month in every year." The Quebec Government leader, who began his 45-minute speech in French and then switched into English, described his talk as "A little dose of truth." "Today more than ever with the world in turmoil, confusion and instability, it is up to everyone to try to find stability and solidity. Where can we find these? In the memory of plain truth - too much plain truth is forgotten. "We are suffering from apathy, indifference and lack of logic," said the Premier. "If we are not careful, our biggest building of all - our country, our nation and our Province - will suffer dire consequences. "We are not awake to the danger of the day, and the danger of the day is not in Communism or subversive ideas, but in the apathy, indifference and complacency of good people." The Premier said that today there is a lot of talk of social security but people forget that the money to support "so-called social security" measures is what they pay in taxes. Premier Duplessis also said "centralization" of government is a major source of "despotism, fascism, bolshevism and communism." "It is harder for the Bolsheviks to get hold of 10 governments than it is to get hold of one," he said. "We have got to decentralize our administration and to awaken public opinion." Premier Duplessis said it should be obvious to everyone that Canada owes its development and progress to the free-enterprise system. The Premier recommended "continuity of action, perseverant public spirit and daily interested affairs" as the remedy for present difficulties. Robert Drummond, in his presidential address to the convention urged representatives of Canada $3,000,000 building industry face their problems by "positive action."
