you puerile animals! how can you complain when administrators, faculty, and federal and provincial governments treat this university as little more than a secondary school when you act like immature high school dropouts?

the SUN staff is extremely angered at whoever implanted the "SUN Supplement" in last week's issue. as seen on page 3, we have disclaimed any knowledge of the addition of that worthless perverted piece of garbage which was added last week. if you have a better way to waste time, you have no place in a supposedly mature environment found in post-secondary institutions.

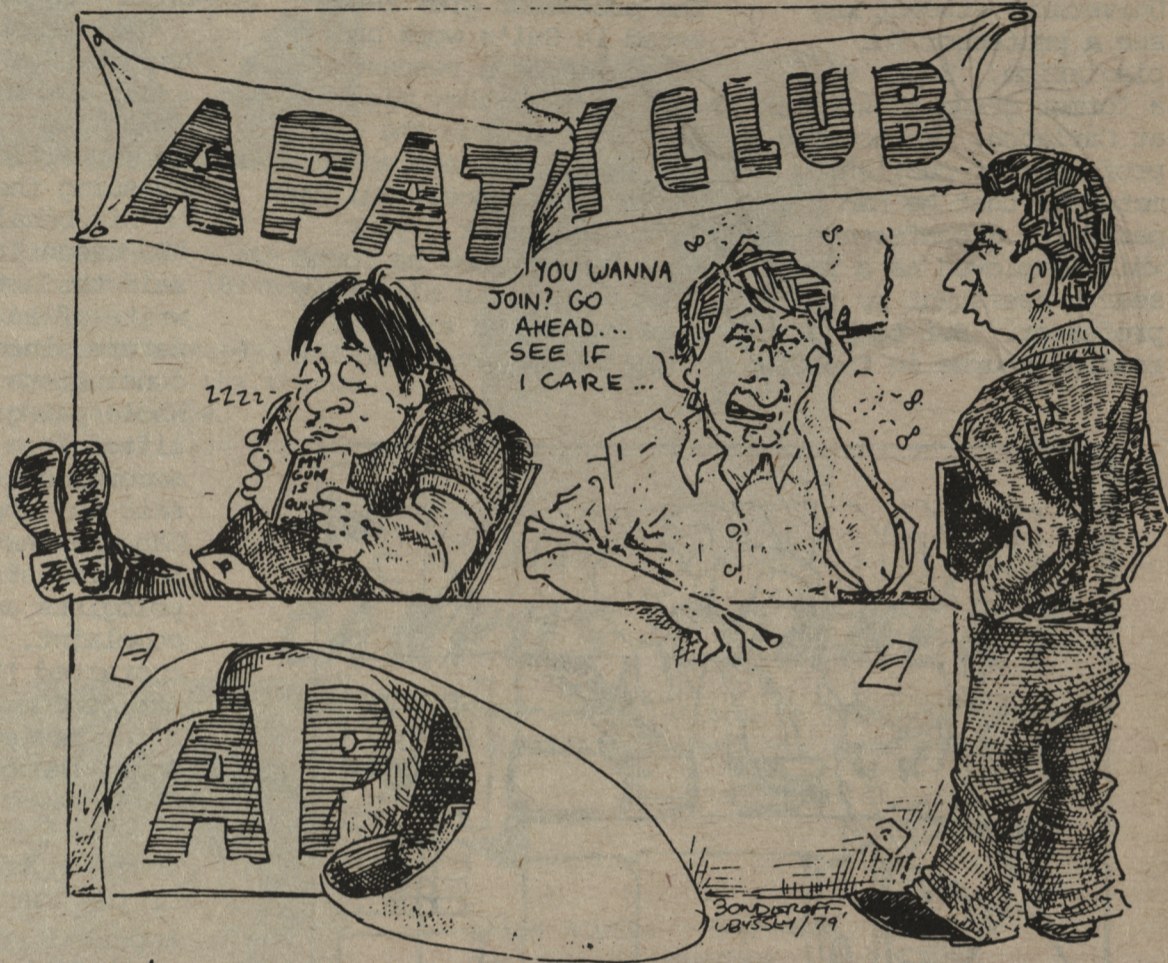

did you realize the implications involved when you switched the issues at the Barn? those copies of our paper go to Youthstream, our national advertiser, from whom comes much of our revenue. our entire advertising credibility would have been entirely destroyed after we have worked so diligently to upgrade it, just because of some "students" who had nothing better to do with their ill-spent time than to employ themselves in such asininity.

is this the best that our campus can produce?

the next time that you have the urge to gripe about how your student union fees are spent, take a few minutes out to drop down to the Barn to see John McAleer, our venerable treasurer. he has last year's audit and this year's budget available for scrutiny. if you have any questions, just ask John because he has spent many hours in an attempt to understand the budget. it is your duty as a student at this "high school" to know where your money goes so that you will then have the right to gripe about the way in which your money is spent. go down and try to trip up John. he is prepared.

in keeping with the theme of complaint, we do not want to see people sitting back on their duffs all week. this is a university, in the sense that there is a world of things to do on this campus. there are many facilities not being used to their fullest extent here. for example, the gymnasium and the barn could be put to better use. the library should be used for something more than studying. clubs on campus are always crying for more interested students. if you still want ideas, come see the Sun staff. we have a list ten miles long of things to do at UPEI. have a funny week and be strong.

"You know sometimes I think the students are a lot deeper into the computer system than we think..."
