Enrolment Under New Plan To Start Next January 2

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 — (CP) — The Canadian army will start a new training and enlistment scheme for "apprentice soldiers" in January the Defence Department announced today.

Enrolment will begin Jan. 2 for youths who have reached the age of 16 and have passed certain aptitude tests. They will be accepted for specialized training in army trades at corps schools in several parts of Canada.

About 200 youths will be chosen for the first course, the department said. They will sign on for a period of seven years but may take their release at the end of five years if they wish.

On enrolment, a soldier apprentice will draw half the pay of a private recruit and will draw normal rates of pay on reaching 17. When qualified, he will also draw trades pay. Courses will be about two years long.

Not An Innovation

The system is not an innovation, the department said. Before the Second World War, youths of 14 and over were enlisted and trained as "boy soldiers," a practice which still is carried out in the British and Australian armies.

"Boy service" prior to the last war proved one of the army's best sources of non-commissioned officers and tradesmen.

A main difference is that under the old system, a boy received his training in units of his corps. Under the new plan, boys will be trained at the various corps schools of the Canadian army. This is designed to bring the youths to a higher level of trades training.

Carefully Screened

"Apprentice-soldier applicants will be very carefully screened and not accepted unless they show a definite aptitude for a specific trade, the department emphasized.

A certain amount of academic training will be given during the courses, particularly in trades which require specialized knowledge in such subjects as mathematics or science.

Initially, apprentice soldiers will be trained in trades suitable for the Royal Canadian Engineers, the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, the Royal Canadian Army Services Corps, and the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers. Courses will be given in special wings at existing corps schools at Barriefield and Camp Borden, Ont., and Chilliwack, B.C.

French-speaking students will be enrolled in a special wing at the Canadian army training school, Valcartier, Que.

Maritime Conference, Y. P. U. Meets Here Over The Weekend

Wallace MacPherson, of Dominion, N.S., was elected President of the Maritime Conference Y.P.U. at the closing meeting of the second annual assembly held in the United Church Hall here yesterday morning.

Other officers elected were: vice president, Helen Bustin, Saint John, N.B.; secretary, Helen MacKay, Moncton; assistant secretary, Ruth Redmond, Halifax; treasurer, Gladys MacMillan, Charlottetown. Members of the executive are: Evelyn Underhay, Bay Fortune, P.E.I.; Shirley Schofield, Moncton; Marion Settle, Halifax; Ruth MacLeod, Glace Bay; Alma Burns, Halifax; Stewart Russell, Amherst; Don Hill, Lunenburg; Joyce Chamberlain, Bathurst; Margaret Casey, Bedford, N.S.; and Jean Furay, Past President, Saint John, N.B.

325 registered delegates, representing eleven Presbyteries attended the opening banquet of the conference at Trinity Church Hall on Saturday evening, which was presided over by Miss Jean Furay of Saint John, N.B., President of the conference.

This was the first occasion on which the organization met in Charlottetown.

In her opening remarks, Miss Furay emphasized the fact that a

French Hairdressers Decree Short Hair

PARIS, Oct. 13 — (Reuters) — France's leading hairdressers today decreed short hair — the new "plume line" — for smart women again this winter.

The line looked elegant enough on the mannequins the coiffeurs demonstrated on this afternoon. But specifications for the "plume line" sound more like directions for a crew cut.

The "plume line" calls for three main lengths in the hair — two to 2 1/4 inches in front, about one to two inches between the ear and the forehead, and about one to 1 1/2 inches on top of the head.

The hairdressers claim that the light, smooth line in front lends youth to the face.

Allies Open Smashing New Attack On Chinese

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR
SEOUL, Oct. 14 — (Tuesday) — (AP) — Allied infantry opened a smashing new attack at dawn today on the Korean central front, 17 miles east of White Horse Mountain, under a blazing artillery and tank barrage.

The attack is believed the heaviest Allied assault since Heartbreak Ridge, one year ago.

The attack north of Kumhwa was directed against "Triangle Hill," a Communist position in the old Iron Triangle area. Initial reports were sketchy.

An officer reporting from a division command post said the Allied big guns, mortars and tanks unleashed "terrific" fire on the Chinese.

At White Horse Mountain victorious South Korean troops cut down Red suicide squad attackers, then pounded the Reds' last foothold on that bloody hill mass.

Chinese shrews were stopped short in four assaults on the crest of White Horse during the night. South Koreans counter-attacked at dawn.

The Roks hit the Chinese on the "Three Sisters," three knobs along the northwest ridge line which the Communists continued to hold after seven days of battle.

Fighting raged into its eighth day on the key height overlooking the Chorwon valley route to Seoul.

Chinese shrews were growing weaker, front reports said, but the attacks were not expected to end for some time.

In eight nights and seven days of almost constant fighting, high Allied officers said the retrained

Canada Opposed To Forced Repatriation

By Norman Altstetter
NEW YORK, Oct. 13 — (CP) — L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, said today Canada cannot agree to any forced repatriation of North Korean or Chinese prisoners in Korea.

Pearson, expected to be elected president of the U. N. General Assembly at the opening session tomorrow, told a press conference that discussion of Korea will be the top item before the assembly.

He noted that the prisoner-of-war question is apparently the only issue holding back a cease-fire in Korea and added that Canada believes the principle of voluntary repatriation, which the U. N. has insisted upon, cannot be betrayed.

The Canadian Minister expressed belief the so-called "colonial" issues which include the questions of Tunisia and Morocco are more important now than in any previous assembly.

Discussion of Tunisia and Morocco as well as the question of racial strife in South Africa would be "very difficult."

On the question of possible new memberships in the U. N., Pearson said that if some agreement could be reached on the principle of universality of membership, Canada believes it would be useful to have a serious discussion of the problem.

Under the principle of universality, any country with a "legitimate" claim could become a U. N. member. For two years there has been an East-West deadlock on new membership.

Pearson said he expects there will be a "long" discussion on disarmament during which Russia might introduce its charges that the U. N. had used germ warfare in Korea.

Death On Sunday Of Rev. R. H. Baines

One of the most beloved priests in Prince Edward Island, Rev. Richard H. Baines, died Sunday after a long illness. A member of the Holy Redeemer parish and a resident at the Home of the Redeemerist Fathers, he had come here in 1936 and since then had ministered to his parishioners faithfully.

Father Baines was born in Montreal, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baines. He attended primary schools there before joining the Redeemerist Fathers at Ste. Anne de Beaupre in that city. He was professed on August 15, 1909. One of his contemporaries was the late Archbishop G. Murray.

The late Fr. Baines took his seminary course at St. Alphonsus, Esopus, N.Y., and was ordained there in 1915. He was stationed for a time at East Kildonan, Manitoba, before being named a professor at St. Mary's College, Brookville, Ont., where he taught French.

He later went to St. Patrick's Rectory, Quebec City, and then to Ste. Anne's Rectory, Montreal, before coming to this Province on January 24, 1936.

Father Baines was known all over the Island for his acts of charity, especially towards those who were ill, and his own kindness drew to him people from many sections of the Province looking for spiritual encouragement.

Funeral service will be held from the Holy Redeemer Church Wednesday morning with interment in the Catholic Cemetery.

A. J. Gallant Loses Life At Railway Wharf

Augustus Joseph Gallant, 36, was killed yesterday at Souris while working with a pile-driving crew at the Railway Wharf. There were few details of the accident, but it was reported he was working under the pile driver when a heavy support which guides the driving mechanism broke loose. Gallant was knocked into the water and was believed to have died instantly. The body was recovered almost immediately.

Coroner P. A. McLellan ordered an inquest and after a jury was sworn in and the body viewed, the hearing adjourned until tonight at 8 p.m.

Gallant, a veteran of the Second World War, is survived by his widow, the former Marjorie Ann MacDonald and a three-week-old baby. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gallant. Surviving also are three brothers, Cecil and Lambert of Souris and Andrew with the R. C. A. F. at Chatham, N. B., and three sisters, Phyllis, Mrs. Ivan Cheverie, Souris, Olive, Mrs. Anthony Zeller, Quincy, Mass., and Elizabeth, Mrs. Warren Gleason of Newton, Mass.

The wharf reconstruction contract at Souris has been let to the Canadian Dredge and Dock Co., and it was understood Gallant was employed by that firm. The accident occurred about 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

Members of the coroner's jury include M. J. McQuaid, foreman, Joseph Campbell, John MacCormac, B. L. Stewart, E. J. Fraser, Charles Boylan and Wilfrid Wright. The inquest tonight will be at the Souris Town Hall.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Shown above are Mr. L. B. MacMillan, M. B. E., retired Deputy Minister of Public Works and Highways, and Mrs. MacMillan, who will observe their golden wedding anniversary today at their home, 5 Euston Street, with the immediate members of their family.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan were married on October 14, 1902 in St. Dunstan's Cathedral, Mrs. MacMillan being the former Mary Carroll. Mr. MacMillan although born in Summerside, has been a resident of Charlottetown since he was 5 years old.

The members of the family assembled for the anniversary planned to attend Mass at the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer, with their parents at 8 o'clock this morning. In the evening at 8 o'clock they will have a family dinner party at the Charlottetown Hotel. Those in attendance will be Helen, who came from Boston for the celebration, Mr. and Mrs. Fred MacMillan and their two children, Lieutenant Commander Robert C. Dunstan's Cathedral, Mrs. MacMillan being the former Mary Carroll. Mr. MacMillan although born in Summerside, has been a resident of Charlottetown since he was 5 years old.

Mainland Accidents

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., Oct. 13 — (CP) — A highway accident early today near Matapedia, Que., killed two New Brunswick residents and seriously injured four others.

Constable Donald E. Skinner, 20, of the R. C. M. P. detachment at Dalhousie, met death when a car broke through the side of a bridge. Miss Jacqueline Angliehan, 18, died this afternoon.

The driver, Raymond McIlwath, Kenneth Beckingham, Miss Barbara Nugent and Miss Wynona McCabe, all of Dalhousie, were in hospital here suffering fractures and shock. Their condition was not believed critical.

Constable Skinner was not on duty when the accident occurred. Born at Halifax, he joined the R. C. M. P. late last year after training in Regina and Ontario. His mother, Mrs. E. G. Skinner, lives in Halifax and his father is a patient in Lancaster Military Hospital outside Saint John, N.B.

Child Drowned

CHARLOTTETOWN, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Joseph Harman Levesque, 4, was drowned last night when he fell into a water storage basin near his home here. The child was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levesque.

SACKVILLE, N. B., Oct. 13 — (CP) — New Brunswick's seventh fatality of the holiday week-end occurred early today when Wilbur Tower, 23, of Rockport, died in the Sackville Memorial Hospital. He suffered a broken neck Sunday afternoon when a car turned over in a ditch at Wood Point, seven miles from Sackville. The driver and three other occupants escaped injury.

Gravity Of Reconstruction Problem In Korea Stressed

The rehabilitation of Korea is not something which can wait until after the war but must be proceeded with immediately on a more effective scale than at present if it is to be successful at all. This is the view expressed very strongly by Mr. John S. Jenkins, formerly of Charlottetown, who has been visiting his father, Dr. J. S. Jenkins here over the week-end and who has just returned from a year's service in Korea with the United Nations Reconstruction Agency for that country.

The Agency was set up in the latter part of 1950 for the purpose of rehabilitating Korea an economy, but due to the prolongation of the war its operations have been greatly retarded. It has been decided, however, that the work must be continued in South Korea even during hostilities, and expanded as much as possible in keeping with military requirements.

"The tragedy of the situation," Mr. Jenkins points out, "is that although the United Nations are doing fairly well from a military standpoint, we are making very little progress with the Koreans in a political way. Conditions are indeed going from bad to worse in civilian economy, and this is particularly noticeable in agriculture. Unless our rehabilitation planning is speeded up, it may be too late."

Governor General Fully Recovered

VANCOUVER, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Governor-General Vincent Massey, fully recovered from a two-day illness, resumed his western tour here today with a round of civic ceremonies.

The Governor-General arrived late last night and the official visit opened today to the boom of a 19-gun salute, fired from Stanley Park.

Surrounded by his aides, including Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt, V. C., of Vancouver, Mr. Massey inspected a 100-man guard of honor at the station and later was accorded a civic welcome at City Hall by Mayor Fred Hume.

Mr. Massey, forced to cancel his two-day visit to Calgary because of a throat infection, looked as he reviewed the honor guard.

Stevenson's Campaign Strategy Unorthodox

By MEL SUFFRIN
NEW YORK, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Some of the election campaign tactics of Adlai Stevenson are enough to make politicians of the old school shudder.

His strategy in trying to get elected president of the United States on Nov. 4 is unorthodox, to say the least.

Many Democrats have been shocked by the candor of the Illinois governor and his campaign throughout the U. S.

He hasn't hesitated to tell audiences representing special interests that they might as well forget about receiving favors from him.

He emphasized this in an address to a labor audience in Detroit when he said he wouldn't be captive of any segment of the population. This doesn't suggest, however, that labor won't get what it wants if Stevenson is elected. He has come out for repeal of the controversial Taft-Hartley labor law and that, more than anything else, is what organized labor in the U. S. has been demanding.

In the southern U. S., where there is considerable opposition to civil rights for minorities, Stevenson said he would stand on the Democratic Party platform, including the plank promising legislation to establish a fair-employment practices commission.

Such methods may look like political suicide to more seasoned campaigners but they have impressed some people as a refreshing change from "pie in the sky" politicking.

From the outset, Stevenson's campaign has been unorthodox. As a virtual unknown to the U. S. voters, he had to do something to attract attention and stamp himself as a personality.

He did this by sprinkling his speeches liberally with humor. He succeeded in attracting considerable attention and there are indications that many of his listeners were there to hear something funny as much as to hear a serious discussion of issues.

Either way, they did hear speech-making of the highest order. There has been some suggestion that he talked over the heads of some of his listeners.

But, as he said in a recent address: "I would rather talk over your heads than behind your back."

U. S. Atomic Spies Closer To Death

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 — (AP) — Death in Sing Sing's electric chair moved a step nearer today for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, husband and wife convicted as atomic spies for Russia.

The United States Supreme Court, by an 8-to-1 vote, turned down their plea for a review of the conviction and death sentence.

The Rosenbergs have 15 days in which to petition the high court to reconsider its action — a step the court rarely takes. Their only other chance of escaping the electric chair rests with President Truman. He could reduce their sentences.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Oct. 13 — (AP) — A group of New Zealand scientists, engineers and air pilots today formed a society dedicated to proving that flying saucers really exist.

The founders of the new society — The Civilian Saucer Investigation of New Zealand, Inc. — said saucers must be operated by a high intelligence since they avoid even pursuing aircraft.

HALIFAX, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Official forecasts issued by the Dominion Public Weather Office here and valid until midnight Tuesday.

Synopsis:
There were many patches of cloud over the Maritimes tonight, and a few sprinkles of rain were reported in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. This weather was associated with a disturbance moving through Northern Quebec.

No more rain is forecast for the Maritimes, and variable cloudiness is expected for Tuesday.

Regional forecasts:
Prince Edward Island — Variable cloudiness with little change in temperature. Southwest winds 15. Low and high Tuesday at Charlottetown 45 and 62.

High tide today at Charlottetown at 6:30 A. M. and 8:14 P. M.
High tide on the North Shore at 2:17 A. M. and 3:24 P. M.
Summerside tide eighteen minutes later than Charlottetown.
Sun rises today at 6:27 A. M. and sets at 5:31 P. M.
