPS

The RCMP in Charlottetown last night reported a number of minor traffic mishaps resulted from the slippery roads, with practically all cases involving only minor damage to vehicles and no personal injury.

All paved highways were reported passable with a few icy patches, and drivers are warned to proceed with caution. Sanding crews were out almost all night Tuesday and continued throughout yesterday.

The most hazardous road conditions were reported by those using the clay or gravelled side roads. On these it was reported that the snow had not melted but had become packed smooth.

The first touch of winter proved a boon to city merchants. Many rural residents, with an eye to the weather, fearing that conditions might become more serious within a few hours, poured into the city yesterday to gather up their Christmas shopping.

CUBA,

know who "leaked" the remark about Stevenson.

The questioning on Cuba, Khrushchev and Stevenson came after Kennedy had opened the press conference with two volunteered statements.

1. He expressed the thanks of the American people to the French government for lending the Mona Lisa painting to the United States. He said the gesture is a reminder of the friendship between France and the U.S. and also of the universality of art. The president said the painting would be exhibited at the National Gallery of Art here, beginning Jan. 8.

2. The president expressed hope the U.S. olympic committee and American Amateur Athletic Union will somehow compromise their dispute over the right to select athletes to represent the U.S. in international sports competitions. Kennedy said the dispute is threatening to interfere with the U.S. fielding teams for the Pan-American Games in Brazil and in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo.

Cabinet Meets Today

After a two-day rest at home, following Monday's general election, Premier Walter R. Shaw will be back in his office today.

A meeting of the cabinet has been called for this afternoon.

It is believed that the main purpose of the meeting is to discuss changes in the make-up of the cabinet. With the defeat Monday of Hon. Melvin McQuaid, the portfolios of attorney-general and treasurer become vacant.

Recently, there has been speculation that a minor cabinet shuffle is to take place.

Lions Club Seek Home

Finding a suitable home for Miss Setsuko Sato, a 23-year-old Japanese woman who wishes to come to Canada, will be one of the Parkdale Lions Club's greatest responsibilities. It was incorrectly stated yesterday a home had been found.

The Parkdale Lions Club, who are sponsoring the woman, however, feel it would be an education for the people with whom Miss Sato stays.

Miss Sato's story of her "dream" to come to Canada was carried in Monday's Guardian, in which she stated she "would do anything to help, probably teach Japanese cooking, manners and customs." She is also a typist.

Gov't Offices Starting To Vacate Cabot Bldg.

A small, but the first start on demolition of the Cabot Building, to make way for the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building was made Tuesday when workmen knocked out a section of brick wall in the motor vehicle branch to enable a large counter to be taken out.

The branch is moving to the Queens Square School building.

A department of public works official said yesterday morning that other government departments in the Cabot Building are "in a state of readiness" to move. He said "it is hoped that the building will be cleared for demolition by Jan. 20."

Highways, public works and education departments will move to West Kent School, where minor renovations are being carried out. The treasury department will go to the New-Way building on Great George Street; and fisheries, industry and natural resources will move to Queens Square School.

The former public library building on the Memorial Building site is ready for demolition, and as soon as public works gets the word, it will be torn down.

Books Featured In Program At Stella Maris Regional HS

The making of books was traced by Miss Dorothy Cullen, Charlottetown, head librarian for the Prince Edward Island Libraries, at Stella Maris Regional High School, North Rustico.

The program was under the auspices of the Home and School Association and Catholic Women's League.

Miss Cullen revieved the history of book making from the use of cave pictures, hieroglyphics, papyrus to the use of the printing press for speedy words and colorful pictures.

Art and classical work was on display in the form of posters, pictures, books, booklets and seat-work exercises.

Bertram Blacquiere was chairman with F. E. Doiron and Henri Blanchard as special guests.

Martin Gallant, grade seven, welcomed the audience and announced the program, which included works from the various grades in the school, all with the themes of books and reading.

Mr. Doiron, former supervisor of schools, praised the work on display and spoke to the parents and pupils on the value of good reading.

Dr. Blanchard presented three large bound volumes of "The Three Musketeers" and a French grammar to the school.

Class reports were also presented.

Motor Vehicle Chase Results In Car Rolling

SOURIS — A motor vehicle chase involving speeds up to 115 m.p.h. was revealed in Kings County Magistrate's Court yesterday.

Testifying in the case of James Andrew MacDonald, Souris East, charged with dangerous driving, Cpl. James Cox, Souris detachment of the RCMP, said he chased the accused from Souris to Rollo Bay. Speeds he said ranged from 90 m.p.h. to 115 m.p.h. The case was adjourned until Dec. 19.

Cpl. Cox stated the accused rolled his car while making a turn from the main highway at Rollo Bay on to the Fortune Bridge road. The car was said to be extensively damaged.

Three Souris residents, James Albert MacIntyre, Sylvanus Joseph MacDonald, and Peter Daniel MacIntyre, had their cases adjourned until Dec. 19. They are separately charged with the theft of gasoline at a value of less than $50.

John Francis Doucette, Charlottetown, pleaded guilty to taking a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. He was given a one-year suspended sentence by Magistrate James B. Johnady said the accused, travelling east on Kent Street, had gone 40 miles per hour in a 20-mile speed zone. He said he clocked the accused from the vicinity of T. Eaton Company store to the corner of Kent and Hillsboro streets.

Douglas Smith, Jr., charged with driving without due care and attention, had his case adjourned to Dec. 27. He is represented by John P. Nicholson.
