NON POLITICAL VIEW

"I can honestly say, without any political implications whatsoever that we should not go beyond the 35 year limit," the Premier said. "If it should be shown that in a year or two a larger number of people beyond this age group can be served by the act, we can always amend it in the meantime let's not spoil it altogether."

Mr. Douglas felt it would be a grave mistake to saddle a young man with a mortgage of $10,000. He reasoned that this would cost him, both principal and interest, about $700 per year. "No young farmer could afford to pay $700 over and above his living expenses," he claimed.

Mr. Douglas felt the minimum age should be kept to 21 because most young men at age 18 do not know whether they wish to farm or not. He thought it would be a good idea for a young man to get out in the world and make a stake for himself and then start farming. He knew of a young man in his district who after being away for a few years came home and put $6,000 into a farm.

Mr. Myers: "That is quite a contrast to the Hon. member's speech the other night. He was telling us about all the soup kitchens there were. Now he is telling us how you can make $6,000 in a few years."

Hon. Douglas MacKinnon felt there might be some merit in raising the age limit to 40 but he thought age 50 was going too far. He described the bill as an experiment which could easily be amended.

RECALLS STATEMENT The Opposition of a statement made by the Prime Minister a few weeks ago when he told labour groups, "You can't have it both ways."

The Premier said, "If you are going to raise the age limit we will have to cut the percentage which can be borrowed under the act (85 percent of the assessed value of the property)."

He claimed that to do this, would be to defeat the very purpose for which the act was intended, namely, to help young farmers.

Replying to Mr. Myers' reference to tourist loans, Mr. MacNeilson said tourist loans which were granted on a 50 percent valuation of the property came under an entirely different category to the proposed farm loans which are granted on 85 percent valuation for a period of 25 years compared to a short term loan under the tourist promotion scheme.

Mr. Douglas said that the act seems to have caught their fancy. "They couldn't have been listening to the fellow on the radio Saturday night."

Prince Member Advocates Improved Transportation

Ottawa would be far better advised to build an extra ferry to be followed up by a causeway and the Chignecto canal instead of its roads to resources program was the opinion expressed in the Legislature last night by C. C. Baker, (L-4th Prince).

The Prince member said the only ones that benefited from the Federal Government's bond conversion scheme were the insurance companies, the bond houses and the banks. "How in heaven's name are we going to get cheaper interest rates considering the policy of the Ottawa government last summer" he added.

The former cabinet minister referred to "the precarious position" of the Island's transportation system at Borden and could foresee the province being put in a very embarrassing position should the old ferry have failed to reach port on her trip from Newfoundland this winter.

Mr. Baker deplored the method used in paying support prices on Island potatoes last year. He recalled that one of the Opposition members had said there were too many potatoes.

"After all they agreed to pay something like $105,000 and when it turned out that there were actually $113,000 worth of potatoes, it took them three months to decide how they were going to pay the additional, $8,000," he said.

"Quite a difference to the $2 1/2 million we received from the St. Laurent government five years before."

Mr. Baker said he was never fully in favour of support prices. He pointed out that when the floor price is set to low it tends to influence the market trend and when it is set too high it tends toward over production.

He felt the biggest problem with which Island producers had to cope was that of transportation. He said it would always remain a handicap getting bulky produce to the markets of central Canada and the United States.

It would appear, thought Mr. Baker, that North and South should be the normal flow of produce from the Island. "But here he noted problems.

The northern trade had to compete with sources closer at hand and the Southern trade was faced with competition from subsidized crops in the States.

Turning to his own district, Mr. Baker said he was proud to represent such a fine agricultural area—one that in his estimation was without peer.

He noted the outstanding academic accomplishments of Kensington High School both this year and last year. He said this was due to excellent teachers, ardent and sincere trustees and the fine cooperation of the Home and School Association along with the Community Club all of whom work together for the good of the school.

FOUR PREMIERS Mr. Baker noted that the 4th district of Prince had in former years given the Province four of its premiers, including Sir Louis Davis, John H. Bell, per supervision, he thought it could do a lot of good.

In answer to a question from R. R. Bell, the Minister of Agriculture referred him to section 20 of the act which states, "The act comes into force the day it receives Royal Assent."

Mr. Myers: "If a Conservative came looking for a loan, would he get it?"

Mr. Cullen: "That would depend on the Board."

The act which passed second reading yesterday with only a minor amendment will likely receive third reading today.

SUMMERSIE — Wipper Billy Watson, who personifies the best in the sport of wrestling, and has the admiration and respect of youth, together with the unwavering loyalty of wrestling fans, has a busy schedule in Summersie today.

He will visit the schools here and at Simon Park this morning, speak to the Summersie Rotary club at a noon luncheon, and meet Summersie's Mayor W. A. Currie and civic officials at the Mayor's office in the Civic Building before leaving for Charlottetown this afternoon.

Mr. Hessian said a farmer belongs to a class that you cannot do anything for and you cannot do anything against. "If he's a good man he's not after a loan," he concluded.

Walter M. Lea and Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan. At the same time he observed that four former representatives of the district died in early manhood. These he said, were W. M. Lea, Horace Wright, T. W. Bentley and Heath Strong.

The Kensington member said he was glad to see that $605,000 had been voted for agriculture. He was also pleased to see that all the policies of the department with many new additions were being carried out by the present minister.

He praised the veterinary policy of the department and was pleased to say that the Island now is a disease-free area for both TB and Bangs Disease—the first province in Canada that could so boast.

He felt that beef cattle offered the only thing in which farmers today can realize a good margin of profit.

At the same time he declared that dairying was sound but many young farmers were determined they would not milk cows.

Mr. Baker noted that Prince Edward Island had the lowest percentage of farms vacated in Canada, even without the benefit of a Farm Credit Act. He believed that although there were fewer farms, this did not necessarily mean that the farms were vacated.

Speaking again of his own riding, Mr. Baker declared that if there was a farm for sale in the 4th district, there would be "a big squabble" to see who would buy it first.

the St. Patrick's celebration, were in keeping with former years. The square dance group of children from St. Vincent's Orphanage followed their initial appearance with an encore that could not be denied.

Virginia McDougall sang Kathleen Mavor and for an encore rendered "By Killarney's Lakes" in a most acceptable manner.

The ever popular Roberts sisters, beautifully dressed in silver costumes with green trim, made a most pleasing sight under the changing spotlights as they went through the tap dancing routine and responded to an encore with grace and precision.

Accompanists were: violins, Aeneas Curley and Al Dowling. Guitar, Hilda Gallant. The piano accompanist was Al Blanchard.

Eileen Grant sang "A little bit of Heaven" and as an encore "Danny Boy". Her voice has all the qualities to ensure enjoyment on hearing these numbers.

The father-daughter duets by Frank McIntyre and Bethany were rich in tone and execution, following a precedent which has made them both highly pleasing before a local audience.

Make-up by J. Austin Trainor, master craftsman that of fine art, made a splendid job in preparing the cast for their impersonations.

Everett B. Beagan, president of the B.I.S. said he appreciated the overflow audience and the splendid work of the cast as directed by Mr. Callaghan. He explained that the entire financial results from the annual St. Patrick Plays were devoted to charity as a contribution from all concerned players, audience and the Society.

The play will be repeated this evening at Birchwood High School.

Fashion Show In S'side Big Success Last Night

SUMMERSIE — Spring and summer fashions at Summersie were presented by a group of lovely models last night as Summersie merchants co-operated with the Osto Club of Prince County Hospital in staging their fourth annual fashion show in the Summersie auditorium, filled with spectators, including several who travelled from points as distant as Charlottetown.

The superb timing of the two-hour show, together with excellent artistic staging, decoration, and lighting, combined to make it the most successful to date.

The styles and fashions had many new surprises or the ladies whose enthusiastic response indicated that many feminine wardrobes in P.E.I. will be taking on "a new look" this spring.

A complete range of ladies and children's clothing was featured in the show, ranging from casual clothes to formal fashions.

Merchants participating in the showing of the fashions included the Barbara Ann Ltd., Holman's Ladies Wear and Youth Centre, the J. and S. Store Ltd. and MacKenzie's House of Fashion.

Models in the show included Miss Betty Mallet, Mrs. Garth Clark, Mrs. John Cameron, Mrs. C.E. Cooper, Mrs. W.A. Gaudet, Mrs. Clayton Willis, Miss Helen Dalton, Mrs. Charles Ballum, Miss Joyce MacLeod, Miss Betty Callaghan, Ellen MacEachern, John Walwyn, Gerri Lya Sheen, Kenneth Clerk, Ann Lynn, Nancy Clark, Judy Clark, Gail Jenko's, Miss Elizabeth Nicholson, Mrs. Eric Tedford, Mrs. Ernest Hibbard, and Mrs. Cecil R. Webster.

Robert Schurman provided the commentary for the show, while musical accompaniment was presented by Gerald Chaffron.

The program included vocal, instrumental, and dancing specialties numbers.

The meeting closed in the usual manner and lunch was served by the committee in charge.
