In loving memory of my dear Aunt, Mrs. Seymour Pollard, who passed away May 17, 1950. Sweet are the memories that never fade. Of one we loved but could not save. Always so true, unselfish and kind. Always Remembered and Sadly Missed by Mother and Brothers George and Eric.

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Mrs. Stanis T. Dolron who passed away May 16th, 1953. They say time heals all sorrow And helps us to forget. But time has only meant to us How much we miss her yet.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Joseph B. Gillan who was killed at Johnson's River Airport, May 17th, 1953.

We little thought when we left home Daddy never would return. That he so soon in death would sleep. And leave us here to mourn.

Dear God forgive a silent tear. A secret wish that he were here. Others were taken, yes we know. But he was our Daddy and we loved him so.

Sadly Missed by Marion and Children.

Church Secretary Honored By WMS

Miss Enid Morson (above), secretary of Trinity United Church, has been honored by the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada by being asked to attend the sessions of the Dominion Board of the W.M.S. when it meets at Emmanuel College, Toronto, May 25 to June 1.

It is not only an honor to Miss Morson but an honor to the Prince Edward Island Presbyterian to have a representative on the Dominion Board. Miss Morson has been secretary at Trinity for the past nine years and is a Candidate Adviser to the Maritime Conference Branch.

The recognition which she is receiving at this time comes as a well earned reward.

Island Odds and Ends

The hoary old story about the jig one getting away has never drawn any other response than "jersion, or good natured disjiliet. It is seldom that the victim of the unsuccessful fishing trip can find a sympathetic ear, and for jayve is apt to nurse a sense of injustice or frustration. Rare indeed are the cases where the story is substantiated and the tale of the narrator proved to be the unvarnished truth. But once in every unpleen years time and weather some favoring star in the right juxta position, to each other comes to the aid of the discredited and ridiculed fisherman.

At Souris last week it was abundantly proved that truth crushed to earth will rise again, at least occasionally.

When Bernie Dugas, well-known Souris resident, returned to his home with a run-of-mine recital of "the big one that got away" he was met with the usual unbelieving stares and such unenthusiastic remarks as "too bad, might have been an eel" or "perhaps your line was caught on a stump."

It was of no use for "Bernie" to protest that he saw the fish and what it had "stripped" him, or in plain language, that it had broken his line and made off with hook, line, and cork float.

"Must have weighed five pounds" said Bernie, and to doze of his fish. And there the matter rested, just another fish story, labeled by most of us as not strictly in accordance with the rules of evidence. But then came the payoff, Leslie Wadman, who lives a mile or two east of Souris, hied himself to Black Pond—scene of the Douglas story—for a few hours fishing.

With a well baited hook he was soon battling with an out-size trout. After a spirited struggle he was successful in landing the fish. It weighed five pounds and four ounces.

And—still in its mouth was Bernie Douglas' hook, line and sinker, with cork attached.

Vindicated! It happens once in a life-time.

Some idea of what the fishing industry means to Souris can be gained from visiting the Eastern town at this season of the year.

The Eastern Packers have two plants operating, one packing lobsters, and the other processing cod naddock and flounders into filets.

As of Saturday last the two plants have commenced the construction of the Company's new fish processing plant.

It will be a substantial building, of cement blocks, fifty feet wide and one hundred and fifty feet in length. When completed, an unusual feature will be the use of an escalator to carry the fish from the landing stage at Souris breakwater to the factory. The land is steeply from the breakwater to the site of the new factory, which is located well back from the shore line.

Souris' importance as a fishing centre is growing year by year.

At St. Paul's, Rev. Canon J. T. Abbott took as his subject "The Greater Loyalty", and spoke in detail of the many heroic acts of the men in the Royal Canadian Navy and Merchant Navy which came to his attention as a resident of Halifax during the war.

The heroes and glorious sacrifice of these men in the battle of the Atlantic should never be forgotten," Canon Abbott said, and in conclusion quoted Sir Humphrey Gilbert, "We are as close to Heaven by sea as by land."

The parade re-formed and on passing the war monument "saluted" in token of respect for the memory of the valiant dead.
