Strange But True

Canada's only pouched mammal the opossum, belongs to the oldest living family of mammals. How this little fellow managed to survive down through the ages poses quite a mystery. They are shy, solitary creatures with shoe-button eyes black as ebony, have hairless ears and are about the size of our house cats.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of WILLIAM A. WHITE who passed away March 31st, 1943.

A happy home I once enjoyed
How well do I recall
Your dear kind face, your gentle voice,
You died beloved by all.

The flowers we place upon your grave,
All wither and decay
But the love for you, who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.

Fondly Remembered by Wife and Family.
