NAMED MISSILE CZAR

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., — Dr. James R. Killian, president of the world famous Massachusetts Institute of Technology talks to newsmen in his office here shortly after he was appointed by President Eisenhower as a special assistant on science and administrator with a record of government service, was empowered by the president to crack down on any interservice rivalry, to prevent needless delays and togive high priority to certain top-secret projects.

Catholic Action Rally Held At Notre Dame

Dr. Brendon O'Grady, professor of English at St. Dunstan's, was guest speaker at the morning session of a Catholic Action rally held Monday at Notre Dame Academy.

Rev. Walter Reid of the Basilica Staff presided and introduced the guest speaker.

Approximately 300 Catholic young people from various provincial centres attended.

In his address Dr. O'Grady stressed the meaning, necessity and importance of Catholic Action in the life of the lay people.

Following the conclusion of the guest speakers remarks, the young people divided into small groups in order to discuss questions evolving from the address.

At 11:30 a dialogue mass was celebrated by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Patrick McMahon, Rector of the Basilica, at which the rally delegates received Holy Communion in a body.

A buffet luncheon was served to the delegates after the Mass

This was followed by the presentation of a talent show presented by members of the various provincial groups represented.

The show featured group singing, solos, instrumental music, dancing, and a number of skits.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The delegates got down to business again at 2 p.m., under the chairmanship of Rev. Preston Hamill. Reports from the different groups were heard and Miss Frances MacDougall of Bloomfield gave a talk on the six-week course which she and five other girls attended at the school of Catholic Action in Grailville, Ohio.

Mr. John Mullen of Mt. Stewart gave a report on the summer course which he and some 30 Island delegates attended at St. Mary's University in Halifax during the past summer.

Following this, representative delegates from throughout the Province gave reports on work being done in Tignish, Miscouche, Egmont Bay, Summerside, Kinkora, North Rustico, South Rustico, Vernon River, Souris and in the Charlottetown area.

Reverends William Simpson and John Cash led the group in a discussion on these reports, after which the rally closed with all singing, "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

COMMITTEE NAMED

The following coordinating committee was appointed: Leonard Gallant and Thelma Desroches, Tignish; Iris Gallant, Miscouche; Clara Gallant and Urban Gaudin, North Rustico; Lorraine Gallant, South Rustico, Armand Arsenault, Egmont Bay, Eileen Gallant, Souris; Eugene Hayes, Eileen Grant and Mary McCabe, Charlottetown. Rev. Preston Hamill was named chaplain to the committee.

MISSION VISITS ULSTER

OTTAWA (CP)—Northern Ireland will be included in the itinerary of the 50-member Canadian trade mission which goes to the United Kingdom next week. The mission will split up to study various specialized areas. One group, about 12, will visit Belfast to inspect shipbuilding and other Irish industry.

PRINCE UNDERGROUND

PENZANCE, England (Reuters)—Prince Philip descended 1,500 feet underground to the face of a tin mine near here Thursday to watch miners at work. The visit was the first event in a 10-hour tour of Cornwall, coinciding with the ninth birthday of Prince Charles, Duke of Cornwall.

THOUGHTS FOR OUR TIME

BY HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL McGUIGAN

St. Paul, the Apostle of the Gentiles, was one of the greatest and most elefctrifying personalities of the first century history of the Church.

As Saul, he broke upon the New Testament world like a gathering storm and our first glimpse of him shows him to be charged with fanaticism against the followers of Christ.

Even though he was too young to take part in the stoning of St. Stephen, Saul held the cloaks of those who brought the Deacon to his glorious martyrdom.

The course of activities that he continued against the Christians was climaxed in the official mission he received from the High Priest. He was commissioned to go down to Damascus and bring back, in bonds, any Jews of that city who were following Christ.

He is described in the Acts of the Apostles at this time as going about "breathing threats of slaughter against the disciples of the Lord" (Acts I:1).

DRAMATIC CONVERSION

It was on this occasion that the Damascus Road became famous, for in its dust the dramatic conversion of Saul took place.

It was here that Saul, the man, was to change and become Paul, the saint; the fanatic who would turn all his hate on the Christian community would become the follower who would pour out all his zeal and power and persuasiveness for the cause of Christ.

It was here that Saul became St. Paul, teacher, preacher, missionary and theologian.

His life was filled with many hardships of both body and mind after his conversion, but as a follower of the Crucified he never expected a life of comfort and ease.

On one occasion he was forced to enumerate some of these hardships to his followers and the manner in which he does this can be for all of us an important lesson on the manner in which we should face the trials and difficulties we meet with in the course of our lives.

TORN BY DISSENSIONS

It happened one time when the Church at Corinth was torn by dissensions which might render all of St. Paul's work there fruitless.

Latecomers from Palestine had come to teach the gospel and, in their own subtle way, were defaming St. Paul. The principal point of their argument was that St. Paul was no one of the original twelve apostles.

In order to prove the authenticity of this apostolate he began what we may call his famous boast—a boast not of the many things that he had been able to do for Christ and the Church—but of the many converts he had made—not in the many virtues he had shown in his life since his conversion—his boast was rather of his infirmities:

"From the Jews five times I received forty lashes less one. Thrice was I scourged, once I was stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck, a night and a day I was adrift on the sea; in journeyings often, in perils from floods, in perils from robbers, in perils from my own nation...in labor and in hunger and thirst, in fasting often, in cold and nakedness. Besides those outer things, there is my daily pressing anxiety, the care of all the churches. Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is led to stumble and I am not inflamed? If I must boast, I will boast of the things that concern my weakness." (2 Cor. XI: 11-29)

He boasted of God's power manifesting itself in all the details of his apostolate in such a fashion that his weakness made more evident the working of God's all - conquering grace.

He concludes with these words: "Gladly therefore I will glory in my infirmities, that the strength of Christ may dwell in me." (2 Cor. II:9)

DEPENDS ON GOD

St. Paul in telling us that it is not the man himself that counts, nor is it his contribution, but rather everything depends upon God. "For it is God who of His good pleasure works in you both the will and the performance." (Philip. II:13.) "If God is for us, who is against us?" (Rom. VIII:31).

We might recall these tests often with regard to our own lives. How often do we not act as if we alone were the masters of our fate, the captains of our souls?

When trouble comes we moan and complain as if the world were a blind, purposeless machine grinding us relentlessy to dust.

We act as if Christ, the Almighty Ruler of the World, was powerless to help us. We forget that we have been told "I can do all things in Him who strengthens me." (Philip IV:13) and Christ's own words, "Without Me youp can do nothing." (John XV: 5).

OVERCOME TRIALS

If we will only put our trust in Christ and his all powerful grace we can overcome the many trials and troubles which come into our lives—which, after reading of the hardships of St. Paul, would not seem very great.

When we do put our trust in Christ, we, too, can say with St. Paul, "Gladly I will glory in my infirmities, that the strength of Christ may dwell in me."

SHARING

"I thank Thee, Lord for lavish love
On me bestowed,
Enough to share with loveless folk
To ease their load:
Thy love to me I ill could spare,
Yet dearer is Thy love I share."

One of the ways in which we can share is by assisting the Bible Society in giving the "bread of life" to hungry hearts throughout the world. In Prince Edward Island we also assist when we make a purchase at the Bible House in Charlottetown—the profits of which go toward "sharing" the Word. Meaningful Christmas gifts are to be found here.

Highfield To Have Evangelist

Rev. J. M. Sheen, B.A., of Mount Stewart has agreed to come as evangelist for the special services to be held in the Highfield Church for the Winsloe Charge Monday through Friday Nov. 18-22nd. These services will be for the people of all four congregations, and the choirs of each will in turn lead the singing. On Monday evening it will be the Highfield Choir led by Mrs. A. S. Frizzell; Tuesday the Winsloe North Choir, under Mrs. Stanley Younger; Wednesday the Winsloe South Choir with Mrs. Fred K. Turner; Thursday the Princetown Road Choir, led by Mrs. Fred Coles; and Friday the Mens' Association Choir. Mr. Sheen will speak at all these services, also at the closing service on Sunday, Nov. 24th.

For over 20 years Mr. Sheen has been ministering to United Church congregations in different sections of the Island. After leaving Prince of Wales College as a boy he went on to Mount Allison University and Pine Hill Divinity Hall. As a preacher he is well known and liked, and the people of the Winsloe congregations are preparing for a great spiritual uplift.

Kinsmen Plan To Bring Road Show In March

Charlottetown theatre goers may look forward to a stage play of rare interest early in March, according to plans now well under way by the local Kinsmen Club. The ambitious program of the Club for next year calls for a kick-off of activities which will bring the famous Canadian Players to the city in the presentation of "Hello" or Shaw's Man and Superman".

The road show of the Canadian Players started on tour a few day ago featuring the plays referred to in which Tony van Bridge, Dawn Greenhalgh, Max Helpmann and Ted Fellows will be prominent.

The tour company has been booked solidly throughout Eastern Canada and after completing the engagements in this area at the end of March, they will appear in the U.S.A. as far south as Miami, Florida, before terminating their appearances by staging their shows for a week in Montreal.

Kinsmen are enthusiastic over their success in arranging for the appearance of such distinguished artists on the local stage.
